BOARD UP HOLDS SCHOOL CUTS

MAIL NEW CODE TO FIVE MILLION U. S. EMPLOYERS

'Recovery' Boards in Every State.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., July 26.—(Special.)—Mail carries the nation over tomorrow will start distribution to five million employers of copies of the "President's Reemployment Agreement."

At the same time there will be a propaganda drive reaching new heights, with the glamour of wartime attached to it.

Announcement was made by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson's staff concerning the proposed formation in every state of committees, named by the governor, and of state "recovery boards" and "recovery councils," to be appointed by Gen. Johnson.

These committees and boards will aim to induce employers to enlist in the President's plan for instituting minimum wages and maximum hours, and the consuming public to patronize employers who have won and who exhibit the "blue eagle," insignia of adherence to the program.

Adopt Military Titles.

The military nature of the campaign was stressed in the announcement that the executive committees in each city would elect a general to have charge of the city campaign and a lieutenant general, a woman. The general will name three colonels, each to have charge of a specific phase of the campaign. The first colonel will direct the "man power," or organization department, with 7 or more majors and 7 or more captains, each with a company of 3 or more men.

The "man power" department will be charged with responsibility of a block to block canvass during the closing week of the drive—the date to be announced later—checking up on the compliance with the President's emergency reemployment agreement, making a survey of the unemployed, codifying them as to their adaptability by experience to trades and industries and acting as liaison in the assimilation of the unemployed in expanding industry. The "man power" group will also check up on the proper use of insignia by dealers and consumers.

A second colonel in each city will direct publicity and a third will have charge of speakers.

"Success," Says Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt told newspaper men today that the responses he had received from business men all over the country convinced him that the drive would be a success. The President had received fifteen thousand telegrams from employers pledging their adherence to the reemployment code, he said. In no case, the President and Gen. Johnson declared today, did any employer fail to offer co-operation.

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper today took stock of the business situation and found it greatly encouraging.

"Emphasizing again the fact that we are far from the top of the hill," Mr. Roper said in a press conference, "we see, nevertheless, betterment clearly apparent from a study of the sober statistics."

Roper Reports Progress.

Discussing figures showing the upturn in business, Secretary Roper said: "Considering first the increased activity in the manufacturing industries we find that even after making allowances for the usual seasonal advances manufacturing plants increased their output 45 per cent, on the average, from February to June. Automobile factories advanced their production schedules and output by 100 per cent, food processing establishments by 132 per cent, iron and steel mills by 132 per cent, and the textile industry by 60 per cent. Factory employment adjusted for seasonal variations increased 9 per cent, and pay rolls showed a total gain of 15 per cent."

"Since March approximately two million people have returned to work. Although consumption has failed to keep pace with the rate of production, the index of department store sales adjusted for seasonal variation advanced 10 per cent from February to June."

"Getting Out of the Red."

"Our business concerns are advancing out of the red, many report increased earnings, and fewer establishments are going to the wall. Commercial failures, which were 2,378 in February, fell to 1,648 in June; the liabilities involved decreased from $79,161,000 to $35,345,000."

HOODLUM SLAIN AS JUDGES JOIN WAR ON GUNMEN

Courts to Rush Trial of All Killers.

Governor Acts

Springfield, Ill., July 26.—(Special.)—Gov. Horner, it was learned tonight, has called an extraordinary conference of all of Illinois' sheriffs and state's attorneys for 2 p. m. Friday in the Centennial building. Secrecy surrounds the purpose of the meeting, and the governor would not comment beyond saying the purpose of the parley "is very serious." It is understood the officials of the 102 counties will discuss a state-wide attack on kidnapping and other prevalent crimes.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

While Chief Justice John Crystalski of the Criminal court was mobilizing additional judges in the newly aroused war on crime, gangsters last evening trapped Willie Carr, beer huster and hoodlum, in front of 1521 Elston avenue and shot him to death.

Police regarded the murder as a distinct challenge to their law and order campaign and began a search for the killers. Like the slaying of three policemen during the last few days—the most recent that of Police-man John Sevik in the courtroom of Judge Charles Moltrop—it was spectacular and brazen.

Assassin Uses a Shotgun.

Carr was cornered in front of 1521 Elston avenue with a friend, Stanley Dittler, 26 years old, by three gunmen who drove up or were already waiting in an automobile. Witnesses were not clear on this point. Dittler saw the men first, and scurried into an arway. Carr tried to follow. He stumbled.

Two of the hoodlums pounced upon him. Slowly, deliberately, one of them leveled a double barreled shotgun at Carr's head and fired. The charge blew the top of Carr's head off. The gunman fired again and almost tore his victim's arms off with the charge.

Fire on Fleeing Pal.

Meanwhile, one of the other men blazed away at the fleeing Dittler, but missed him. In his flight, Dittler dropped a Spanish made revolver. A Spanish gun, police recalled, was used in the slaying of two policemen on the west side Saturday night. Dittler ran to the third floor apartment of Mrs. Antoinette Keenok, looked out the window, and seeing his pal slain, darted out a rear door and escaped.

The assassins had already got away. Dittler lived on the second floor at 1521 Elston avenue. He is being sought.

Carr was 25 years old. He was a brother of the more notorious John Carr, who was shot to death at Fry and May streets on July 2, 1931.

The Carr brothers for years were important figures in West Chicago avenue hoodlum circles. Willie was also considered to be a henchman of George (Bugs) Moran.

Spurs War on Gunmen.

The Carr slaying only served to inspire the new war on crime. Earlier in the day Chief Justice Crystalski issued a call for volunteer judges to serve in the Criminal court during the summer vacation period. These judges—six experienced men—would try only murder and robbery with gun cases. Their slogan would be, "No mollycoddling of gunmen."

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney said he welcomed the action of Judge Crystalski and announced that he would call vacations of his assistants and enter into a vigorous campaign of prosecution.

Ready to Aid Courts.

"I am prepared to man as many courts as we can get judges for with vigorous and forceful prosecutors," said Prosecutor Courtney. "I welcome the cooperation of the judiciary and I hope that the volunteers called for respond so that we can get our campaign under way by Monday morning."

"No waivers should be allowed in gun cases. If defendants are charged with robbery with a revolver they should be sentenced to one year to life on that charge, as provided by statute. Such charges should not be reduced to plain robbery or larceny, carrying a smaller maximum penalty."

"The time has come to stop the mollycoddling of gunmen. There should never be a compromise with gunmen—they are all potential murderers or with criminals who have

ON THE FIRING LINE

Penn. Ill., July 26.—(Special.)—Gov. Henry Horner motored here from Springfield late tonight to visit twenty-one militiamen, members of the Illinois National Guard, who were burned or injured during the day when they were trapped by a terrific explosion and fire in a moving bus four miles out of the city.

Altogether thirty Guardsmen were injured and one of them, Maurice Harper, 20 years old, died tonight. Five others, Mario Case, Stanley Russell, Wilburn Hultbert, Glen Carter, and Frank Hayes, were seriously injured. They are in the Huber Memorial hospital with sixteen others. Those less seriously injured were taken back to the barracks.

The governor, obviously shocked over the tragedy, hurried to the hospital immediately upon his arrival. He visited most of the men and expressed wishes for their speedy recovery.

Returning from Strike Duty.

Altogether there were thirty Guardsmen in the bus on their way after completing a tour of duty in the mine strike area in Christian county, when fire started. Suspecting no trouble, they were laughing and chatting when the blast came.

A sheet of flame passed through the vehicle. There was an immediate rush for the one door at the rear of the bus. This was not large enough, and some of the soldiers plunged through the windows, with their clothing aflame.

Lying in ditches alongside the road, the men were picked up by comrades from a second bus. All those involved in the accident were members of the howitzer company of the 130th infantry from Mount Vernon.

Driver Tells Story.

William Clutter, driver of the bus, which was owned by the Illinois Terminal Transportation company of Springfield, gave his story of the explosion to investigators. He was driving along at about 40 miles an hour, which was not loud, and then cried of "Fire!" He halted the vehicle and he said, when he heard the blast, leaped for safety. Shortly afterward the gasoline tank exploded, he said.

To add to the confusion a tank of tear gas in the rear end of the bus also exploded. It was said there was no ammunition in possession of the National Guardsmen and the only explanation offered was that a broken gasoline feed pipe caused the blast.

County officials and militia officers, after investigation, announced they had found nothing to substantiate the theory that a bomb had been set in the bus.

MORGENTHAU, HORNER CONFER ON MORTGAGES

Springfield, Ill., July 26.—(Special.)

Henry Morgenthau Jr., governor of the farm credit administration, conferred today with Gov. Horner, the state auditor, and farm leaders, and discussed with them, it was believed, the various measures and conditions growing out of the Washington administration's farm program.

He arrived in the city shortly before noon and held conferences until nearly 11 o'clock. Among those who met with Mr. Morgenthau were directors of the farm loan bureau and the governor's reconciliation committee. He will leave Springfield today.

Details of Mr. Morgenthau's many conferences were not disclosed, but it was said that his trip was "most effective." According to Gov. Horner, Mr. Morgenthau's trip here established a cooperative attitude between the state and the federal administration.

Forecast True Bills Today in Racket Probe

The fruit of a three months' investigation of Chicago's trade rackets is expected to be harvested today when the grand jury returns what is described as one of the most sweeping conspiracy indictments ever voted in Cook county.

The indictment, as prepared for presentation to Chief Justice Crystalski in Criminal court this afternoon, is reported to contain twenty-three counts, covering such overt acts as bombing, slugging, acid throwing, malicious mischief, and extortion, all typical of modern rackets. Under the law governing conspiracy cases each defendant becomes liable for the acts of all the others.

The indictment, as prepared for presentation to Chief Justice Crystalski in Criminal court this afternoon, is reported to contain twenty-three counts, covering such overt acts as bombing, slugging, acid throwing, malicious mischief, and extortion, all typical of modern rackets. Under the law governing conspiracy cases each defendant becomes liable for the acts of all the others.

Report 24 Defendants Named.

Twenty-four individuals will be named as parties to the conspiracy, according to reports. Among them, it is said, are several well known personages of politics, the legal profession, and gangland, including Al Capone and his successor, Murray Humphries, rated as the No. 1 public enemy since Capone went to prison.

Attorney Edwin J. Raber, who was drafted early in May to conduct the racket investigation, refused yesterday to make any comment on the progress of his work. State's Attorney Courtney had previously given a hint of what was coming when he said he would have an important announcement within twenty-four hours.

Cleaning Rackets Under Fire.

From other sources it was learned that the impending indictment concerns the operations of the gang in Chicago during the last eighteen months in two of the most exploited trades, the laundries and the cleaners and dyers.

Humphries' connection with the cleaners and dyers has been known. He admitted a partnership in the New Drexel Cleaners and Dyers company as long ago as 1931, when Dr. Benjamin M. Squires was dictator of the industry.

As evidence of their knowledge of Mr. Raber's purpose, the cleaners and dyers recently proclaimed a reform. Installing Municipal Judge Borrelli as arbitrator.

Another Shakeup Reported.

Of recent weeks, it was learned, there has been another shakeup. Judge Borrelli finding himself unable to cope with the task of suppressing cutthroat competition in a group including such interests as those of Humphries and George (Bugs) Moran, partner in the Central Cleaners and Dyers.

Humphries' concern, the New Drexel, is reported to have been paying his wife $100 a week recently, he being a fugitive on a federal indictment charging income tax evasion.

In the latest shakeup, it is said, the cleaners have turned once more to Dr. Squires and petitioned him to represent them before the national recovery act administration in drawing up a fair trade code. Dr. Squires has not yet responded to the petition. It is understood.

Return of today's indictment, it is said, will mark completion of only one phase of Mr. Raber's investigation. He will later take before the grand jury evidence on the racketeering of the trucking and transportation exchange, a Humphries organization reported to have levied $500,000 a year in tribute on the city's trucking industry.

Jails Owner of Large Farm Refusing to Aid Mother, 90

On the ground that he had willfully refused to contribute to the support of his 90 year old mother, Frank Grasser, a McHenry county farmer, was sentenced to jail for ten days yesterday.

The sentence, formally based on contempt of court, was imposed by County Judge Henry L. Persons of McHenry county. Records and testimony showed that Grasser, owner of a large farm, had been ordered in February by the court to give his mother $10 a month, but that he had given her nothing.

Praises Her Fund Drive.

Walter E. Wright, publisher of Police "13-13," the Chicago police journal, in a letter with $25 for the fund said: "May I express my appreciation of THE TRIBUNE's efforts to stir a greater public realization of the sacrifices made in the line of duty by Chicago's policemen?"

Other first day contributions were $50 from Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, $50 from Dr. Jacob Frank, $100 from the service and repair department of the Commonwealth Edison company, $2.10 from Jack Shabert, and $1 from George W. Christopher.

In addition to these gifts the donation of $250 from Mayor Kelly and another for $50 from Peter M. Kelly, county commissioner, are promised today.

All checks should be made payable to The Tribune Police Hero Fund and sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

STANDS PAT ON ECONOMY PLAN AT HOT SESSION

Reduces Shortage of Seats One-Half.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

The $5,000,000 economy program of the board of education stood intact yesterday after a blistering battle between school trustees and representatives of the "Save Our Schools" committee. The high ceiling school board meeting room in the Builders' building at La Salle street and Wacker drive rang with charges and counter-charges during the three hour session.

"We are not opposed to economy, but we are opposed to unreasonable economy," said Mrs. Holland Flieger, a member of the committee which opposed the board's economy program. "We ask the board of education to rescind its action and reconsider the budget in relation to the values of our children."

Mrs. Heffernan Loses.

When Mrs. Flieger and others had concluded Mrs. W. S. Heffernan, lone member of the board who voted against the reductions, was on her feet with a demand that the action be rescinded. The motion met with silence from the other ten school trustees and died for want of a second. Then the board adopted the reports of its officers, carrying into effect the sweeping changes in the school system.

The meeting was marked by a continuous heckling of the school trustees. Trustee Charles W. Fry was booed when he declared in his opening statement that he hadn't sought the post of trustee. Once he said "Ain't."

"Ain't, ain't, ain't," shouted women in the audience, many of them school teachers.

"Something to Laugh At."

"Now I'll give you something else to laugh at," retorted Trustee Fry, a labor leader. "I'm here because I'm interested in saving our schools for the school children. That's who they were built for, not the teachers. They were built with taxpayers' money. Not many of you are taxpayers."

Near the end Mr. Fry addressed the crowd as "teachers."

"We're not teachers. We're parents," shouted the throng.

The first speaker was Mrs. Flagg, who is president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers. She presented petitions, with 350,000 signatures, opposing the economy program.

"We don't come here as enemies of the board," said Mrs. Flagg. "We have no ax to grind and are only interested in the welfare of our children. We don't object to economy, but we ask that the board call in experts to go over the budget and trim according to relative values."

"You board members have a great opportunity to go down in history, either as selfish men seeking personal gain, or as men who consider the welfare of the schools. Our best wishes and prayers are with the board."

Prof. Hutton Attacks Program.

Augustus R. Hutton, professor of political science at Northwestern University, then attacked the board's program as one that was done in secret. He declared that it was possible for the board to "do the right thing in the wrong way."

Prof. Hutton was answered by Trustee Joseph P. Savage. He read from a report of a meeting of the school board's budget committee held on Dec. 29, 1931. Prof. Hutton and Dean Charles H. Judd of the University of Chicago school of education, had been called in for advice.

"Prof. Hutton said," asserted Trustee Savage, reading from the verbatim record of the proceedings, "if having done that [speaking of cuts already decided upon] you have come to the time to consider certain services performed by the schools less important than others, they at least should be temporarily eliminated, and if that is not enough perhaps choosing between closing the schools, or in the last analysis, reducing salaries."

Pounds on Desk.

Trustee Savage pounded on his desk, shouting: "And you claim we haven't consulted educators."

"Then Prof. Hutton asked us about kindergarten," continued Trustee Savage, referring again to the 1931 report. Three hundred assistant kindergarten teachers are eliminated under the board's economy program. "The professor's words were," has the kindergarten been discussed. This has been mentioned and it might be cut down without doing much harm. The kindergarten might be dropped if you are going to cut out any one of your activities."

Trustee Savage called attention to the fact that Dean Judd, according to the 1931 report, had said that it was a "large order for a man of my training" to be called on to answer your questions. Dean Judd had suggested that if $5,000,000 had to be saved it might be best to close the schools for a time.

"That's where Dr. Judd and the board of education disagree," shouted Trustee Savage. "We believe that the schools should be kept open nine months of the year as the law provides, and that's what we are going to do, no matter what Dr. Judd or doctor somebody else thinks."

The heckling increased as Trustee Savage concluded.

Teachers or Children.

"If it comes to choosing between school employees and the 500,000 school children of Chicago, I am for the children," asserted Savage, red of face, and turning toward the crowd. "I would just as soon reduce teachers' salaries 50 per cent. These reductions affect individuals and special groups, not the children. If this economy plan had not been adopted we would have to close the schools entirely and I think every man, woman and child in Chicago believes that they should be kept open."

Another speaker for the "Save Our Schools" group was Attorney William Holly, a member of the board of directors of the City Club.

"We feel you did not consult with experts," Attorney Holly declared. "Education needs more expert knowledge than the profession of law. We're all in favor of economy in government, but it should be practiced last in the training of our youth. The only way to lessen crime is by training children."

Fixes Deficit At $8,432,688.

Mrs. Laura Hughes Lund, education chairman of the Illinois League of Women Voters, estimated that the total deficit facing the school board was $8,432,688 before the schools were closed two weeks early in June. She contended that the money would not all have to be saved in one year.

"This accumulated deficit, if saved in one year," Mrs. Lund said, "will wreck our schools. Abolition of junior high schools will not save any money. As a matter of fact it may cost more to return to the old system of eight years in the grades and four years in high school."

She declared that the cost for the operation of the school plant had not been reduced in keeping with the recommendations contained in the Strayer survey.

Business Manager Savage Replies.

Business Manager Savage replied to this charge a few minutes later when his report was read. Savage's report said:

"It is interesting to note that on page 177 of the Strayer report dealing with the 'Operation of the School

HOW SCHOOL ECONOMY PROGRAM WILL BE CARRIED OUT

Detailed reports on the manner in which the school board's $5,000,000 economy program is to be carried out were submitted to the trustees yesterday by William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools; Howard P. Savage, business manager of the school board; and Don C. Rogers, director of research and building survey.

Supt. Bogan reported that the changes, transfers and adjustments in the educational department will result in the elimination from the system of the following positions:

Elementary physical education.....	230
Elementary household arts.....	228
Elementary manual training.....	221
Kindergarten.....	300
High school physical education.....	104
Band and orchestra leaders.....	33
Elementary, including some former junior high school teachers.....	425

Total.....1,523

To offset the 1,523 positions abolished approximately 100 teachers will be needed to take the place of physical education teachers who had been teaching academic subjects part time. The same number will be required to replace household arts and manual training teachers who gave part of their time to teaching other subjects in elementary schools.

Get Full Time Jobs.

Approximately sixty-three household arts teachers will be given full time jobs as lunchroom managers, taken out of the teaching system by the economy order. There will be an estimated 125 vacancies in elementary schools and 100 in high schools due to the usual resignations, deaths, and other causes. That makes a total of 488 new jobs and will leave a net total of 1,035 teaching positions eliminated.

The report stated that the elimination of educational positions in the higher branches of the system will result in the displacing of an equal number of other teachers, mostly in the elementary schools.

In all cases where kindergarten, physical education, manual training, or household arts teachers hold regular certificates, it was stated that they will be absorbed into the system, displacing other teachers.

INJUNCTION SUIT ATTACKS PART OF SCHOOL PROGRAM

The recommendations of the special committee on economy of the board of education that the Chicago Parental school at 3600 Foster avenue be closed and that physical education teachers in the elementary schools be eliminated were attacked yesterday in a bill for an injunction filed in the Circuit court.

James B. McCahey, president of the school board, said last night that the suit was meaningless in the light of the action taken at the board meeting earlier in the day.

In connection with the Parental school, Supt. William J. Bogan's report stated:

"For the purpose of economy the number of pupils in the Parental school will be reduced as far as possible. Supervision, instruction, and maintenance will be continued for pupils who cannot be provided for elsewhere in the system, according to the Parental school law."

The board also adopted a motion to retain Kenneth "Tug" Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern University, in an advisory capacity to reorganize the physical education department and keep within the law.

The bill was set for a hearing today before Judge Harry M. Fisher. It was filed by Attorney Edward G. Woods.

Plant, a statement is made which, quoting from the report, is as follows: "If Chicago operated its school system at the average rate per square foot of floor space as reported by various cities comparable with Chicago the possible saving would be $1,463,441."

The business manager reports that the board to the fact that the retrenchments by reductions in salaries, elimination of employees, and by staggering placing an equal number of elementary teachers recently assigned. Later a plan will be presented to the board whereby an eligible list will be established to enable displaced teachers to secure readmission to the system.

Features of Report.

The principal features of the superintendent's report, made in accordance with the board's orders, are summarized as follows:

Limit the attendance in kindergarten classes to one year by any pupil and admit no child under five years of age.

Abolish the position of assistant kindergarten instructor thus eliminating 300 teachers. Re-employment will be hastened by giving these teachers opportunity, through examination or extension courses, to qualify as teachers for the first and second grades.

The number of physical education teachers in high schools will be reduced 50 per cent before the opening of the schools. The reduction will remove 104 teachers and will eliminate coaches as such, their work to fall on the regular physical education force.

Two assistant superintendents and five district superintendents will be transferred to other positions. The position of high school dean will be abolished and teachers heretofore so classed will become regular teachers.

Physical Education Work.

The positions of special teachers in physical education in the elementary schools will be eliminated, resulting in the dismissal of approximately 230 teachers. Physical education will be conducted by the regular classroom teachers.

Elementary schools will be combined so that no principal shall have less than two schools under his jurisdiction, transferring 165 principals into teaching positions.

Crane Junior college will be discontinued and the building used for high school purposes, releasing 151 teachers for high school positions.

The junior high school type of instruction will be discontinued and the former system of eight grades in the elementary schools and four in the high schools will be restored. By the system whereby the morale will be lifted and efficiency increased. I'm willing to take my full share of responsibility and I feel that we are doing something for the school children of Chicago."

Mrs. Hefferan Protests.

A motion that Kenneth G. "Tug" Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern, be asked to act in an advisory capacity under the reorganization of physical education, was made by Trustee Andrew O. Jackson. Mrs. Hefferan was on her feet immediately to protest.

"This is the first time in ten years that I have been on the board that a teacher has been nominated by a trustee," said Mrs. Hefferan. "Such nominations are made by the superintendent."

"I said advisory. Why do you distort?" asked Trustee Jackson. "I'm trying not to," replied Mrs. Hefferan.

Trustee Jackson explained that he had only suggested that Wilson be asked to act in an advisory capacity. His motion carried, with Mrs. Hefferan voting against it.

The question as to what should be done with the petitions of the "Save Our Schools" committee caused considerable argument as the trustees were leaving the scene. The petitions had been received to "place on file," but Trustee Fry protested that the signatures should be "investigated to see how many taxpayers were on them."

This angered the members of the "Save Our Schools" committee, who hugged the books containing the petitions and refused to surrender them. "I don't think we should give them up," said some of the women, talking to Trustee Fry, "after your remark."

"Well, do as you please," said Mr. Fry. "I know that in my neighborhood some school teachers sent 9 and 10-year-old kids around to get signatures. The kids had been told to tell the people that the schools were going to be closed. I know there are a lot of duplicate signatures on them."

The petitions were handed over after Charles Gilbert, school board secretary, had signed a receipt and promised that he would keep them under lock and key.

Seize Communist Propaganda.

In the hubbub outside the meeting room, Daniel O. Green, 19 years old, 1248 South Union avenue, was arrested while running about the corridors with a circular containing alleged communist propaganda. Irving Goldstein, 12 years old, suffered a cut on his shoulder when he was shoved through the glass panel of a door.

Several teacher leaders, among them Milton Raymer, pleaded with the crowd outside to be quiet during the meeting.

Forty policemen under the command of Capt. Matthew Zimmer and Ira McDowell and Leut. Patrick J. Bonner held the doors and ranged themselves through the throngs to preserve order. They did not attempt to quiet the shouting.

Ringling Brothers Circus to Be in Evanston Today

The Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus will exhibit in Evanston this afternoon and evening. It is the first time the show has stopped in Evanston in years. It is doing so at the special request of Mrs. Charles E. Ringling, 1309 Forest avenue, Evanston, widow of one of the owners. The tents will be set up on the grounds of the Evanston Township High school.

Joseph Urban's Will Gives Fund for Care of Dogs

New York, July 26.—(AP)—Joseph Urban, the theatrical designer, who died July 10, thought so much of his half dozen shepherds he provided for them in his will, filed today. The estate, which was not estimated, was left entirely to his widow, Mrs. Mary Urban. The will provided, however, that if she should not survive him a $4,000 trust fund was to be created to care for the dogs.

ASK $7,000,000 TO START GREAT WATERWAY PORT

Chicago Leaders Survey
Calumet-Sag Route.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Amid steel plant chimneys now beginning to belch black and yellow clouds again after a long smokeless period, an expedition left South Chicago yesterday and sailed to Joliet over the Calumet-Sag route to the Illinois waterway. The trip was in preparation for arguments at Washington for a quick start on the Lake Calumet industrial harbor project as part of the new deal. It was conducted by Ald. William A. Rowan [D], chairman of the harbor committee of the city council.

For the harbor project Washington is to be asked for perhaps seven million dollars out of the three and a third billion dollars for public works projects under the national industrial recovery program. It is figured that 85 per cent of the money would go to labor directly employed on the project or indirectly to labor through materials and supplies.

Total Cost Put at $39,700,000.

The total cost of improving the Calumet-Sag route as the main connection of the Illinois waterway with the industrial region along the toe of Lake Michigan is estimated at $20,800,000 for navigation facilities and $18,900,000 for bridges, a total of $39,700,000. The sanitary district of Chicago has already spent $15,475,215 on the Calumet-Sag route. Under the circumstances, advocates of the industrial harbor declare $7,000,000 is a reasonable request to make of the government for a start on the project on a moderate basis, to be extended as traffic develops.

100 Million Spent on Seaway.

Whatever is spent by the government, it is argued, will not entail repayment by the city or the sanitary district, inasmuch as the government has taken over the Illinois waterway project, on which Illinois and the sanitary district have spent in excess of 100 million dollars without getting a buffalo nickel back from the government.

A party of fifty industrialists, aldermen, shipbuilders, engineers, army officers and others made the voyage from South Chicago to Joliet on the ice breaking, seagoing tug Fred A. Britten, which draws 9 feet of water and has a 14 foot clearance with its stack jacked.

Joliet Leaders Meet Party.

At Joliet State Senator Richard J. Barr, Representative Michael P. Hennehy and a group of civic leaders met the party. A luncheon was followed by two hours of speechmaking, with William Hart as toastmaster. The tenor of the speeches was that the Calumet-Sag channel when improved will link Joliet and its iron and steel enterprises with Gary and the Calumet mill region.

As it stands, the Illinois waterway, which connects with the sanitary district canal has two courses into Lake Michigan—one through the Chicago river, which is now being used in growing volume; the other through the Calumet-Sag channel, into the Calumet river and the harbor at South Chicago, one of the great ports of the country.

The New Deal in Action.

As the ice breaking tug shoved off yesterday from the South Chicago dock officials pointed to a landscape that was giving signs of the new deal and the response of Chicago industries to President Roosevelt's program for industrial recovery.

At the Calumet river mouth smoke was pouring from several batteries of guns—the first time in many a day. Mechanics were working on dredges and rusty lake ships, getting them ready for service. As the tug snorted past the Republic Steel corporation Ald. Rowan reported that this plant is running at 80 per cent of capacity, with 1,500 employed.

Ships were discharging grain at elevators, while increased activities were noted at the General Chemical works. At the Ford plant 150 more men were put to work yesterday, Rowan reported. The chimneys of the Acme Steel company were smoking.

Gary Mills Using Channel.

Already Gary mills are using the Calumet-Sag outlet. Two stern wheelers shoved through the channel last week, bound for St. Louis and Memphis. Seven tows have already gone through.

The tug shoved along to the junction of the Grand and Little Calumet rivers, about eight miles from Lake Michigan, and thence along the Little Calumet, one of the most meandering streams in the world, to the entrance to the Calumet-Sag channel near Blue Island. Calumet river tape the proposed harbor development in Lake Calumet.

The Calumet-Sag channel, built by the sanitary district, is 16 miles long and it connects with the main sanitary and ship canal at Sag, some 12 miles above Lockport. The channel has a 20 foot depth and a 60 foot minimum width. Since it is too narrow for large boats to pass each other, a tie-by was built every three miles. The channel was opened in 1922. It took 11 years to build.

How Money Would Be Spent.

Immediate development proposals are to widen the Calumet river to 500 feet from the Ford plant to Blue Island and straighten out the many curves. Between two and four million dollars could be spent on this forthwith, according to various estimates on the tug. Ald. Rowan arguing for four million. Then the plan is to widen the Calumet-Sag channel to 250 feet. As a moderate program for this widening it is proposed to build three tie-bys, four miles apart, each a mile long and 200 feet wide. This would be a start on the full widening of the channel and it is estimated would cost two million.

In addition it is proposed that provision be made by the government for starting dredging in the southern third of Lake Calumet, with a view of establishing an industrial harbor terminal which can be expanded. This is figured at a million.

700 ZIONISTS HONOR FOUNDER OF MOVEMENT

Seven hundred adherents of the Zionist movement gathered in the Palmer house last evening for a program commemorating the services to his race of Dr. Theodor Herzl, founder of Zionism.

The speakers were William M. Katz, Rabbi Saul Silber, Max Shulman, Rabbi A. Levy, and Jacob M. Braude. Mr. Shulman recalled that Dr. Herzl had repeatedly warned the Jews of Germany nearly four decades ago that "Jew baiting breaks out more ferociously the longer it lies in abeyance."

Rabbi Silber asserted that Dr. Herzl clearly saw that the peace of the German Jews would be rudely disturbed. He traced the development of the founder's ideas and told of the 200,000 Jews who had returned to their ancestral Palestine.

WOMAN DIES OF POISONED FOOD LEFT BY SUICIDE

Penuriously Eats Half of Roll in Restaurant.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Two persons were taken ill at almost the same moment in a restaurant at Broadway and 104th street this morning. One was a man, the other a woman. They were strangers.

The man died within a few minutes in the restaurant wash room. The woman died an hour later in Knickerbocker hospital. Autopsies disclosed that both deaths had been caused by cyanide poisoning.

Detectives were of the opinion tonight that the man had committed suicide and that the woman's penuriousness had betrayed her into becoming an unwitting companion in that act.

The man was Henry Jellinek, 50 years old, an automobile mechanic in business for himself. He had a wife and 18 year old son, the latter a student at New York university. Jellinek, the police learned, had been ill in health for several weeks and was worried over business conditions.

The woman, Lillian Rosenfeld, 43 years old, lived by herself in a dank cellar apartment of two rooms. She was known there as Lillian Fields. She was a daughter of Simon S. Rosenfeld, a Boston and New York real estate man, who died twelve years ago.

Appeared Penniless; Had Wealth. So far as any one in the house knew, Lillian Fields was almost penniless and had neither relatives nor friends. The janitor, on finding her sleeping in the hallway, obtained permission for her to sleep in the cellar apartment.

Lillian Fields, the janitor said, was always complaining of poverty; begging him for the scraps he had left over at meal time; rummaging in ash cans for anything she could salvage. The only furnishings of her apartment were a rickety bedstead with no mattress and a battered red plush sofa she had found in a vacant lot. And piled high around the walls were hundreds of cardboard boxes.

This was what detectives found when they broke through the window today. But it was not all. At the time she was stricken in the restaurant they had found on her person a bank book. It showed deposits of $4,000 in a savings bank. Hunting among the contents of the boxes they found five more bank books. These showed deposits aggregating $41,000 in other savings banks. Among them was a slip of paper which read:

In case of accident to Lillian Fields please notify Della Rosenfeld of 28 West 126th street.

Identified by Sister. Della Rosenfeld identified the dead woman as her sister. They had not seen each other for years, she said. Her father at his death, she explained, had left them each $15,000, and soon afterwards they had quarreled because Lillian accused her of being "too extravagant."

It is the theory of the police that Lillian Rosenfeld went to the restaurant—a Horn & Hardart automat—in the hope of finding enough scraps on the plates to save her the expense of buying breakfast, and that this was what occurred.

Jellinek, bent upon taking poison, entered the restaurant, dropped a nickel in a slot, and obtained two poppy seed rolls. One of these he broke open, then poured a quantity of cyanide into it; the other he left untouched on the plate. He had eaten only half of the poisoned roll when he was taken ill and went to the wash room. There Lillian Rosenfeld passed the table. Seeing the rolls on the table, she snatched up the whole one and slipped it into a paper bag. The other she devoured.

LOS ANGELES HEAT FATAL TO ACTRESS, LOUISE CLOSSER HALE

Hollywood, Cal., July 26.—[Special.]—Louise Closser Hale, the novelist-actress, died today at noon at Monte Sano hospital as the result of having been overcome by heat yesterday while on a shopping tour. Her collapse in the broiling heat was followed by a heart attack, previous to which she had been in good health. She is survived by one sister in Boston. Her husband, the late Walter Hale, artist and etcher, died several years ago.

Mrs. Hale was born in Chicago Oct. 13, 1872, and enjoyed professional triumph in various fields. She traveled for Harper's magazine, wrote travel articles which were illustrated by her husband, and turned out the books, "Home Talent" and "American's London," among others. She was co-author of the play "Mother's Millions" which starred her friend, May Robson.

As a stage star she played three years in the London run of "Mrs. Wiggs." Other theater hits were "The White Sister," "Shanghai Express," "Letty Lynton," and two as yet unreleased productions, "Another Language" and "Dinner at Eight."

110 Degrees in Nearby Cities. Los Angeles, Cal., July 26.—[Special.]—Desert heat boiling over into the Los Angeles area sent the thermometer up to an official peak of 93 degrees at 1 p. m. with temperatures as high as 110 registered in outlying cities of this area. No immediate relief is expected. Pasadena registered 106; Riverside, 110, with an unofficial 114 in the suburbs. John J. Van de Putti, a rancher, whose place is near Fullerton, died of the heat.

TWELVE KILLED, TWO MADE BLIND BY POISON BOOZE

2 Negro Boys Blamed for Distribution.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 26.—[Special.]—Twelve men are dead and two others are blind, victims, police believe, of poison liquor found by two Negro boys in a vacant house in West Philadelphia.

Five of those who died are white and seven Negroes. All the deaths occurred yesterday and today. One man died in his car, parked in front of his home. Another died at his home last night after complaining to his wife that he was ill. Others died in hospitals.

Warn Liquor Purchasers. Police have issued a warning against purchasing illicit liquor in any part of the city. They have arrested James Marshall and Don Louis, both Negroes and both 14. The boys, police say, admitted finding a 20 gallon keg of liquor in a vacant house and draining it into two five gallon cans, other tin receptacles and jars.

James Witten, 29, and William Proud, 23, both white, confessed according to police, that they bought the liquor from the boys.

Sold for 25 Cents a Pint. Persons in the section of West Philadelphia where most of the victims lived said Negroes have been selling liquor recently for 25 cents a pint.

One woman was at first believed to have been a victim of the poison liquor. She was found by a neighbor, prostrate on her parlor floor. The hospital records show she died of heart trouble, although detectives still insist her death was superinduced by bad liquor.

MENJOU CRUEL, WIFE CHARGES; NAMES WOMAN

Asks Divorce and All Joint Property.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 26.—[Special.]—Adolph Menjou, screen actor, today was sued for divorce by Kathryn Carver, former actress and model.

She accused him of associating with another woman, dissipating community property, and threatening her life. The complaint charged that Menjou told his wife falsehoods, nagged her, carried on tirades against their friends, became intoxicated, and made her so nervous she was forced to obtain hospital treatment.

Separated and Reconciled. Several separations and reconciliations followed their marriage in Paris in May, 1928.

Miss Carver said the community property was worth $600,000 and asked the court to award it all to her. She said her husband earned an average of $100,000 annually in 1930-'31-'32, and estimated that for 1932 he would earn $180,000.

She asserted he told her marriage was "old fashioned" and "his public did not want to think of him as a married man." He suggested, she said, that they live apart and told her to go with other men if she wished. The only purpose of marriage to him was to save money on his income tax, she recited.

Names Other Woman.

The wife charged he had associated with Isabel Georgi in New York. She said Menjou was away all day last May 16, their fifth wedding anniversary, and had expressed the opinion that persons in his profession should never marry.

She described him as of a "rabbid, sullen, and pugnacious disposition." She said on two occasions he had terrified her by pointing a revolver at her and threatening her life. He also threatened to commit suicide, she alleged.

Would Fight Charges.

A court fight on certain phases of the divorce action brought against him by Miss Carver was threatened tonight by Menjou.

"As to the divorce itself," he said, "she may have it. But I will resist most vigorously her charge of infidelity, and I will also resist her efforts to obtain any property settlement."

He added there was a property settlement last October.

Woman Who Weighed 600 Pounds Is Dead

Miss Emily Loll, 53 years old, died early this morning in the county hospital of a rare disease known to medical science as elephantiasis, which causes abnormal growth. She weighed more than 600 pounds. A police squad was required to aid an ambulance crew in moving her to the hospital. The hospital records show she lived at 1107 Wrightwood avenue.

HOODLUM SLAIN AS JUDGES JOIN WAR ON GUNMEN

Courts to Speed Trial of All Killers.

been convicted once before. In the present drive I shall instruct my assistants to go to a jury, if necessary, to get the maximum penalty for gunmen."

Judges Plan Action.

Judge Prydzinski began action at a noon meeting with the three other judges who are now sitting in the Criminal court. The other members of the court are on vacation.

It was agreed at the meeting that a vigorous campaign against gunmen would act as a deterrent to the shooting of policemen. The call for at least six judges was sent out.

At the same time the clerk's office was ordered to immediately compile a list of all murder and robbery cases. These will be divided into as many calendars as there are volunteers responding to the call, and the available courts will be concentrated during the next month in the trial of these cases. It is estimated that 250 robbery cases and sixty or seventy murder cases are pending.

"So far as the public is concerned, the Criminal court is the most important of our courts," said Judge Prydzinski.

Demands Speedy Trials.

"While all cases should be speedily tried, cases wherein weapons are involved should be given precedence. If a change of venue is taken from one judge, another should be ready to try the case the same day and dispose of it. In no instance should any case involving a weapon be allowed to be in the courts without trial longer than 30 days after indictment."

Judge Harry B. Miller, who is a volunteer judge in the Criminal court, echoed the opinion of the chief justice. Judge Rudolph Desort, who was planning to leave on vacation next week, said he would stay on for the duration of the campaign. The other Criminal court judge now sitting is Judge Molthrop.

An example of how some cases are delayed in the courts is cited in the murder charges pending against Tony Rocco, Emil Manzoni, Richard Basile, and Dominick De Nardi. They were indicted Feb. 1 on charges of murdering Policeman Maurice Marcuse, who tried to prevent them from committing a robbery in a building at West Jackson boulevard. The case has been continued in the Criminal court several times and finally has been placed on the fall calendar for trial some time in September.

To Rush John's Trial.
The case of John Schack, who shot Policeman Sevik in Judge Molthrop's courtroom, will be recalled from the fall calendar and set for trial as soon as the wounded bandit is able to be wheeled into court, Judge Prydzinski said. Schack will have to face two murder charges as well as a score of robbery charges.

In the meantime, scores of police squads under the direct supervision of Assistant State's Attorney Emmet Moynihan were engaged in an unsuccessful hunt for Schack's mother and his sweetheart, Jeannette Haddon. Dozens of reports as to their whereabouts have proved false.

Although Mary Schack, 22 years old, sister of the wounded gunman, is accused of having slipped the revolver in through the bars, she has refused steadfastly to make any admissions.

Habeas Corpus Writ Refused.
An effort to block the authorities in their investigation was thwarted yesterday when Judge Prydzinski refused to take any action on a writ of habeas corpus filed by Attorneys Emmet Byrne and Ross Lee Laird in behalf of those held in custody in connection with the investigation. The petition asked for the release of Mrs. Mary Grundhoefer, 62 year old mother of Carl Grundhoefer, who was Schack's partner in the attempted escape; Miss Betty Polla, sweetheart of Grundhoefer, and Mary Schack and Joseph Schack, sister and brother of the wounded gunman.

State's Attorney Courtney yesterday indicated that he will soon be ready to take the case before the grand jury.

2 Tons of Stolen Auto Parts Found in Farm Raid

AUTOMOBILE TREASURY.
Stolen, 87; recovered, 72; stripped, 10 (from police records for twenty-four hours ending at midnight Tuesday).

Two tons of stolen automobile parts were seized yesterday by Sheriff Lester Tiffany of Lake county in a raid on a farm between Barrington and Wauconda. The man, Joe Smith, who said he came from North Dakota about a year ago, was arrested. He admitted, according to the sheriff, that he purchased the parts from thieves and that he had also disposed of several stolen cars. The associates who delivered the merchandise to Smith are being sought.

How a Policeman Was Slain in Line of Duty by Bandits

Following is the first of a series of stories recounting the manner in which nine Chicago policemen have been killed in action since Jan. 1.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

At 4:45 p. m. last Jan. 20 Patrolman Maurice Marcuse trudged wearily into a building at 323 West Jackson boulevard. He was physically and mentally tired and his thoughts were not of a cheerful nature.

Patrolman Marcuse had worked his regular shift that morning from midnight until 8 a. m. at the bureau of identification. He had then gone to his home at 8519 Crandon avenue, where he breakfasted and slept for a few hours. He was tired, but he hoped to persuade Klein to lend him a few more dollars on the salary checks due him.

Awaking, he discussed with his wife, Wilma, his mutual misfortunes. Marcuse had not received any pay for months and he was $2,000 in debt. In addition, he was under the obligation of paying alimony for the support of his first wife and a 13 year old child.

Seeking Additional Loan.

His errand that afternoon was to visit a friend, Joseph Klein, one of the owners of the Market Loan company, which was in room 901 of the building in Jackson boulevard. Patrolman Marcuse was already heavily in debt to the loan company, but he hoped to persuade Klein to lend him a few more dollars on the salary checks due him.

Despite his preoccupation with his personal problems, the policeman's eyes automatically recorded the fact that two men directly in front of him were acting in that furtive, self-conscious manner which the police department describes laconically as "suspiciously."

Patrolman Marcuse chatted for a moment with the elevator operator, Frank Sabick, commenting upon the appearance of the two men. Sabick had never seen them before, he said. After a few moments the elevator ascended. As it passed the sixth floor the policeman and the operator again saw the two men, and their suspicions were intensified.

Patrolman Marcuse knew that a loan company, with its supply of cash on hand, was a logical target for hold-up men. Getting off at the ninth floor, he went to room 901.

A moment later a colored porter, Polaxaphan Irving, entered a washroom on the ninth floor to find the two men lurking there. They followed him when he made a hurried exit and stood in the hallway. Marcuse entered from the office of the loan company and walked toward them.

The policeman was in plain clothes, but as he approached he displayed his star and announced:

"I am a police officer. Take your hands out of your pockets."

Shoot Down Policeman.
Immediately the two men separated, one running towards the stairway and the other towards the elevator. They drew guns and opened fire upon the policeman from two angles as they ran.

Bullets pierced the policeman's abdomen, his right arm and his right hand as he drew his own gun and emptied its six bullets at one of the men. Then he fell to the floor.

Both gunmen escaped from the building by running down the stairs. One of them, identified later as Tony Rocco, 24 years old, the possessor of a police record, had been wounded in the left thigh and left side by Marcuse's shots and he staggered as he tried to run south in Market street from Jackson boulevard.

Patrolman Marcuse was already heavily in debt to the loan company, but he hoped to persuade Klein to lend him a few more dollars on the salary checks due him.

Rocco admitted that he and his companion had intended to hold up the loan office. He was positively identified by several witnesses as one of the men who shot the policeman, and is now awaiting trial for murder.

Policeman Dies of Wounds.
Patrolman Marcuse died three days after the shooting in St. Luke's hospital, leaving a widow and a 10 year old daughter, Clarice, in addition to a son by a first marriage and his first wife.

"He was very poor," said Capt. Hugh McCarthy in his report on Marcuse's financial status. "He was $2,000 in debt. He had no insurance, owned no real estate, and had no income other than his salary."

Mrs. Marcuse was awarded $125 a month compensation from the Police-men's Annuity and Benefit fund.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR POLICEMAN SLAIN BY GUNMEN

Funeral services for the two policemen slain by gunmen within the last few days were conducted yesterday at the same hour.

Solemn requiem mass for Policeman John G. Sevik, who was killed on Monday in the Criminal court building, was conducted in St. Jerome's church, Lunt avenue and Paulina street, at 9:30 a. m. The mass was sung by the Rev. John Brown, assisted by the Rev. J. H. McTigue and the Rev. Maurice Kennedy.

Six policemen from the Rogers Park station acted as pallbearers. The procession to the church had started from the slain policeman's home at 7023 1/2 Sheridan road. Burial was in Forest Home cemetery.

The body of Policeman John Skopek, killed on Saturday by bandits in front of 2532 Washington boulevard, was taken from his home at 2532 South Trumbull avenue to the Church of the Assumption, 24th street and California avenue. Policemen acted as escorts and pallbearers. Burial was in Resurrection cemetery near Des Plaines. Policeman Elmer Ostling was killed with Skopek.

Policeman Skopek is survived by his widow and a daughter, Corinne, 10 years old. Policeman Sevik is survived by his widow, who is to become a mother.

START PICKING JURY IN TERROR MURDER TRIAL

Selection of a jury to try John Rooney, secretary-treasurer of the Circular Distributors union; his sweetheart, Miss Rosalie Rizzo, 2344 South Cuyler avenue, Berwyn, and Henry P. Berry, business agent of the union, for the murder of a watchman, was begun yesterday before Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court.

The defendants were indicted for the murder of Stanley Gross, 22 years old, the watchman, who was shot and killed last May 23 as he guarded the Goldblatt Brothers store at 1015 West Chicago avenue. The state charges that the murder was the climax of the union's terror campaign against the store, which did not employ union bill distributors.

ACT TO IDENTIFY ROBBERS WITH SANDED FINGERS

Chicago Police Executives Aid Kendall Sheriff.

Emmett Evans, chief of the bureau of identification, spent hours yesterday trying to obtain an identification of two prisoners held at Yorkville, Ill., who sanded their finger tips.

Chief of Detectives Schoemaker was determined that the prisoners be identified and with Evans tendered his cooperation to Sheriff Martin Hextel of Kendall county, who has the men in custody.

The two were arrested after the robbery of a bank at Millbrook last Saturday. A third bank robber was killed by a posse and he has been identified as Gus Ellis of Chicago. Yesterday Ellis' photograph was identified in Davenport, Ia., as one of the men who robbed a bank there of $15,340 on Sept. 9, 1932, and who participated in an attempted bank holdup there on Oct. 6.

Chicago Sends Expert.
The two prisoners have suddenly refused to give any information concerning themselves, and Sheriff Hextel said he would send their photographs to every police department in the country to learn their records.

Chief Schoemaker sent Lieut. Arthur Rudnick, a finger print expert, to Yorkville to view the pair and get their measurements and finger prints.

Rudnick brought back some prints which were of little avail, but Evans took what few marks there were and went to work, comparing them with prints on file. The finger identification system requires that the core be used as the basis of classification, he said. The loops, whorls, and deltas are counted beginning at the core, and in this way a classification of each finger is obtained, he explained.

The Yorkville prisoners, obviously men with criminal records and probably facing a death sentence or long imprisonment, had been prepared in advance of their capture. Whether they used a fine sandpaper or an acid solution to remove the ridges did not reproduce and the core of the finger tip lines had been eliminated on practically all their fingers.

Believe Skin Will Regrow.
It was the opinion of Mr. Evans that in time the skin would be regrown on the prisoners' fingers and identifications could be made, but it might take several months and if they rubbed their fingers on a rough surface every day they might defer identification indefinitely. A medical authority's opinion was that if acid were used and only the outer skin were burned off it would eventually be regrown, but if the burn went deeper and into what he termed the true skin, scar tissues might form and the finger prints never again tally with old records.

Mr. Evans, who has been connected with the bureau of identification for many years, succeeding his father, who organized it fifty years ago, said that he was not sure of the opinion of the medical authorities, but he said that if the ridges did not reproduce and the core of the finger tip lines had been eliminated on practically all their fingers.

In the Yorkville case there are a few marks for him to work on, he said, and there is some hope for success. Both the Chicago and the Kendall county officials, however, are determined to identify the pair. Other prisoners have been sent to see if they could recognize the two and meanwhile police of other cities were concerning themselves with the Yorkville pair and seeking to connect them with crimes in their communities.

World Police Urged to Unite in a Battle to Curb Crime

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A world police bureau, uniting all the major nations in a drive against international crooks, kidnapers, and police killers, is expected to be formed during sessions of three organizations of police chiefs, criminologists and detectives, which begin in Chicago this morning.

Delegations began arriving yesterday for the meeting of the World Association of Detectives at the Morrison hotel today. These men were shocked at the police killings in Chicago, particularly the Sevik case, and talked of the necessity of greater cooperation. In the meantime a delegation of twenty-nine police heads from Europe, Canada, and eastern cities of the United States, were calling on President Roosevelt and Attorney General Homer S. Cummings in Washington and discussing plans for a world police force. They will arrive in Chicago this morning.

Merger Is Planned.
The International Association of Chiefs of Police and the International Association for Identification, consisting of finger print experts and criminologists, will hold committee meetings beginning today. One of the first actions is expected to be a merger with the inactive police commissioners' conference, founded by Richard E. Enright, former police commissioner of New York and consisting chiefly of foreign members.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, who has charge of the campaign against kidnapping, will attend the sessions. Other delegates will be the heads of police forces in Brussels, Paris, Amsterdam, Bucharest, Edinburgh, Warsaw, Berlin, Copenhagen, Montreal, Quebec, Boston, New York, Newark, and Washington.

No Limit on Costs.
Attorney General Cummings, it was learned, has the consent of the President to spend as much as is necessary to round up the kidnapers and other criminals. There is to be no limit on crime suppression costs by the federal government. Part of these funds may go to support of the proposed world bureau. A greater expenditure of money in the city of Chicago in the war against criminals is also considered necessary by the detective experts here.

The visiting police executives will be received by Mayor Kelly at noon today and from his office will go to a Century of Progress, where they will review the Fair police at the 14th street gate, after which they will be entertained by President Rufus Dawes in the trustees' lounge. They will hold their sessions at the Hotel Sherman, where the identification experts will also meet.

Criminologists from abroad.

Raymond Schindler of New York, former general manager of the Burns agency, and John Pyles of Los Angeles were among the arrivals yesterday. E. Goddard of Brussels, Herbert Fitch of London, former Scotland Yard official, and Peter McLaughlin of Edinburgh are among the more noted criminologists coming from abroad. Arriving yesterday were:

Commissioner James S. Bolan, Inspector John J. O'Connell, W. S. Nesbitt and R. B. Fontes, all of New York.
Director Bernard Dufrene, Montreal.
Gen. Pierre Mondanal, Paris.
Sgt. Gen. D. C. Draper, Toronto.
Commissioner Florent E. Lemaire, Brussels.

Chief Constable Frederick Ross, Edinburgh.
Chief Emil Zedel, Prague.
Commissioner K. H. Broekhoff, Amsterdam.
Police President M. Menes and aid, Copenhagen.
Dr. Eugene Blaauw, director general of police, Bucharest, Rumania.

Chief Constable A. K. Marshall, Oldham, England.
President of Police Michael H. Crowley of Boston.
Chief Alfred Seymour, Lansing, Mich.
Commissioner John S. Duff, Newark, N. J.
Maj. Ernest W. Brown, Washington, D. C.
Maj. A. Pizutto, commissioner of police, Rome.
Dr. Leon Nagler, Warsaw, Poland.
M. B. Baerensprung, Berlin.
Commissioner James K. Watkins, Detroit.
Chief Constable G. H. Newton, Winnipeg.
Director H. D. Deney, Pittsburgh.
Chief William Coplan, Cincinnati.
Chief James McNeil, Newark, N. J.
Commissioner Charles B. Galtier, Baltimore, Md.

Commissioner L. J. Jenkins, Portland, Ore.
Commissioner William P. Rutledge, Wyandotte, Mich.
Chief Philip T. Bell, Kearney, N. J.

A joint session of the police chiefs and the identification experts will be held next Monday, at which kidnapping will be discussed.

JOHN C. CUDAHY, ENVOY, IS HONOR GUEST AT DINNER

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Milwaukee, Wis., July 26.—[Special.]—John C. Cudahy, newly named ambassador to Poland, was the guest of honor tonight of a gathering of many Milwaukee and Wisconsin citizens.

State officials, distinguished citizens of Polish nationality and descent, Archbishop Samuel A. Strick, and other members of the clergy and leaders of the state's industry joined in paying honor at a banquet at the Pfister hotel to the Milwaukee man who will represent the United States government at the capital of Poland.

John Cudahy was toastmaster. Mr. Cudahy, he said, could step on Polish soil with reverence and gratefulness and with the knowledge that much of Milwaukee's greatness was due to its Polish citizens, Francis Swietlik, Archbishop Strick, and others spoke of the close friendship between the United States and Poland, and Mr. Cudahy talked of the problems he anticipates and the work he will meet of making stronger and closer the intimacy between the two countries.

STAGE SET FOR SPEEDY WINDUP OF PARLEY TODAY

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, July 26.—Delegates to the world economic conference today put the final touches to the speeches they will make to the final plenary session of the parley tomorrow. No meetings of committees were held and, so far as actual work is concerned, the conference is over until it reassembles, if ever, after tomorrow's adjournment.

The plenary session will meet at 10 a. m. and will finish early enough to enable Secretary of State Hull and the other members of the American delegation to leave London at 6 p. m. to catch the S. S. President Harding for home. So far eleven nations have signed their desire to speak.

The program for tomorrow calls for presentation of the reports of the monetary and economic commissions by M. Collet, substituting for Finance Minister Bonnet of France, and Walter Runciman of Great Britain. The chairmen of the two commissions, James M. Cox, of the monetary commission and Dr. Hendrick Collin of the economic and political commissions, are slated to speak. Cordell Hull, American secretary of state, will also speak.

SEEK CLEW TO POLICE KILLERS IN FINGERPRINTS

Employes of the bureau of identification were going through their files yesterday in an effort to find clues that may lead to the capture of the gunmen who on Saturday killed Policemen John Skopek and Elmer Ostling. They are seeking a finger print that will coincide with a print left on the rear view mirror of an automobile believed to have been used by the killers.

Theodore Basil, 33 years old, 1531 Adams street, said to be a petty hoodlum, was arrested last night for questioning in connection with the killings. Detective James McGinnis seized him at Loomis and Harrison streets after receiving information that Basil might know something about this crime. He will be questioned by Detective Schoemaker.

Skopek and Ostling were shot down in front of 2532 Washington boulevard as they approached the car containing the gunmen.

BALBO AIR FLEET HOPS 500 MI. TO NEWFOUNDLAND

Return Flight Over Sea
Set for Tomorrow.

BY JOHN BROWNE.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
SHOAL HARBOR, Newfoundland, July 26.—Twenty-three planes of the Italian air armada en route back to Italy flew here in four hours today from Shediac, New Brunswick, a distance of 500 miles. The twenty-fourth plane was forced down at Victoria Harbor, Prince Edward Island, shortly after the takeoff from Shediac.

The plane was forced to land because of a defective water pump. A new pump was rushed here from Shediac and installed tonight. The plane will take off at daybreak to join the armada here. Tonight it was left high and dry on the beach by the receding tide, but was expected to be refloated about midnight.

Cheered by Thousands.
Gen. Italo Balbo with the eleven planes flying in the black and red groups began landing at 11:40 a. m. Chicago daylight saving time, and the twelve of the white and green groups were on the water at 12:11 p. m. They taxied down in groups of three with good visibility, bright sunshine and wind from the east.

Thousands of persons lined the railway pier off Clarendville, the beach and other vantage points and sent up lusty cheers. Gen. Balbo waited on the wing of his plane until all the ships were tied up. He then came ashore, where he was met by Lieut. Col. L. C. Osterberger, special representative of Gov. Sir David Murray Anderson; J. C. Puddister, secretary of state; M. P. Gibbs, president of the legislative council; and Alex J. Winter, speaker of the house of assembly.

Greeted by British Admiral.
The British rear admiral, Plunkett-Erle-Drax, commander in chief of the American and West Indies station, reached Shoal Harbor in a plane 10 minutes before Gen. Balbo's arrival. The British naval officer conferred with the Italian air minister in Italian and presented him a copper ash tray as a souvenir of H. M. S. Norfolk. The plane returned the admiral to the Norfolk, which then sailed for Bar Harbor, Me.

Owing to the fatigue of the men, the refueling of the planes, which was started, was called off with orders to resume at daybreak and finish before 4 p. m. tomorrow. All tanks will be filled to utmost capacity for the ocean flight, the route of which was announced tonight by Gen. Balbo. The planes will return to Europe by the northern route, flying across the Atlantic to Ireland. A southern route by way of the Azores had been considered as an alternative. Gen. Balbo said the takeoff was scheduled for Friday.

The flyers are resting tonight, having sent their regrets for being unable to attend a state dinner arranged in their honor by the government reception party. Strict military discipline and necessity for rest were given as the reason for declining to attend.

One Plane Forced Down.
The Shediac takeoff began at 7:43 a. m. Chicago time. The planes headed northeast over Prince Edward island. The rear right plane in the third triad, marked with two red stars and bearing Capt. Rovis, Lieut. Ani, Sergeant Mechanic Cipollini, and Corporal W. T. Martinelli, had trouble with its pump over Cape Traverse and made a safe landing at Victoria Harbor.

Gen. Balbo, wireless to Rome stating that at 9:15 a. m. he was over Cape North, at the northern tip of Cape Breton island, flying at an altitude of 1,000 feet. From there the squadron flew over Grand bay, Port Aux Basques, and Isle Aux Morts. At 10:50 Gen. Balbo reported that he was over Fortune bay, Newfoundland, with visibility good, although the sky was completely cloudy. He was flying at 2,000 feet. The flight passed over Ramea, Come by Chance, Terre Neuve, and Pools cove, and reached Shoal Harbor at 11:35.

BALBO FLYERS IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Gen. Italo Balbo and 23 planes of his Italian air armada landed at Shoal Harbor, Newfoundland, yesterday after a 500 mile flight from Shediac, N. B., where they landed Wednesday from New York on their return flight to Italy. The 24th plane was forced down by a faulty water pump at Victoria Harbor, Prince Edward Island (indicated by arrow).

WORLD FLYER POST WHITE HOUSE GUEST; LAUDED BY ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(AP)—Wiley Post was warmly congratulated by President Roosevelt today for his recent solo flight around the world that set a speed record for the journey.

Mr. Roosevelt received the aviator in the White House and then took him to the portico where the President spoke briefly to members of the Citizens' Military Training corps.

Devoting most of his talk to the exploits of Post, the President concluded with:

"Come on, Wiley, give us a little talk."

Mr. Roosevelt reached out and almost pulled the flyer to the railing. After Post had recovered his voice, he said to the group before him:

"I admire the American uniform a great deal. I am sorry I have never worn it. I am glad to be here."

Mrs. Post and Harold Gatty, the navigator who accompanied Post on his first flight around the world, Mrs. Gatty, Lee Trenholm, manager of Post, and Walter M. Harrison, Oklahoma City editor, accompanied the aviator to the White House.

Applauded in New York.
New York, July 26.—(Special.)—Wiley Post sat in an open car today and rode the celebrity gantlet up Broadway, while ticker tape and waste paper showered down, the police band played, and several thousand persons lining the sidewalks cheered. Thus was Post repaid for his globe circling achievement and the fastest time around that part of the world that aviators fly around.

Mrs. Post rode in an open car immediately behind her husband's. Behind it came other cars, full of famous flyers.

After the reception at city hall and a luncheon at the Advertising club, Post went to Floyd Bennett field and took off in the Winnie Mae for Washington.

BEG YOUR PARDON
It was incorrectly stated in yesterday's Tribune that police were seeking Jerry Forney, part owner of a beer garden at 6905 Stony Island avenue, for questioning in connection with the murder of Al Strock. Forney voluntarily submitted to questioning on Monday, it was stated, and has been available at all times since.

ROBBERY SUSPECT HELD TO JURY.
Robert J. Ross, 29 years old, 6153 Greenwood avenue, was held to the grand jury yesterday for Judge Howard Hayes in the felony court in bonds of $20,000 on two charges of robbing Western Union telegraph office.

Orthman succeeds Capt. Stephen J. Gnash, who has served 11 years.

Orthman is 54 years old and lives at 216 North Fairfield avenue. He has been in the police department for 27 years, the last ten years being spent in the attorney general's office. He is a past national inspector general of the United Spanish war veterans.

'BIG STICK' LAW VOTED IN SPAIN TO CRUSH FOES

Parliament Curtails Civil Rights of Citizens.

BY JAY ALLEN.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
MADRID, July 26.—In a burst of enthusiasm after weeks of lassitude, perhaps from the fearful heat of the Castilian summer, the cortes tonight rushed through a series of measures to enable the republican government to use the big stick in Spain and still be within the law.

For days only a score or so of deputies had sought the Turkish bath temperature of the musty parliament building, but today enough of them were corralled by party leaders to give the government the full majority required to pass the public order act, the vagrancy law, and another which reforms jury procedure.

Act Bristles with Teeth.
The public order act bristles with teeth. By a mere declaration of a "state of prevention" the government can muzzle the press. By declaring a more serious "state of alarm" it can suspend all constitutional guarantees, and by going all the way and declaring a state of war it can do anything it likes.

Even in ordinary times, when there is neither prevention, alarm, nor war, copies of newspapers must be sent to the civil authorities for approval one hour before they are put on sale. Not until the censor gives his stamp of approval can a paper reach the public.

By invoking the law of vagrancy police can imprison any citizen whose means support are not visible to the naked eye. The jury reform law denies the right of trial by his peers to any one accused of violence of a social or political character.

Trial by Judges.
Spanish police in the past have complained that juries, particularly in Catalonia, the leading industrial region, where terrorism is the leading industry, did not want to or did not dare to convict a gunman who killed for a political or social "ideal." From now on these gentry will go before the judges, whom the deputies who passed this bill seem to think will be neither sentimental nor cowardly.

Apologists for the public order act point out that in the halcyon days of the monarchy the government did not interfere except in sporadic social and military outbreaks, and when the organized movement of the republicans came along the monarchy went under.

Must Defend Self.
Now the republic, they say, like the monarchy in its last years, is menaced on all sides by organized movements of definite character, such as fascism, syndicalism, and communism, and it would be criminal folly for the regime not to defend itself to the fullest.

Although an unprecedented number of deputies braved the heat and voted for the measure today, the Asana government is in a delicate position and in many quarters tonight it is predicted that in the ministerial council meeting with President Zamora tomorrow the cabinet's resignation will result.

SPANISH POLICE BEAT AMERICAN TOURIST; U. S. FILES PROTEST

(Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.)
BARCELONA, July 26.—United States Consul General Claude Dawson today made energetic representations to the civil authorities concerning mistreatment accorded by Barcelona police to a young American couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peterzell of Philadelphia, who came to tour Spain by automobile.

The Peterzells lodged a complaint regarding the theft of a package from their automobile and were notified to call on the judge at the palace of justice to make a statement. When they arrived there they found the judge was at home taking his siesta. As they started to leave, five policemen pulled them out of their auto.

Peterzell attempted to telephone the United States consulate, but was seized and after being treated with violence was thrown into a cell, where he was held until his wife obtained his release.

NEW CODE MAILED TO FIVE MILLION U. S. EMPLOYERS

Plan "Recovery" Boards in Every State.

greatly improved. The bureau of labor index of wholesale prices has advanced 9 per cent since February, while the price indexes of farm products and foods advanced 30 per cent and 14 per cent, respectively. The national industrial conference board's cost of living index advanced but 1 per cent.

"Freight car loadings moved upward. Newspaper lineage increased. Foreign trade showed some improvement. "One could go on almost indefinitely citing evidences of improving business and returning confidence."

CALL FOR 2,200 WORKERS

With many more business concerns in Chicago rallying to President Roosevelt's program for national industrial recovery by the establishment of minimum wages and maximum working hours, the Illinois Emergency Relief commission announced yesterday that two industrial firms had requested the commission to send them 2,200 men.

The firms, whose names the commission would not divulge, each asked for 1,100 men, and stated that they were employing these men as a direct result of the President's plan, in accordance with which they have already cut working hours and raised wages. The men will be selected from the commission's vocational bureau lists.

Mail Order Chief Gives Pledge. E. M. Schnadig, president of the Chicago Mail Order company, yesterday telegraphed President Roosevelt that the company would support the recovery act and keep its selling prices at low levels.

"We subscribe wholeheartedly to your efforts to bring about better economic conditions to increase employment and raise wage rates so that the purchasing power of the American public may be improved," the telegram read, "and we pledge our support to the blanket code until the administration may approve of the code designed to cover the distribution of merchandise at retail or of a code designed to cover our industry. We will cooperate in keeping prices down to the lowest levels. We will do our part."

Dress Manufacturers Act. Announcement was made last night at the end of a meeting of the Chicago Association of Dress Manufacturers in Hotel La Salle that the organization wished to be among the first to support President Roosevelt's program, and that the members would go on a 40 hour week with a 14 minimum wage next Monday, pending adoption of a national code.

The association, according to Sidney Weil, 318 West Adams street, represents 75 per cent of the production of women's dresses in the Chicago area, with from 10,000 to 12,000 employees. The meeting in the La Salle was presided over by Samuel Eisenberg, president of the association.

It was also announced that 300 dry goods and department store owners, all outside the loop, had made an agreement at a meeting in the Merchandise Mart to support the recovery act. On Monday store hours are to be stabilized at 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, except Thursdays and Saturdays, when 9 p. m. will be the closing hour. The minimum wage later was $15. The meeting was presided over by Abe Kotler.

Other Concerns Cooperate. John H. Dittell, president of the Columbia Phonograph company, telegraphed the President that the company would cooperate with the recovery act in its factories and branches throughout the country.

Similar pledges of cooperation were telegraphed by the Catholic Order of

Auto Dealers' Code Puts U. S. Into Fight Against Thieves

Machinery by which the power of the federal government under the national recovery act would be exerted against automobile dealers who handle stolen parts or cooperate in any manner with automobile thieves or racketeers was incorporated in a trade code adopted yesterday by 600 automobile dealers from Chicago and northern Illinois.

The dealers met at the Edgewater Beach hotel under the sponsorship of the National Automobile Dealers' association, the Illinois Automobile Dealers' association, and the Chicago Automobile Trade association.

One section of the code provides that the use of any stolen parts in repairing wrecked or stripped automobiles shall be considered an unfair trade practice under the industrial recovery act. Another section declares any offense against the criminal statutes of Illinois to be also an unfair trade practice under the act.

Violations to Cost License. It was pointed out that this will give federal authorities, under the licensing provision of the recovery act, power to put out of business any automobile dealer found to be handling stolen parts, or cooperating with automobile thieves, or allowing his garage to be used in the operations of racketeers and gangsters.

The code provides a maximum work week of 40 hours, with minimum wages for various classes of employees ranging from $15 to $25.

It prohibits the giving of discounts to owners of truck or passenger car fleets in the purchase of automobiles, tires, or accessories, prohibits manufacturers from forcing dealers to overstock with cars on penalty of losing their sales franchises, and makes provision for more strict regulations of trade in allowances on used cars.

NATIONAL AUTOMOBILE GROUP VOTES WAGE INCREASE FOR 200,000

Detroit, Mich., July 26.—(AP)—A wage increase Aug. 1 for 200,000 workers in plants allied with the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce was announced today, following the adoption of a resolution by directors of the N. A. C. C. calling for an upward wage readjustment in factories of its members.

The resolution to increase wages was adopted at a meeting called to approve a trade code to be submitted to the President by the automobile industry. At the end of the two day session the delegates found no code but formally adopted it. It was announced, however, that a majority of the members agreed that the proposed code formulated at the meeting should be filed with the national industrial recovery administration as soon as signature representatives of a sufficient percentage of the industry could be obtained.

The exact amount of the wage increase was not made public. The proposed code is understood to contain specific provisions covering the amount of the increase, but those attending the meeting today refused to divulge its contents.

The Ford Motor company is not a member of the N. A. C. C., and the resolution was understood to apply to the various Ford units. Ford, however, has been represented at conferences of the N. A. C. C. code committee.

Other major auto manufacturers are among the 42 members. Foresters, the Daulty Frock company, the B. Manischewitz company, manufacturers of Matzo products, and the Lanzit Corrugated Box company, which has already changed its hours and wages to conform to the code, are among the members.

The Container Corporation of America is adjusting wages and hours in all of its ten production plants throughout the country to conform to the President's code. This announcement was made by John J. Broshiere, vice president in charge of production. "We are in accord with the President's code in every respect," he added.

The Grigsby-Grunow Radio company, in telegraphing its pledge to the President, added a hope that the administration "will use promptly the power provided to discipline those manufacturers who may unpatriotically evade their duty to their country."

JOHNSON TELLS OIL FACTIONS TO 'GET TOGETHER'

Hearings Recessed Until Next Monday.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(Special.)—Gen. Hugh H. Johnson was the talker of the day, in fact as well as in name today, as he ordered the conflicting branches of the oil industry to get together in some agreement before going on with the public hearings on their code.

By the recovery administrator's orders the hearings were recessed until next Monday, when a final effort is to be made to bring into one fold all the diverse interests of one of the country's most thoroughly embattled industries.

Curly and vigorously, the session which began last Monday was brought to an end when Gen. Johnson asserted: "If you men can't get together it just means that there isn't any such thing as industrial self-government."

"This isn't carism," he told the meeting. "Nobody's trying to impose something on you. This is industrial self-government."

Lays Down the Law. Then, with characteristic emphasis, he proceeded to lay down the law. He divided the oil industry into its four component parts—labor, marketing, refining, and producing. Committees which have met to draw up the provisions of the code would be ready with an agreement by next Monday, he said.

He then proceeded to call for representatives for a similar committee on marketing.

"No, sir, I'm not going to have a town meeting," he barked as a delegate sought to get four representatives instead of two on the committee.

Another delegate was worried lest his group suffer at the committee's hands.

"Going to put anything over that is, somebody may try, but that anybody can—that's something else again."

Over on their side of the room, the representatives of the major oil companies gathered whispering about Asst. J. Byles, president of the American Petroleum Institute. On the opposite side Jack Blacklock of Texas was the center of the boiling independent group. And scattered through the hall, little knots of jobbers and retailers eyed other little knots of delegates hostilely.

"Can't Get Away with It." "Maybe somebody can put something over for a little while," declared the administrator, but they're not going to get away with it very long."

Chief dispute which the marketing committee must settle is the question of prohibiting the so-called "lease and agency" and "lease and license" agreements under which the independents claim, the major companies are turning filling stations into exclusive agencies and freezing the independents' products out of the market.

SOVIET CAPTAIN TO BE SHOT FOR CROWDING BOAT

YAROSLAV, U. S. S. R., July 26.—(AP)—Nicolai Andreev, captain of a little Volga river excursion boat which sank July 9 with a loss of 98 lives, was sentenced today to be shot for allowing the vessel to be overcrowded.

His assistant, Leonid Kurakoff, was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment, and nine others were given terms of one to two years.

Their trial began shortly after the launch, carrying locomotive shop workers and their families, went down in the Volga three miles from the city, located 173 miles northeast of Moscow.

Although the craft had a capacity of only 125 passengers, twice that number were aboard.

U. S. READY TO PAY 135 MILLION TO WHEAT FARMERS

Illinois Allotment Set at 5 Million.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Arrangements for the distribution of some $135,000,000 to wheat farmers of the nation, who agree to curtail their acreage this fall, were being made in more than a hundred district meetings over the nation yesterday. The fund is derived from the tax imposed on wheat and flour for human consumption, which went into effect July 8. It will be paid out to farmers during August or early September.

At the same time preparations were being made for the drafting of a national code of trade practices by the grain dealers and elevator operators of the nation in Chicago today. The meeting, to be held at the Sherman hotel, was called by George E. Booth, president of the Grain and Feed Dealers' National association.

The code is expected to stipulate, among other things, the charges which shall prevail for the handling of grain from farm to market.

The cash benefits which will be paid to Illinois farmers alone will approximate $5,000,000, it was estimated by Dean H. W. Mumford of the Illinois College of Agriculture at Urbana. From the farm adjustment administration in Washington each state college has been given the task of informing farmers what is required of them in order to participate in the readjustment of the 1934 crop.

The five year average production of 13,558,200 bushels, from 1928 to 1932, is the basis on which the Illinois wheat quotas will be established. It is estimated the 1934 crop will be held to about 60 per cent of this average production. Similar quotas are being fixed for every wheat growing state.

THE DEPRESSION MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE, IT SEEMS

"If the depression had lasted three years more, most American men would have been dressed scantier than Mahatma Gandhi."

H. K. Burnham of New York, editor of Engineering News-Record, made this statement last night before delegates to the annual convention of the International Association of Clothing Designers at the Palmer house. He gave figures to support the contention.

"In the period from 1927 to 1929," said Mr. Burnham, "each man in America bought suits on an average of one every 18 months. For a similar period, ending this year, each man in America bought an average of one suit every three years. If this kept up to 1936 we would doubtless have been rivals of Gandhi."

The New York expert read statistics showing that during the depression years the sale of trousers increased, indicating, he said, that men made coats serve longer by adding trousers when the original pairs wore out.

STRIKE HALTS BREWERIES; WINS IN HALF AN HOUR

Members of local 399 of the operating engineers' union walked out, demanding a higher wage and shorter hours, yesterday at the eighteen Chicago breweries where they are employed, and within half an hour won their fight.

The engineers had been getting $10.75 a hour for a forty-eight hour week and demanded $12.25 an hour for a forty hour week. Richard Wren, president of the union, said the shorter week would increase the number of brewery engineers from 150 to 200.

The strike was called at noon and stopped all operations. With their beer about to spoil for lack of refrigeration and with all other employees standing idle because of the engineers' walkout, the breweries were ready to capitulate by 12:30 p. m. H. F. Ernst, president of the Prima company and president of the Illinois State Brewers' association, signed for the forty hour week at $12.25 an hour, the contract to run for one year.

THREE NAMED TO DIRECT ILLINOIS PUBLIC WORKS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(Special.)—Charles H. Harrier, first deputy mayor of Chicago, James L. Houghteling, Chicago banker, and James H. Andrews, mayor of Kewanee, were named by President Roosevelt today, as members of the Illinois state advisory group for public works.

Announcement of their selection to supervise the administration's public works campaign in Illinois was made by Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes. Similar boards for each state were made public at the same time. The state advisory groups will assist the regional directors named by Mr. Ickes yesterday in the selection of projects within their respective states.

Mr. Harrier served as mayor of Chicago from 1

BRITISH LEADERS BACK ROOSEVELT CURRENCY STAND

Absolve U.S. of Blame for Failure of Parley.

LONDON, July 26.—(AP)—Approval of President Roosevelt's hold recovery program was voiced in the British house of commons tonight by spokesmen of the three principal political camps.

The debate drew from Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, the declaration that the pound sterling is an independent currency, linked neither to gold nor the dollar.

Independent speakers of the Labor, Liberal, and Conservative groups said the United States was not to blame for lack of accomplishments by the world economic conference, which will adjourn tomorrow.

"There was no basis on which President Roosevelt could stabilize the dollar with reference to the pound," said the veteran Liberal chief, David Lloyd George, making one of his rare appearances in the parliamentary discussions.

Refer to Great Experiment. Cheers greeted the statement from the Conservative member, Wardlaw Milne, that it was impossible for the United States to enter an agreement to stabilize the dollar.

The Labor party's approval of the Roosevelt recovery program was given by Sir Stafford Cripps, who said the President's solution of raising wages would not be permanent, but it would "assist in the inevitable transition which is going on through the world, and anything that can be done to relieve the terrible conditions of the workers of the world is something the Labor party welcomes."

Many speakers referred to "the great experiment" now in progress in the United States. Mr. Lloyd George said: "There are three experiments now proceeding, on the success or failure of which the whole outlook of the world depends—the Russian, the Italian, and the American. The American is the most important."

Chamberlain Bares Policies.

Taking the floor to turn the light of the government's currency policy, Chamberlain asserted and loud cheers that "sterling will not be linked to gold on the one hand or to the dollar on the other."

"It is no part of our policy to link our currency to another currency," Mr. Chamberlain declared. "We must pursue our independent course."

The chancellor regretted the expressions of criticism of the economic conference which had been voiced by Sir Stafford Cripps, labor member, and Sir Herbert Samuel, Liberal. Commenting on the "gigantic" experiment in the United States, the chancellor said that conditions there were more favorable for success than they would be anywhere else. The United States, he said, is far less dependent on export trade than is Great Britain and is able, therefore, to raise costs within the country without its export trade suffering.

HUTTON THROUGH AT HER TEMPLE, AIMEE HINTS

Baltimore, Md., July 26.—(AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton indicated today her husband's connection with the million dollar Angelus temple had been severed forever.

Commenting on the report that David Hutton, her husband and former choir leader in the temple, had opened his recent vaudeville debut with the statement that he had been "acting" since he married her two years ago, the evangelist said:

"If he means that, he can never return to Angelus temple. We have no hypocrites."

Hutton recently started divorce action, charging he had been treated as a "pet poodle" and was tired of being the husband of a famous woman.

Husband and Wife Die in Tragedy

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH SORKIN.

SLAYS WIFE, SELF

Police breaking into a rear flat at 1226 South Sawyer avenue last night found Joseph Sorkin and his wife, Mollie, both 49 years old, lying on the floor, shot to death. Mrs. Sorkin had been shot three times in the back and her husband once in the head. The police concluded that Sorkin had killed his wife and then committed suicide. The couple had quarreled earlier in the day, according to Jack Cornick, who occupies a flat below them.

GOVERNORS ASK FEDERAL WAR ON GANG PERILS

San Francisco, Cal., July 26.—(AP)—Governors attending at the annual conference here asked the federal government today "to pursue to the utmost" its vigorous prosecution of racketeers "to the end that kidnapping and other kindred crimes be suppressed."

The executives acted as individuals at the request of Gov. I. C. Blackwood of South Carolina. He explained that a resolution offered by Gov. Fred Bazar of Nevada, requesting that President Roosevelt speed the organization of a national police force, was opposed to the policy of the conference. The President has asked the governors to confer with him at a date to be set later.

GOV. POLLARD AND SECRETARY TO BE MARRIED

Richmond, Va., July 26.—(AP)—Gov. John Garland Pollard and Miss Violet Elizabeth McDougall, his executive secretary, are to be married.

The announcement of the engagement was made tonight by Mrs. Ellen McDougall, mother of Miss McDougall, and a resident of Winnipeg, Canada. Miss McDougall, a native of Gentry county, Ontario, came to Virginia from Florida in 1918, and since that time has been executive secretary to four governors of Virginia—Govs. Westmoreland Davis, E. Lee Trinkle, Harry Flood Byrd and Pollard.

Miss McDougall is 44 years of age. Gov. Pollard is 61.

Mrs. Pollard died a year ago last spring. The governor has three children.

BIDS ARE OPENED IN CAPITAL FOR 21 NAVAL SHIPS

Additional Funds May Be Allotted for Work.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(Special.)—Bids for the construction of 21 new warships were opened by the navy today as Secretary Claude A. Swanson prepared to ask President Roosevelt for additional public works funds to insure their completion on schedule with a 32 hour work week in force in government and private shipyards.

Although 238 million dollars has been allotted from the public works fund for construction of 37 new vessels, Secretary Swanson said the sum would not be sufficient to complete the ships within the scheduled three years if the prospective 32 hour week is enforced in private shipyards. At the same time, he said, a 32 hour work week may be instituted.

Newport Firm Low Bidder.

The Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company was the low bidder today for the construction of two new 20,000 ton aircraft carriers with an offer of $24,700,000 for one and $23,000,000 apiece for two. Other bids for the aircraft carriers were offers of $25,930,000 for one or $24,265,000 apiece for two by the New York Shipbuilding company of Camden, N. J., and $26,140,000 for one and $24,185,000 apiece for two by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation of Quincy, Mass.

The list of other vessels for which bids were submitted today, together with the low bidder and the amount of the offer, were as follows: One heavy cruiser, Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation, $11,720,000. Two light cruisers, New York Shipbuilding company, $12,251,000 for one; $11,657,000 each for two.

Class 1 submarine, Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company of Chester, Pa., $3,321,000. Class 2 submarine, Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company of Chester, Pa., $2,968,000. Adjustments Included.

Lower than the Sun company's bid for the submarines, however, was a bid by the Electric Boat Company of Groton, Conn., in which adjustments for labor and materials under the industrial recovery program were included. Such adjustments were not made in the Sun company's bids.

Hitler Hops About Germany by Air; Keeps Three Dates

BERLIN, July 26.—(AP)—Chancellor Hitler surpassed his own flying record today when he hopped from Bayreuth to Munich early in the morning to review 450 young fascists, then hopped to Berlin to attend the funeral of the "Lion of Flanders," Admiral von Schroeder, and then flew back to Bayreuth, where he arrived in time to attend the Siegfried festival at 5 p. m.

LEAGUE BODY DEMANDS HITLER FREE KIDNAPED 3

Seized in Saar and
Taken to Germany.

GENEVA, July 26.—The league of nations' commission governing the Saar valley today demanded the immediate liberation of three persons, two of them French citizens, who were seized in the Saar a few days ago and removed to German territory. The commission required that the Hitler government: return the persons to the Saar territory, where they will be under the protection of the league of nations government.

The ultimatum came to light in a telegram sent by the commission to the president of the league of nations council by way of information. The text of the telegram immediately was transmitted to the governments sitting on the council.

The wire is said to be strictly a matter of informing the league of nations and not demanding any action on the latter's part. The Saar commission possesses extensive powers for maintaining order, and only in case it fails flatly to achieve its purpose would it ask for international action.

Britain May Offer Refuge.

LONDON, July 26.—In the presence of the white haired Prof. Albert Einstein, a bill was introduced in the house of commons today by Commander Oliver Locker-Lampson extending the opportunities of British citizenship to Jews who are unable to establish a home elsewhere.

"Englishmen loathe the persecution of a minority," Locker-Lampson declared.

Germany has not driven out her outcasts and blackguards, she has ejected the cream of her culture. She has admitted that Jews stand highest in the realm of art and affairs and for their superiority they have been punished.

Hitler Seeks to Extradite Foe.

PARIS, July 26.—(AP)—Chancellor Hitler's first attempt to extradite an important political refugee in France is being tried, it was learned today, against Dr. Otto Klepper, who was Prussian minister of finance from December, 1931, until the Nazis came to power.

Extradition charges usually entail immediate arrest, but it is said this is unlikely in the Klepper case. Political authorities expressed the opinion that the former Prussian minister will not be returned to Germany on the ground that his case is really a political one.

Lift Ban on Jewish Agency.

BERLIN, July 26.—(AP)—Through negotiations by American Consul Raymond H. Geist the secret police today rescinded the ban on the Berlin bureau of the Jewish Telegraph Agency and will permit it to reopen its office this week-end with a changed staff.

GERMANY OUSTS JEWISH CHIEFS OF STEAMSHIP LINE

BERLIN, July 26.—Max Warburg, Hans Furstenberg, Paul von Schwaibach, Dr. George Solmsen, and Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, all prominent Jewish or part Jewish bankers, and Max von Schinckel, Baron von Schroeder, Philip Heinenken, and several others resigned today from the board of directors of the Hamburg-America line.

The new board of only 13, instead of 27 members, is composed of "men personifying the new evolution in Germany," according to the words of the board's new director, Emil Heilrich, a brother of Germany's late wartime finance minister. The new members were picked by the government.

Only one Jewish sounding name is left on the board—Dr. Fritz Rosenkranz. He says he is not Jewish.

Wellman's Method is the way to make pipe tobacco...White Burley leaf tobacco is the best for pipes

JAMES N. WELLMAN

A LONG time ago, about 1870, a man back in Quincy, Ill., began to make pipe tobacco and sell it to his friends. His name was James N. Wellman.

Mr. Wellman invented a process which made tobacco smoke right in a pipe. So it became very popular in its day.

However, this tobacco was never advertised much and when Mr. Wellman passed away the secret formula and Granger process belonged solely to Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company.

Mr. Wellman certainly knew how to make pipe tobacco, so when we started to make Granger Rough Cut we decided to make it by the Wellman Method. No process has yet been found that seems to be as good.

And there's another important thing to remember—the tobacco has to be the right kind.

White Burley from the Blue Grass region of Kentucky is the best leaf tobacco for pipes and that's what we use in Granger.

And old man Wellman's Method is the best process so far discovered for making pipe tobacco.

KIDNAPING CASE IN KANSAS CITY IN JURY'S HANDS

McGee, on Trial for Life, Fails to Testify.

Kansas City, Mo., July 26.—[Special.]—The jury was locked up at 10:19 tonight and a verdict may be given tomorrow in the trial of Walter H. McGee, charged with kidnaping. No testimony was offered in McGee's defense with his life at stake for the kidnaping of Miss Mary McElroy. When the state rested its case late today Ralph T. Harding, attorney for McGee, said the defense would stand upon a demurrer already filed and already overruled by the court. The case went to the jury this evening.

The demurrer set up that the state had not offered evidence sufficient to justify a charge of kidnaping. Judge Allen C. Southern ruled that an hour for argument for each side would be sufficient. It was agreed that John V. Hill, assistant prosecutor, would make the first argument for the state, that he would be followed by Harding for the defense, and that Michael O'Hern would close for the state.

As the climax of the trial approached, persons interested returned to the courtroom. H. F. McElroy, city manager of Kansas City, who paid $30,000 ransom last May; Miss Mary McElroy, his kidnapped daughter, and Henry F. McElroy Jr. entered the inclosed space behind the counsel table.

McGee's Mother Present.
McGee's mother, who had been sitting in the third seat back watching the progress of the case, moved up into the first row. Miss Heda Christensen, maid in the McElroy home when Miss McElroy was taken away, entered and took a seat with the McElroy family.

Judge Southern read the instructions to the jury, which informed it that it might return a verdict sentencing McGee to anything from two years in the penitentiary to death.

In his argument to the jury Hill emphasized the brutality of the kidnapers in their treatment of Miss Mary McElroy. He pointed out that it was based upon commercialism, the desire for money, and designed and carried out in a cruel manner by avowed criminals who cared nothing for human relations.

"Chained Like an Animal."
"Think of taking this girl from her home to a veritable dungeon," he said, "and holding her thirty hours, chained like an animal to the wall, and in the meantime demanding $30,000 for her release."

He branded McGee as a type of criminal that should be put away from society. He described Miss McElroy's anguish, taken away from her family and held a prisoner while letters were dictated to her for transmission to her father, directing him to pay money for her release.

MYSTERY TRIPS AND CALLS REGARDED AS URSCHEL KIDNAP CLEWS

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 26.—[AP.]—Unexplained motor trips and telephone calls conflicted today with the retractions of family spokesmen that no contact has been made with the men who kidnaped Charles F. Urschel, millionaire oil operator, from his home here Saturday night.

Mrs. Urschel made a personal trip of about 45 minutes' duration after talking over the phone to some one who was reported to have asked that she dress so she would be recognized easily.

Driven by the family chauffeur and accompanied by a man who has not as yet figured in public communications as a possible intermediary, Mrs. Urschel went to an Oklahoma City street mentioned in the telephone conversation.

Upon returning, Arthur Seelgson, who has acted as spokesman the last two days, declared again that "there has been no contact and there is nothing new to report."

Meanwhile a police search was made in Tulsa, Okla., for a large automobile bearing two men with several weapons believed to have been machine guns. The car was held in a traffic jam briefly yesterday.

ANTI-KIDNAPING 'POLICY' OFFERED BOSTON BREWER

Police Bartenders Fail to Nab Suspect.

Boston, Mass., July 26.—[AP.]—Threatened with kidnaping unless he paid $150,000 to the "Beer Baron's Protective association," Theodore C. Haffeneffer, 53, wealthy Boston brewer, today was in seclusion. Law forces of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and the postal inspectors sought the extortionists.

All His Homes Guarded.
Haffeneffer's summer home at North Hampton, N. H., where he was reported to be with Mrs. Haffeneffer and five children, was under guard of state troopers. He also was reported to be in Poland Springs, Me. His brewery in the Jamaica Plain section of Boston and his Brookline home both were under guard.

The brewer got two letters mailed in Boston, one July 13 and the other on July 18, proposing the money be paid in a Nahant hotel last Saturday night.

Police planned and failed to capture the extortionists' representative. Policemen were posing as bartenders in the hotel.

Offered Some Insurance.

The letters informed Haffeneffer that his name was on a list "as requiring protection, which was trust you have sense enough to retain." They told him that because of the publicity "you have been seeking, and the enormous returns you have received by cutting in with your so-called beer, our rate must be one and one-half times normal, or $150,000 for a full life paid up policy." Payments of $10,000 would be permissible, the extortionists said. "Don't be a St. Paul ham," one of the letters advised, saying the police had been able to do little there. Since these letters Roger Touhy and three of his henchmen are held on charges of kidnaping Brewer Hamm of St. Paul. The charge is federal.

More Federal Charges.
St. Louis, Mo., July 26.—[AP.]—Federal warrants against two more alleged members of the gang which kidnaped August Luer, Alton, Ill., banker, in a vain attempt to obtain $100,000, were issued today. They are against Michael Musiala and Miss Norma Vaughn, already held by the state.

MACHADO OPENS JAILS; POLITICAL FOES SET FREE

Civil Rule Is Restored in Havana Province.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
HAVANA, Cuba, July 26.—After signing a decree restoring constitutional guarantees in Havana province and also the political amnesty law which congress passed yesterday, President Machado paid a surprise visit to the senate this afternoon and presided over its regular session. It was his first visit to the senate in more than two years.

Praises United States Envoy.
"Every one is my friend," he said at the beginning of a short address. "The day I leave the presidency, which will be in 1935, I will return to my home, where I will rest highly pleased with my administrative work."

Machado praised United States Ambassador Sumner Welles' mediation between the government and the opposition, which, he said, had been accepted by both and not imposed by the United States.

"Don't fear," he said, "that the mediator is doing this on behalf of his government. He is acting entirely on his own. If it were not thus either he wouldn't be doing it or I wouldn't be president of the republic. Not one single time has Mr. Welles gone over the president's head."

All political prisoners still in jail, numbering 237, will be released tomorrow. Among those released today was Lieut. Emilio Laurent Gibrara, a leader of the August, 1931, revolt. Another was Senator Modesto Maldique, who killed Senator Rogelio Zayas Bazan, former secretary of the interior, in a forbidden duel in June, 1932. A third was Mario Cuellar del Rio, who killed Representative Oscar Montalvo in a political argument in the senate corridor last month.

Clears Officials of Charges.

The amnesty law releases government officials from responsibility for embroilment of public funds and violation of electoral laws since 1927, in addition to effecting the release from prison and annulment of indictments against oppositionists who participated in revolts, conspiracies, terrorist, or other violent acts against the Machado government. Oppositionists favored this, but protested that the law will also release thousands serving sentences for common crimes not included in the definition of political delinquencies.

The decree restoring civil rule in Havana province substitutes regular civilian courts for the military supervisors and officials who have been in control for three years. Havana is the only province which was under military rule without interruption since 1931.

HUNT 5TH MAN IN HAMM CASE; HOME GUARDED

St. Paul, Minn., July 26.—[AP.]—A fifth man was hunted in the William Hamm kidnaping case tonight as police guarded the residence of the millionaire brewer.

Chief Thomas E. Dahill said the man sought was Roy Morschak, known as a lieutenant of Roger Touhy, Chicago gangster held with three other men at Milwaukee on federal kidnaping charges.

Dahill said he understood Morschak fled last week from Elkhorn, Wis., where the four were seized after their automobile struck a pole.

In placing two guards at the Hamm residence, the chief asserted he had pledged police protection to all witnesses. One man has been on duty there since the seizure June 15, and Hamm has had a personal bodyguard. Hamm was kidnaped near the brewery and held near Lake Geneva, Wis., until $100,000 was paid for his release nearly four days later.

MORMON SCHISM IS FORGOTTEN TO HONOR FOUNDER

Nauvoo, Ill., July 26.—[Special.]—Two branches of the Mormon church, which went their separate ways when they were forced out of Illinois in 1846, and have since maintained their distance from each other, came together here today in a joyful yet solemn ceremony honoring the founder of their faith, Joseph Smith.

From Salt Lake City, seat of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Utah, came George A. Smith of the council of the twelve apostles of his branch. From Independence, Mo., came Dr. Frederick M. Smith, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Missouri. With each of these leaders arrived a number of their faithful followers.

Dedicate Monument to Founder.
In a spirit of reunion the two groups together listened to each other's speakers and in concord dedicated a striking monument to Joseph Smith. It was here in Nauvoo that Smith (so he said) had a revelation from God on high expressly approving and encouraging polygamy.

A striking memorial, this huge slab of quartzite which his modern followers have placed upon the hallowed ground where once stood the founder's store. On either side of it are seats and in front a sundial.

It honors Smith, but also it honors the Mormon National Women's Relief society, founded in 1844. Both sects of the church had their part in the preparation of it. The reorganized,

ONCE AGAIN, THE FIENDISH SCHEMES OF 'STOOGIE' VILLER ARE AFOOT!! FORCED BY HER BROTHER TO ASSIST IN HIS LATEST, MAXINE VILLER, APPROACHES JUNIOR, MR. STEELE AND PAT.

WELL THIS REALLY IS MIGHTY NICE OF YOU, MISS JOHNSON, BECAUSE WE ARE PRETTY TIRED AND COLD. OF COURSE WE DON'T WANT TO IMPOSE ON YOU, THOUGH.

THIS WAY, PLEASE.

RAISE 'EM HIGH, EVERYBODY! WHY—SAY—WHAT? IT'S "STOOGIE" VILLER! WE'VE BEEN FOOLED!

or Missouri branch had landscaped the property, which it owns, and the stone was set up by the Utah unit.

Program Precedes Unveiling.

Preceding the unveiling there was a program which began with community singing. Then came the invocation by Elder George S. Romney of Chicago, a welcome by Mayor James L. Ogden of Nauvoo and a note of welcome from Gov. Horner. To the mayor, Elder Samuel O. Bennion of Independence responded.

There were other talks by Mrs. Louise Yates Robinson of Salt Lake, president of the Women's Relief society, by Dr. Frederick M. Smith and by Apostle George A. Smith.

The great days of old, when Nauvoo was the seat of a new and powerful religion, were recalled by the speakers, and residents of the town, now a quiet little place that has suffered by the inroads of the current of the great Mississippi, listened eagerly.

The history was to most of them an old-tale, but one that lost no interest in repetition.

Came in 1840.

Smith arrived on the site of Nauvoo in 1840. Early he displayed the qualities of a great leader. His people worked, and to consolidate his power he obtained from the state legislature a charter that practically made his community independent of state laws.

He organized a military force known as the Nauvoo legion and was commissioned a lieutenant general by the governor in 1841. To care for the spiritual needs of his people the foundation started construction of a temple, 85 by 125 feet, which was dedicated in 1846, after his death and just before the forced hiegra to the west was started.

To care for their education he established a university. Nauvoo under his administration prospered, but his neighbors feared him and the strange religion that approved plural wives. After he had chased two newspaper editors from the town, they found aid in Carthage, Ill., and a military expedition was sent out against the capital of Mormonism.

Brothers Shot to Death.

Before a great show of force the Mormon legion surrendered. Smith, his brother, Hyrum, and several others, charged with treason, were seized and thrust in jail in Carthage. There, on June 27, 1844, a mob broke in and shot both the brothers to death.

The charter of Nauvoo was revoked the next year by the state, and a commission headed by Stephen A.

Douglas arranged with the surviving Mormon leaders, in 1845, that the adherents of the religion would go on west.

The following spring many of the Mormons left. In September those who still remained were bombarded with cannon and the temple was destroyed. The remainder of the inhabitants surrendered.

Young Takes Group to Utah.

Brigham Young, the successor of Smith, carried on the founder's tradition, including polygamy after he led his branch into Utah and made the desert, through irrigation, bloom. The independence branch, which never approved polygamy, went its way under other leaders.

Today, instead of hatred and warfare, the 150 delegates from Salt Lake City and the considerable number from Independence were welcomed gladly. The little group of Mormons who have returned here and are led by Elder James Page were overjoyed, so they reported, at the move that went far to heal the discord of the two branches.

TAKE WOMAN'S PURSE; GET $300.

Three thieves obtained $300 when they matched the purse of Mrs. Jessie Hall, 3015 East 65th street, as she emerged from her house yesterday.

REFUSES TO CUT LIFE TERM FOR SLAYER OF WIFE

Indianapolis, Ind., July 26.—[Special.]—The state clemency commission today refused to reduce the life term imposed on Roman Luckowski, sentenced at South Bend for murder of his wife, who was thirty-one years older than he.

The Rev. William Minniman, who performed the marriage of Luckowski, who was 20, to a woman of 53, told the commission he believed the young man was drugged at the time of the marriage.

The commission tonight denied sixteen petitions, granting seven paroles, one commutation, and delay in three cases. Clemency was denied to James Brezak, sentenced from Lake county May 23, 1929, to serve ten years in connection with a $25,000 holdup at the Maywood Trust and Savings bank in Hammond.

GIRL, 3, DIES OF BURNS.

Theresa Ruba, 3 years old, 2951 South Quinn street, died yesterday at her home of burns she suffered last Monday when she fell into a bucket of boiling water in the kitchen.

Finds Human Bones While Digging on Near North Side

The Chicago avenue police yesterday were examining a human skeleton which was found by Domelco DeFrancisco, an employee of the city water extension department, who was digging to find a pipe in front of 116 East Pearson street. Veteran police men recalled that there had once been a cemetery in the vicinity but did not believe it extended to Pearson street.

DeFrancisco said that he had seen another skeleton buried still deeper. The police estimated that the bones were 100 years old. The pipes were laid 40 years ago.

HIT AND RUN CAR KILLS VISITOR TO WORLD'S FAIR

Vern Windland, 18 years old, of Clatsop, Ill., a World's Fair visitor, was killed last night, and his brother, Clarence, 26, of 4217 Lake Park avenue, was injured when they were struck at 43d street and the outer drive by a car which sped away after the accident. The brothers were taken to the Michael Reese hospital, where it was found that Vern was already dead. Clarence's injuries were minor. Vern had been visiting his brother and the Fair.

Scores of bathers at Oak street beach and boulevard promenaders yesterday saw Benjamin Sheffer, 62 years old, of Darwin, Minn., struck by an automobile in Lake Shore drive, 100 feet north of Bellevue place. He died in Lincoln hospital. The driver was Courtney C. Kempf, 1136 East 81st place, Kankakee.

These deaths and four others increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 563. The victims:

Miss Johanna Ahrens, 31 years old, 3445 North Leavitt street. Died in Martha Washington hospital of injuries she received when she was run down at Western avenue and Irving Park boulevard by an automobile driven by George H. Graesser, 28, of 4335 North Mozart street, as she was crossing the street intersection.

John Kasmarek, 58 years old, 1919 West Division street. Killed last night at Western and Potomac avenues by a car driven by Victor Ahlstrom, 39, of 3258 North Clifton avenue. He was identified by cards in his pockets.

Arthur Cavanagh, 20 years old, 6913 Stewart avenue. Died at the Little Company of Mary hospital of injuries incurred Tuesday night when he was struck by a hit and run driver at 88th street and the Southwest highway. Eugene Wallinger, 9 years old, 5421 South Sawyer avenue. Killed last evening when he was struck by an automobile driven by Dale Bethart, 1004 Greenwood avenue, Maywood, at Garfield boulevard and Turner avenue. The lad had just got off a bus when the accident occurred.

Terry Rae Gibson, 4 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gibson, 307 East Main street, Barrington, died in an Elgin hospital yesterday of injuries sustained Monday when she ran into the side of an ice truck while playing at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Arthur Mitchell of East Dundee, in Kane county.

N. Y. FARM GROUP AT FAIR HEARS NATIONAL CHIEF

Police Executives Will Be Guests Today.

BY EARL MULLIN.

The high light of yesterday at the Fair was the program of two thousand farmers from New York state, to be followed this morning with the visit of delegates to the International Conference of Police Chiefs.

With the farm group presenting the only out of the ordinary ceremony of the day, official attendance fell behind that of Tuesday, when 136,077 persons passed through the turnstiles. At 11:30 p. m. the official reading was 124,461.

The farm program centered at the court of the Hall of States with 2,000 members of the New York Farm Bureau federation in attendance. The delegation was the largest organized farm group yet to attend the Exposition.

National Farm Chief Speaks. The party assembled to the music of the Chenango county 4-H club of Norwich, N. Y. Edward A. O'Neil, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, made the principal address, in which he stressed the part the American farmer has had in the development of the last century, and the aid the farmer has received from science and industry.

The Fair was represented by R. I. Randolph, director of operation and maintenance. A message from Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of the Empire state was read by Charles H. White, president of the New York Farm Bureau federation.

Kelly and Allman to Be Hosts. The delegates to the police conference will be received in the morning by officials, attend a formal reception and lunch, and then be taken on a tour of the grounds. World's Fair police will form an honor guard for the visiting policemen. Mayor Kelly and Police Commissioner Allman will aid the officials of the Fair as hosts.

A championship horse show tournament will be started today on the banks of the north lagoon in connection with the annual meeting of the National Horsemen's association and the meeting of the Horsemen's Manufacturers' association. Four women and 74 men have entered.

Competing in two classes, there are 74 men and 4 women in the tournament. Entries closed last night after a few practice sessions at the peg, and qualifying rounds will open today. Blair Nunamaker of Cleveland, defending champion, is expected to provide the fastest competition of the tournament when he meets Frank Jackson, Kellerton, Ia., former holder of the national and world crowns. Prize money of $1,600—$1,400 to men and $200 to women—will be given during the tourney, which continues until

Ascent Into Stratosphere Awaits 'Suitable Weather'

Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle, who is to pilot the balloon "A Century of Progress" into the stratosphere for an altitude record and scientific observations, announced yesterday that air conditions were not suitable for an ascension at present and that it is quite probable that favorable conditions will not be found for several days. Everything was in readiness for a flight last night, but a sudden shift in high pressure areas made the postponement necessary. A ground crew of 100 men has been mobilized to get the balloon away.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

The Children's day free swimming meet will begin at 12:30 p. m. each Friday, starting tomorrow, to accommodate the large number of entrants. The meet is held in the pool at the World's Fair bathing beach on North-east island. Pool and locker privileges are free to all children between the ages of 8 and 14.

Members of the Adventurers club of Chicago will be guests on the Blue Nose fishing schooner on a cruise across Lake Michigan this week-end. The vessel will leave the 234 street dock at the Fair at 5 o'clock Saturday night and will return about 7 a. m. Sunday.

More than 5,000 persons, members of choral societies in the Chicago area, will be massed into one chorus as part of the Illinois day celebration, Aug. 11. The choral program will be staged in the Court of States at 8 p. m. At the same time another program, that of massed Illinois bands and orchestras, will be given in the court of the Hall of Science. Organizations planning to take part in the program have been requested by Fair officials to notify Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan at the Illinois Host building.

The operetta, "The Inn of the Golden Cheese," will be presented by the children's group of players from the Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art Sunday in the Children's theater on Enchanted island at 6 p. m. and again at 8 p. m. The cast includes Lucille Rothblum, Jack White, Elton Kellner, David Kellner, Florence French, Mary Louise French and Mary Reid Miller.

The southwest wing of the Chinese pavilion will be opened to the public within the next week, officials of the pavilion announced yesterday. The wing contains historical collections of

Fair Unable to Give Free Tickets to Relief Clients

Robert I. Randolph, director of operations at the Fair, announced yesterday that the exposition management could not give free tickets to the 148,000 families on the unemployment relief rolls, as Joseph L. Moss, director of the county bureau of public welfare, had suggested. Mr. Randolph said that the management was under obligation to retire bonds and "could not be generous with other people's money."

ILLINOIS TO SEE ITS 33D DIVISION PARADE AT FAIR

National Guard Gathers at Camp Grant Tomorrow.

Encampment of the Thirty-third division for training this year will be climaxed by the biggest peacetime movement of the Illinois National Guard that the state has ever seen. The state troops, except two artillery units which do their training elsewhere, will begin their concentration at Camp Grant near Rockford tomorrow night. In assembling there they will proceed in small units, but the two weeks of drill will cut short this year and on Friday, Aug. 11, the whole force will move into Chicago and appear at a Century of Progress Governor's Review at Fair.

This will be a big feature of Illinois day at the Fair. The governor's annual review will be held there, the entire division except for the two big gun units will march in column through the Exposition grounds. At night there is to be the governor's dinner at the naval reserve armory, which probably will be attended by all officers above the grade of first lieutenant.

An added feature to the movement into Chicago will be the cross-country ride of the first battalion of the 128d Field Artillery under Maj. Dell B. Hardin. This battalion will not take part in the work at Camp Grant, but special permission has been obtained for it to take part in the World's Fair ceremonies. Trucks will be used for the march.

Separate Artillery Camps.

The 58th Field Artillery brigade under Brig. Gen. Frank R. Schwenkel completed its annual training at Camp McCoy near Sparta, Wis., on July 15, and the 202d Field Artillery —anti-aircraft—under Col. Charles C. Dawes will fire their new guns—the latest of their kind—at Fort Sheridan between Aug. 26 and Sept. 9; but all the rest of the division is expected to take part in the "invasion of Chicago."

Because of the retirement of its former commander, John J. Garrity, the 66th Infantry brigade will be under command of Col. Francis M. Allon of the 131st Infantry. And since Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond has been excused from camp because of the duties he recently has taken up in Washington, the downstate brigade, the 65th, will be in command of Col. William F. Hemenway of the 129th.

Expects Larger Attendance.

Despite the economy cut of 15 per cent in the compensation of both officers and men, Maj. Gen. of Militia Roy D. Keelin, commander of the division, expects a larger attendance than usual at this year's encampment. Among other things, he said, the novelty of turning out for a Century of Progress and the opportunity to display the division in its entirety, have aroused enthusiasm throughout the state. He said that more than 9,000 men would take part.

The advance contingents that will prepare Camp Grant for those thousands, completing their work before the last outfit, the 108th Engineers under Col. Karl R. Hobart, arrives Saturday morning, got on the job yesterday.

'STOP LIGHT' BANDIT SLAIN BY POLICEMAN IN NEW YORK BATTLE

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—An armed holdup man climbed into Maurice Carriot's roadster late today while Carriot, a salesman, was waiting at the approach to a bridge for the traffic lights to change. Carriot felt the muzzle of a pistol pressed against his ribs. The lights flashed green. "Drive on," a voice commanded, "and like hell, or I'll give you three bullets."

As Carriot sped across the bridge, the thug took $290. Across the bridge patrolman, Hugh Dolan was on duty. Carriot sprang out and shouted, "get him, he's armed." Dolan opened fire on the gunman. The robber fired one shot in return. Then Dolan emptied six bullets into the car and his quarry slumped forward, dead.

Small detachments from a score of points were at work with repairing and cleaning outfits, were pitching big tents, storing supplies and making ready everything from mess halls and hospital quarters.

Schlitz BREWED to a SPLIT SECOND

WHY? Because SCHLITZ will not permit its beer to ferment in your stomach for even a fraction of a second.

It is incomplete fermentation of beer at the brewery that causes indigestion, flatulency and discomfort otherwise.

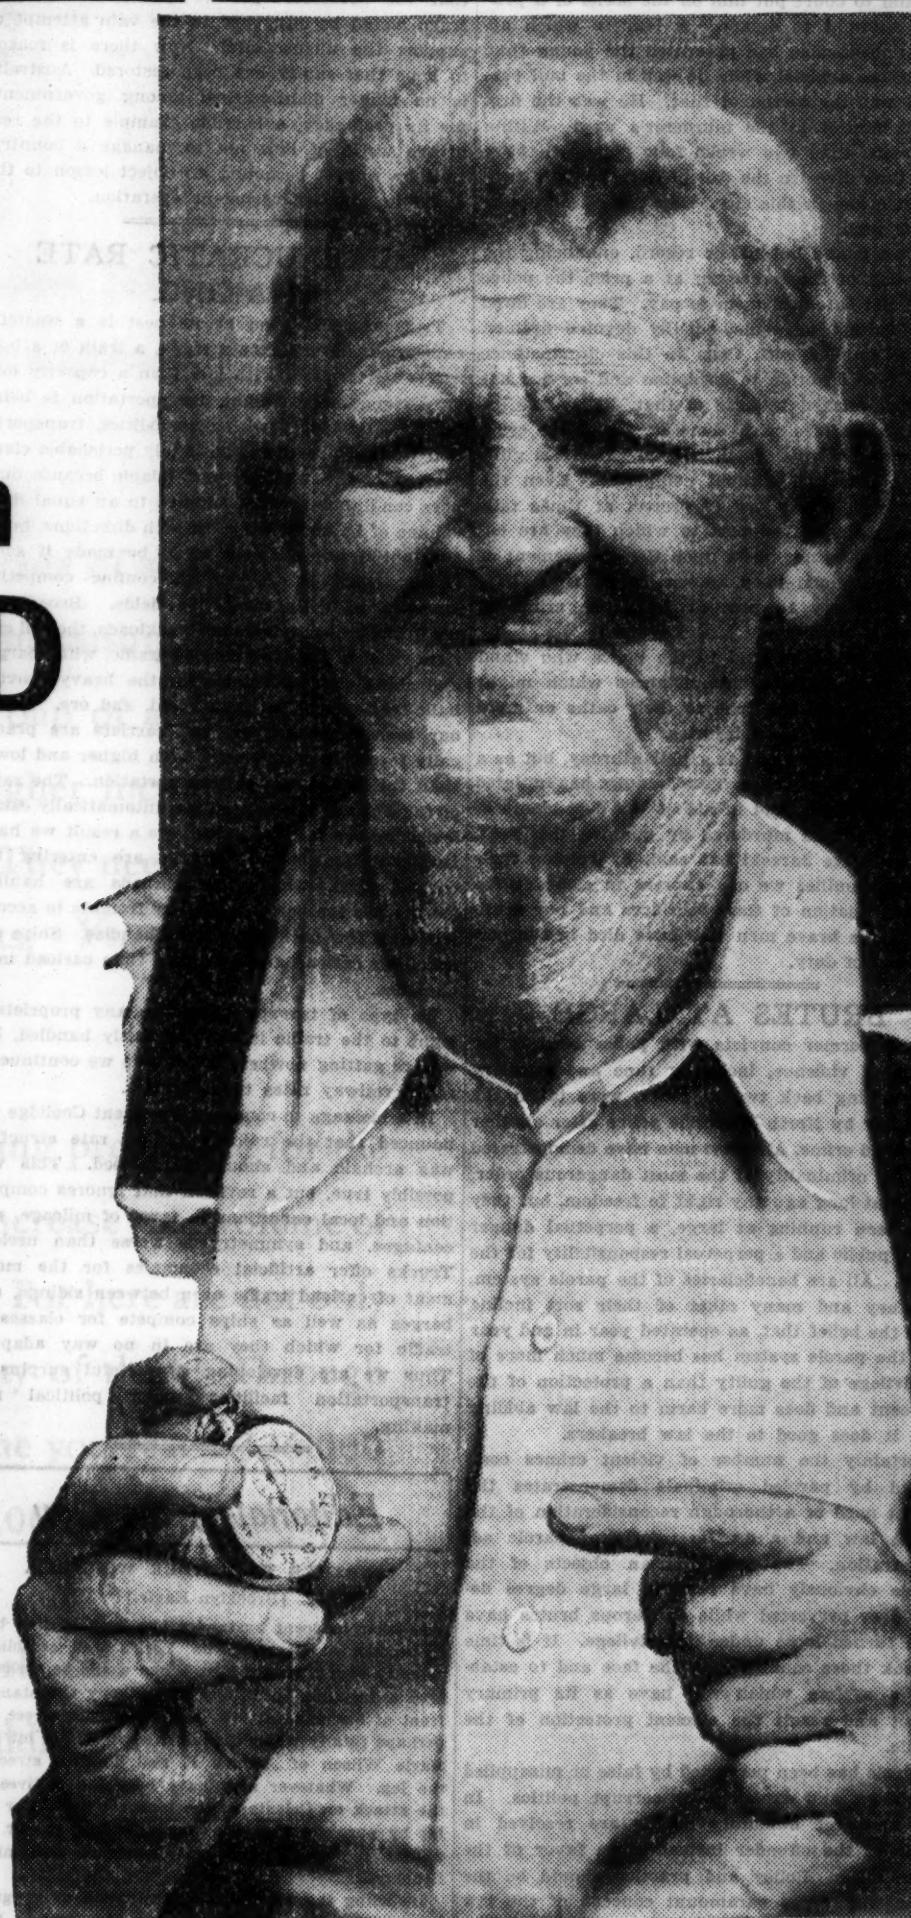

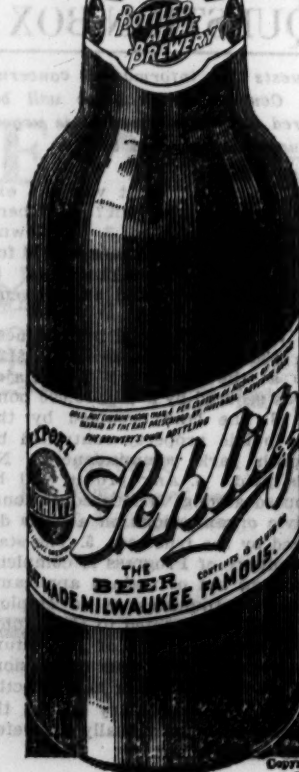

How do we accomplish complete fermentation at the brewery? By a secret control of the enzymatic action in the brewing processes. Enzymatic action in brewing is very similar to the digestive processes in the human stomach.

As a matter of fact, there can be no digestion in the stomach without the aid of enzymes. Without skillfully controlled enzymatic action there can be no good beer.

SCHLITZ has a tradition of 84 years to uphold. It has enjoyed the plaudits of a nation for purity, for quality, for flavor, for wholesomeness, for healthfulness.

But the brewers of SCHLITZ (the direct descendants of the founder) consider the secret control of the enzymes to be the most sensational development in the history of the industry—second only in importance to their introduction and use of SCHLITZ Brown Bottle 22 years ago.

SCHLITZ Beer by reason of perfect enzymatic control comes to you in Brown Bottles as a health giving, predigested food. Drink it freely. It flushes and tones the system. It is exhilarating by day and induces sound, restful sleep at bedtime. It is good and good for you.

By the case or in the attractive SCHLITZ Handy Six.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR CHICAGO

1. Cut taxes in half.
2. Pay the defaulted bonds.
3. Overcome crime.
4. Speed up railroad passenger service.
5. Make Chicago the first city in the world.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

TO THE CHICAGO POLICE.

Another brave Chicago policeman, John Sevik of the Rogers Park station, has been killed in the performance of his duty. An incident which took him to court put him on the scene of a prisoner's attempt to escape. A laxness which appears unbelievable had permitted the young tough to be given a pistol while he was in the bull pen. Sevik was the victim of that. He was the first to put himself in the murderer's way. Within little more than two weeks four policemen have given their lives to the call of duty in their fight against crime in this city. The record since January is nine.

It is a tragic but heroic record, enhancing the reputation of the force, but at a price the police should not be called upon to pay. They are owed four months' pay—the equally devoted firemen could be coupled with them in this circumstance—but their devotion to discipline and service has not been relaxed because of that. They are exposed to warfare with some of the worst criminals now known to men, and they face the guns without fear and without complaint. Even the society which they try to protect at times fails to give them the support to which they are entitled. It does not insist upon the enforcement of law which would keep known thugs from having the liberty to proceed from one crime to another.

Tribute must be paid to the police who stand up to their duty in circumstances which might discourage men less true to their oaths or more concerned with their injuries.

Not as a tribute nor as a philanthropy, but as a measure of bare justice, THE TRIBUNE has initiated the Police Hero Fund in aid of the dependents of the nine officers murdered by gunmen this year. Yet, as Judge Jarecki has said, by helping their stricken families we can express in some degree our appreciation of their sacrifices and our gratitude to the brave men who have died in the performance of duty.

BRUTES AT LARGE.

Three former convicts with police records for crimes of violence, including rape and burglary and running back twenty years, were taken the other day by North Riverside police after another attempted crime. All these men have demonstrated habitual criminality of the most dangerous order. They lost long ago any right to freedom, but they have been running at large, a perpetual danger to the public and a perpetual responsibility for the police. All are beneficiaries of the parole system, and they and many other of their sort incline us to the belief that, as operated year in and year out, the parole system has become much more of a privilege of the guilty than a protection of the innocent and does more harm to the law abiding than it does good to the law breakers.

Certainly the number of violent crimes committed by paroled criminals demonstrates the urgent need of a thorough reconsideration of the parole law and a drastic reform of parole administration. The humanitarian objects of the parole obviously have been in large degree defeated or perverted while dangerous brutes have been turned loose under its privilege. It is time to look these conditions in the face and to establish a system which will have as its primary object and result the efficient protection of the public.

Parole has been perverted by false or misapprehended sentiment and exploited by corrupt politics. In the name of humanity doubts are resolved in favor of the offender instead of in favor of the community. Policy and practice should be the other way. The paramount concern of the law is the protection of the community, and experiments in what theorists call salvage should not be carried on at the expense of probable if not certain victims of crime. Moreover, the law should be strengthened to deal with the habitual dangerous criminal. There are thousands at large and they should be locked up and kept locked up. They commit most of our worst crimes. We do not permit mad dogs to run at large or any brute known to be dangerous except the human brute. We have paltered with this evil too long. In Illinois the next legislature should deal with it effectually.

BLACK BREAD.

A recent review of movements in the grain markets included the following sentences: "Not in years has there been so much excitement and general buying of rye by the public as during the last week. . . . There is said to be 1,500,000 bushels bought to come to Chicago from Canada that paid 15 cents a bushel duty and made a profit for the cash handler. There are estimates of close to 1,000,000 bushels of Argentine rye being bought at a low price as compared with the Chicago market, to go to eastern ports."

This importation of foreign grain is one of the curious but not one of the unpredicted results of the new economics. The government, not content with the immense rise in the price of wheat brought about by the drought, has imposed a wheat tax of 50 cents a bushel. The price of wheat flour is arbitrarily high. Thus far the government has imposed no tax on rye, though under the law it may do so. As long as wheat is taxed and rye is untaxed there will be a forced demand for the untaxed cereal. If a tax is placed on rye corresponding to that on wheat, the demand for some other substitute, corn, potatoes, or something else, will increase. As taxes are placed on one article after another the standard of living of the American people must be expected to fall. If they continue to buy wheat bread despite the high tax they will have just so much less income left with which to buy vacuum cleaners and suits of clothes. If they maintain their accustomed standards in other respects their diet will be poorer.

The importation of rye can only mean that some people who otherwise would have eaten white bread are going to eat the black bread of the European peasantry. Not the least curious aspect of the matter is that the beneficiaries of this degradation of the American standard of living will be Canadian and Argentinian farmers.

AUSTRALIA'S RECOVERY.

Australia seems to be started on the road to recovery. There is some comfort in that fact for other nations which have also been the victims of governmental extravagance. Australia was among the worst offenders and was among the first to feel the full impact of the depression. As long as the dominion and its component states could borrow in London and New York to meet accumulating deficits the imminence of bankruptcy could be concealed. The moment Australia's bankers cut off credit the true situation was revealed.

Economies have now been instituted. The governments are still obliged to borrow, but the loans appear to be diminishing in amounts, if only because the governments are obliged now to sell their bonds in the domestic rather than the foreign market. The extravagances associated with the relief of the idle appear to have been curbed and in consequence a substantial increase has been noted in the number of those who are determined to work their way out of their difficulties rather than depend upon state charity. A few months ago there was reason to fear that the successful private enterprises in Australia would be destroyed in the vain attempt to support the unsuccessful. Now there is reason to hope that sanity has been restored. Australia is no longer distinguished among governments for its profligacy, a horrible example to the rest of the world of how not to manage a country. It is by way of becoming an object lesson to the world in sound government operation.

BUREAUCRATIC RATE MAKING.

Transportation even at its best is a wasteful enterprise. Every time a truck, a train or a boat leaves its terminal with less than a capacity load of passengers or freight, transportation is being wasted. Compared with commodities, transportation would be rated in the highly perishable class. Much of this waste is unavoidable because business conditions are not adapted to an equal daily volume of balanced traffic in both directions, but a substantial improvement could be made if some means could be devised to confine competing agencies to their respective fields. Broadly, a truck is a proper vehicle for truckloads, the rail carriers excel in handling carload traffic, while barges and ships offer economies for the heavy moving bulk traffic, such as grain, coal, and ore. Under our present system the rail carriers are practically forced to accept rates both higher and lower than the actual cost of transportation. The rates of the Federal Barge Line are automatically established by the railroad rates. As a result we have transportation chaos. Trucks are entering the carload field, while the railroads are hauling twenty-two ton box cars on way freights to accommodate a few packages of merchandise. Ships are soliciting carload and even less than carload merchandise.

No type of transportation has any proprietary right to the traffic it has previously handled, but we are getting nowhere so long as we continue to relate railway rates to a formula.

In a message to congress, President Coolidge announced that the railway freight rate structure was archaic and should be revised. This was possibly true, but a revision that ignores competition and local conditions in favor of mileage, percentages, and symmetry is worse than useless. Trucks offer artificial economies for the movement of carload traffic even between sidings, and barges as well as ships compete for classes of traffic for which they are in no way adapted. Thus we are developing a wasteful surplus of transportation facilities under political rate making.

Editorial of the Day

ANOTHER BYSTANDER WOUNDED.

[Brooklyn Eagle.]

Another innocent bystander has been injured by a by-product of Greater New York's well established industry of murder for hire. When would-be assassins fired a fusillade on Friday at Anthony Celenano in front of his home at 975 East Nineteenth street, and perhaps fatally wounded him, a stray bullet hit Miss Marie Wilson of Avenue K and Twelfth hit the leg. Whatever may have been the motives for the attack on Celenano, the innocent bystander was hit by pure chance. She was attending to her own affairs in one of the best residential sections of Brooklyn.

Including the attempted assassination of gangsters by gangsters at Broadway and 41st street, Manhattan, in May, in which three innocent bystanders were hit, and also including the accidental burning of a truck driver by acid thrown at a fur dealer in Manhattan on July 11, wounding of innocent bystanders have averaged about one every ten days or two weeks for the last twelve weeks in Greater New York.

A police report to the New York county grand jury showed that in the nineteen months from Jan. 4, 1930, to July 31, 1931, a total of forty-three people were hit by stray bullets from criminals on the streets of Greater New York, an average of about one every two weeks. Those forty-three included four killed and three of the four were children. The figures have often been cited in the Eagle, and they will be cited from time to time in an effort to impress upon the public, the police and the officials that viewing with complacency the killing of gangsters by gangsters is a crime against innocence.

When an innocent man or woman or child is hit by a stray bullet, stray piece of a bomb or stray splash of acid on the streets of Greater New York on an average of every two weeks, or less, it was not as far fetched as it might have seemed at first when it was suggested in the Eagle of July 2 that the time had come for modified martial law for certain crimes in Greater New York and, above all, for the speedy, severe and certain punishment that is the invariable aftermath of conviction by court martial.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

PENDING THE ULTIMATE SUCCESS of our campaign for Bigger and Brighter Balliffs perhaps it would not be a bad idea for the judges to sit in military armored tanks while trying criminals. At first blush it might seem difficult to drive the tanks into a Chicago courtroom, but some of the prisoners might be persuaded to do it. They have lugged everything from a three-inch field piece to a disappearing coast defense gun into courtrooms, and an armored tank should be easy.

THE LONDON ECONOMIC conference reports it will name "a small body to keep negotiations alive through summer." The smaller the better.

AND IF we get likker back by Christmas—and Franklin Delano says we will, and Franklin Delano has a wonderful way of getting what he wants—I do trust that the drys will stop talking about the utter impossibility of getting thirty-six states to vote for repeal. Still, a man proved a month after cable messages were flashed across the Atlantic that it couldn't be done, and Mr. Voliva up in Zion still insists the earth is flat.

SECOND HAND LOVES.

Looking for bargains?

Eyes, brown or blue,

Lips that stand kissing,

Dreams almost new?

Feet swift for dancing,

Lips that can smile,

Something to jest with

Once in a while?

The price to pay

Is very small

If you are handsome,

If you are tall.

A ride, a dinner,

A smooth dance floor,

A gown, a bangle,

An open door.

Nothing to wonder,

Nothing to plan;

Second hand loves

Fit any man!

And they are cheap!

But when you're through

You have become

Second hand, too.

WHEN MAYOR KELLY gets through being mayor he ought to be appointed to the highest diplomatic post these more or less United States have got. In his cablegram yesterday to Gen. Balbo the mayor said, "Kindly convey our profound gratitude and official greetings to your chief." Now, if he said Mussolini, then King Emmanuel would have been as sore as a Democrat who can't get a job, while if he had said King Emmanuel, then Mussolini would have kicked Balbo's pants off when he got home. But that happy phrase, "to your chief," is something that both the Duce and the king can get a thrill out of.

THE BURLINGTON railroad's two-mile-a-minute train will soon be scooting across the country. The "I'll Beat That Train to the Crossing or Bust" club is making an angry protest. The train may whisk in front of them and be gone so quick they won't have time to race it.

"SPAIN DISCOVERS Plot for Reign of Terror."—Headline. But the American tourists have been fooled so often they probably won't hustle down there in such great numbers as usual. After a while Spain's going to drop the reign of terror thing and go back to the good old fashioned bullfight as the best boob bait.

"JOHNSON PROMISES Five Million New Jobs Before Labor Day."—Headline. Which will be fine! One does enjoy getting a day off when he isn't off every day.

STRATOSPHERE.

My dear Picard, what's this I hear
About your strange new stratosphere?
It seems—or so the story goes,
Though with what truth nobody knows—
That simply by going up a way
Above earth's whirling air one may,
If one scans maps and times his fall,
Come down 'most anywhere at all;
That he can choose 'most any nation
And quickly reach his destination
By waiting for the earth to spin,
And then just sort of dropping in.
For, whirling at so fast a rate,
One hasn't very long to wait
Ere China thunders 'cross the bay—
It would be scarcely half a day!
The idea has me all excited;
Still, if it's wrong, it should be righted:
Before I go on my vacation,
Please . . . won't you rise to the occasion?

PASTEURIZED MILK.

A old charge that wakes up and looks around from time to time is that heating milk causes that food to lose some of its nutritive qualities. The charge was rampant twenty-five years ago, but it is heard only occasionally today.

The milk industry in England is about a quarter of a century behind the times, and in consequence the old arguments against heating milk have been taken off the shelf, dusted, and put to work in that country. In case of being shopworn, creaky, and generally rundown at the heels, they are doing good service with the unsophisticated people of that country.

The Manchester electorate recently defeated a compulsory pasteurization ordinance. Chicago has operated under such an ordinance for twenty-five years to its very great profit, but Manchester has just heard about it and, being conservative, is afraid of the new ways.

Dr. Savage, the leading food authority in Great Britain, has recently written on the subject in an illuminating and authoritative fashion, but what he wrote was without effect in Manchester. Lord Moynehan advocated a parliamentary law along the same lines, but our cousins across the sea want more time to think it over.

W. E. Kraus of the Ohio Experimental station has been investigating the effects of heating on the nutritive qualities of milk. His conclusions are as follows:

Pasteurization somewhat decreases the content of vitamin C. This is a matter of rather general information and confirmation was not wholly necessary.

It also causes a slight decrease in the content of milk in vitamin B compound. This is somewhat newer.

The effect on the curd of heating to pasteurization temperatures was not finally determined. In most cases it was softer, in some cases it was tougher, in some there was no effect. The point is regarded as of some importance in baby feeding. When milk reaches the human stomach it is at once converted into a meekle solid called curd. In this form it contains so much lime that considerable stomach acid is used up in neutralization before the stomach pepsin can begin tearing the curd to pieces. If the mass is pretty solid the difficulties are increased.

Bottling milk has several disadvantages, but it offsets most of them by producing a milk which forms a soft curd in the stomach. It appears that pasteurized milk is variable in this particular. Sometimes it forms a curd as soft as that of milk, and sometimes one as hard as that of raw milk, and at other times one that lies in between.

Summing it all up, the harm done milk by pasteurization is trivial. It can be remedied by feeding a little fruit juice in the milk or giving separately. On the other hand the advantages are great enough to offset the disadvantages a hundred or a thousand times.

REPLY.

Acute laryngitis is not a cause of halitosis.

THAT WOULD NOT HELP.

WORLD'S FAIR QUESTION BOX

Requests for information concerning A Century of Progress will be answered in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly.

QUESTION—1.

"What was the expense of building the Fair?" 2. Where was the money obtained? 3. Who owns the land and how much rent is paid for it? 4. To whom will the profits go? 5. Who does one see about seeking employment at the Fair?

ANSWER—1. The total indebtedness of the Fair was approximately $12,500,000 at the opening. 2. The major part was secured by a $10,000,000 bond issue. 3. The land occupied by the Fair is public property controlled by the south park commissioners. No rent is paid. 4. Any profits will be distributed among various educational and civic organizations on a basis determined by the trustees. 5. The staff of A Century of Progress is complete, with a long list of trained applicants in reserve. Inquiries as to employment should be directed to H. I. Johnson, personnel director of A Century of Progress. The various concessions on the grounds hire their help directly, so it would be necessary to see the concessionaires individually in reference to employment.

WE NEED SPEED, BUT ABOVE ALL, CAREFUL AIM

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 27, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—While the administration continued to deny that there is ground for pessimism in the situation of the allies, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo submitted to congress Secretary of War Baker's estimate of $5,250,000,000 for emergency appropriations. These estimates were eloquent of the grave dangers faced by the United States. Nearly $2,500,000,000 of this huge amount is asked for "armament fortifications."

The coast defenses of the country are to be strengthened and provided with the largest guns in the world in order to protect the country from any possible attack by Germany.

GENEV.—The correspondent of the Budapest Az Est on the Galician front telegraphs under the date of July 23: "On the Brzezany front for the first time we came in contact with 'death' regiments, composed entirely of Russian women, flying the Red flag. They fought with extraordinary bravery, frequently counter attacking fiercely, led by women officers. It was near Brzezany, on Hill Lysonie, according to prisoners, that Kerensky was severely wounded in the arm. A Russian infantry division refused to fight and began retreating. The Russian artillery, furious at the deserting, turned their guns on the infantry. Thereupon Kerensky, in his automobile, drove between the crossfire and succeeded in stopping the fratricidal slaughter, though wounded himself."

PARIS.—The allied powers concluded their conference after announcing a decision to continue the war against Germany. Obviously the fighting is not over.

WAR SUMMARY.—Germans sweep on in Galicia, capturing four towns. Paris reports failure of furious German attack in Champagne, but admits trenches penetrated on Alsace front.

CHESTER, PA.—Two white men and a Negro were killed in a renewal last night of the race rioting which the day before caused the wounding of four persons. The white victims were Policemen James B. Jarrett and Joseph McCann, both shot to death by Negroes.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

FROM A POLICEMAN'S WIDOW.

Chicago, July 25.—Three cheers for McCutcheon's cartoon in this morning's Tribune. How true! Yesterday, in Judge Mohr's courtroom, the bandits who killed my policeman husband last January gained their fourth continuance just a few minutes before Officer Sevik was shot. What a deplorable condition. How long will the public stand for this sort of thing before drastic action is taken?

For instance, in my husband's case, with no question of the bandits' guilt, what will be the outcome? Will they "beat the rap" by a long drawn out affair, or by an insanity plea? There should be no continuances, no delays whatever. My husband and other policemen killed on duty cannot be brought back to life, but with these murderers sentenced to die and the sentence carried out with no appeals or retrials allowed, merciless shootings of policemen will be halted, and other policemen's wives saved from so great a sorrow. Let's have some action!

MRS. WILMA MARCUSON.

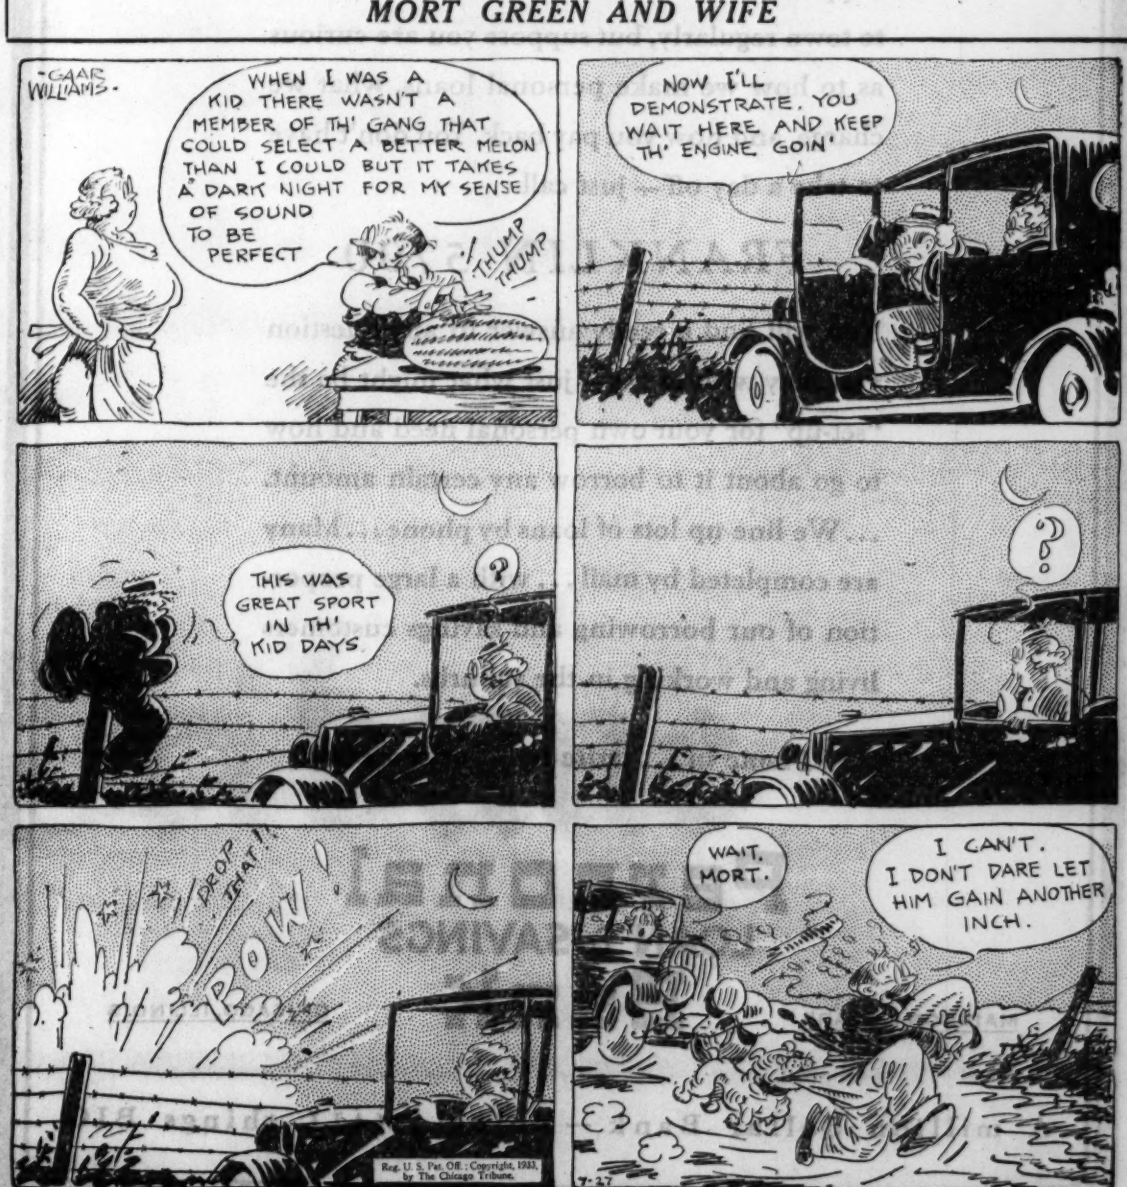

IN WHICH WE GO FISHING.

Chicago, July 18.—The Tribune points out that the letting out of one-half of the school principals and the doubling up of the remainder will give the teachers greater freedom to teach. Now, I am not a successful, or even unsuccessful, fish dealer and consequently not an expert on all matters, yet I venture to suggest that what is wise policy in education might also be a wise policy in journalism.

In brief, why doesn't THE TRIBUNE cut half of its editors, double up the remainder, and give its reporters greater freedom to report? Obviously THE TRIBUNE would be a freer and a finer paper if Westbrook Pegler, for example, doubled as cooking editor; if Eleanor Jewett wrote sports as entertainingly as she now writes art; if French Lane covered the human, as well as the horse, aristocracy; if Dr. W. A. Evans and Doris Blake were combined in the highest spiritual plane, of course; if John Steele doubled in Paris fashions; if Edward Burns covered the Sox and Cubs; and, last but not least, if the photographers wrote the editorials in their odd moments.

MORT GREEN AND WIFE

TODAY More Women

depend on the New York Herald Tribune than ever before

Faster and faster they pour in... inquiries asking "What kind of shortening should I use for salt rising bread?"... "Where can I buy reproductions of those old Rogers groups that used to be so fashionable?"... "What is the name of that new skin cream you use when you go without stockings?"... "What's the best girls' camp in New Hampshire?"

Every 11 minutes during 1931 a woman asked for advice or help.

During 1932 inquiries came faster—one every 2³/₄ minutes.

And thus far in 1933 these inquiries have been coming in at the rate of one every 2¹/₃ minutes! A reliable barometer of the ever-increasing preference being shown by women for the Herald Tribune.

Every one of these thousands of inquiries is a potential sale for some advertiser. Every one represents an interested, able-to-buy housewife or mother.

Not only are there more of these prospective customers but women who have written in before are writing in more often.

If you could see the good grade of stationery, the neat typing, the excellent penmanship, you would see at once that here is a group of above-average women. They live in the higher income areas of New York and its suburbs. They need and want a surprising variety of products. You can sell them what you make.

Take advantage of this growing preference for the Herald Tribune. It can help increase your volume of profitable sales in New York. For here are not only the right prospects but plenty of them! Through the New York Herald Tribune you reach 336,000 families on weekdays, 440,000 on Sundays.

Visitors Attending World's Fair.

BY JUDITH CASS.

EVERY ONE seems to be thinking of something different to do in the way of entertaining these days, and the results are many good parties. During the early summer everything centered around the Fair, but now that it isn't so much of a novelty, society is settling down to its usual summer routine and there are all sorts of informal, gay parties. Out of town guests always are a good excuse for entertaining, and certainly there never were so many visitors in Chicago as there are now, unless it was in those days of '93 which we hear so much about this summer from those who like to "reminisce."

One of the most original parties we've heard about is a Mexican fiesta the Cushman Brewer Bissells and the J. Donald Scotts are giving Saturday night in the Scotts' residence in Lake Forest for "Don Juan Ryan and Señora Juanita Ryan." "Don Juan and Señora Juanita" are Mr. and Mrs. John R. Ryan of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Bissell and Mrs. Scott are all sisters.

A highlight is to be the main event of the entertainment, with several of the hosts' friends playing the part of the bull and the horse as well as the matador and picadors. The arena is being set up outdoors and all the guests have been asked to wear Mexican or Spanish costumes.

The Florida beach party that the Sydney H. Heaps and the Jacob H. Bissells are giving tonight for Miss Betty Dixon and her fiancé, A. Parker Bryant, isn't going to be aboard the yacht Circe, as originally planned, but it is going to be around the pool and on the beach of the World's Fair beach.

About one hundred of their friends will start gathering about 6 o'clock, and from then until—well, it would be hard to say beforehand how late the party will last—there will be swimming, fancy diving exhibitions, Hawaiian music, dancing, and, of course, cocktails and a buffet supper.

Party Tonight for Pierpont Hamiltons.

The guests that the junior Edward A. Fargo has invited to a party tonight for the Pierpont Morgan Hamiltons will meet at the Fargo residence in Winnetka for cocktails and hors d'oeuvres and then drive north to the Onwentsia club for supper and dancing. The Hamiltons and his two young sons, David and Ian, are leaving this morning the George Hallack Taylor house on Division street, where they have been since they arrived Monday to visit the Fargos for a few days.

Mrs. Fargo is trying to persuade the Hamiltons not to leave on Saturday but according to present plans they will be returning to New York that day. Tonight's hostess probably will not accompany her husband and their guests to the Onwentsia for young Master Edward A. Fargo III, born on the 2d of this month, demands his mother's presence most of the time just now.

Friends of the William D. McKunkins received in the mail yesterday large cards with a picture of a grinning moon in one corner and a sketch of a couple sitting on a bench looking out over the water. In between are the words "Bill and Nell McKunkin and the Man in the Moon bid—come to a moonlight party in their garden by the lake Thursday evening, Aug. 2. Leave formality at home and drop in about 8:30 at 151 Sheridan road, Winnetka. Let us know in time to put a bottle on ice for you."

Three of the McKunkins' seven grandchildren, of whom they are so proud, will be at the party, Wilma, Geraldine, and Kathleen, for they are the only ones of the Frank Harveys' large family old enough to be at evening parties.

Potter Palmers Wed 25 Years.

If the Potter Palmers were here today there undoubtedly would be a great to-do among their many friends over celebrating their silver wedding anniversary, but since they are in Bar Harbor at their lovely summer place, Hare Forest, their friends here will have to be content with sending them telegrams of congratulations and best wishes instead of extending them in person.

Some of their Chicago friends summer at Bar Harbor, of course, and they will felicitate the Palmers in person on reaching the quarter century mark in matrimony and so will all their immediate family, for each and every one is there. Mrs. Herman H. Kohlman, who now lives in Rome, is visiting them and also with them are their married daughter and son, Mrs. Oakleigh Lewis Thorne and Potter Palmer III, and their respective husband and wife, the two younger Palmer children, Miss Pauline Palmer and Gordon Palmer, and Mrs. Palmer's sister, Mrs. Roger Shepard of St. Paul, Mr. Shepard, and the four young Shepards, Roger Jr., Blake, Constance, and Stanley. The Shepard family is at the Malvern hotel in Bar Harbor for the summer, but all the others are guests at Hare Forest.

A house with an unusually large welcome mat is that of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Linn in Lake Bluff, for it is constantly full of most interesting guests, some who stay for two or three days, and some who stay longer. The Vicomte de Lantshere has just left the Linn's and two are coming to take his place, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Ordway, Lucius Ordway's brother and sister-in-law, from St. Paul, Minn. They are going to be in Lake Bluff over the week-end, and Mrs. Linn has planned a dinner for them Saturday night at her home. Some Russian and Spanish singers that she had at another party are going to entertain her guests again.

The John Sloans and the H. Livingston Pynes of New York are with the Linn's now, but they are leaving Saturday for Jasper Park, Canada.

U. S. Health Service Physician Lauds Algonquin and Ice Funds

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Dr. John W. Trask, head of the United States Marine hospital, 4141 Clarendon avenue, a medical doctor of the United States public health service, yesterday urged that more impoverished mothers and their children who live in crowded tenement districts be sent to Camp Algonquin for summer vacations.

He praised also the efforts of the Tribune Free Ice fund to keep babies healthy through the regular delivery of ice to needy homes.

"Both funds are wonderful movements," Dr. Trask declared. "Hot weather is hardest on the young. Anything that can be done now to get them out into the country where there are trees and grass will show up later in better health and mental outlook. It is a humanitarian thing to get as many of these children as possible into the country away from the blistering pavements."

More important almost than the physical result is the change of environment, which brings peace of mind, a divorce from worry, and a relaxation that is mentally helpful.

For those needy families who must stay in the city Dr. Trask said the distribution of ice is particularly important.

Contributions totaling $29.50 were sent to the ice fund yesterday, while the Camp Algonquin fund received not a penny. The ice fund gifts are acknowledged as follows:

$10—In memory of Isaac Guhlman; Norma Morris.

$5—Mrs. Julia Ward Clinen.

$2—In memory of B. B.; Miss E. Collins.

$6 cents—C. W.

Total $ 29.50

Previously acknowledged 1,128.35

Grand total $1,157.85

Gifts should be directed to either fund in care of the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

French Movie Theaters
Protest New Quota Decree

PARIS, July 26.—(AP)—A delegation representing 4,000 movie theaters in France saw Minister of Commerce Louis Serre today and protested against the recent decree applying a quota system on foreign talking pictures. The decree limited to 140 the number of foreign films with French dialogue "dubbed in" which may be imported next year. The delegation declared this total was too low and expressed fear that some theaters would be forced to close because of a shortage of films. Mr. Serre said he was willing to increase the number if the other ministers agreed.

Choirs Please Big Crowds at World's Fair

Negroes Have Large Part in Programs.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

It was necessary to make round trips from the Floating Theater to the court of the Hall of Science and back again in order to catch the musical proceedings at A Century of Progress last night. At that one was in constant danger of missing an important item. From early in the evening to comparatively late at night both platforms were occupied by singing groups appearing before unfatigued large audiences.

The greater part, though not all, of the music was made by Negroes. The Floating Theater housed the last part of the De Sable day celebration. In the court of the Hall of Science there was a formal reception to the Chicago Defender's popularity queen, Lillian Johnson of Tulsa, Okla., and her attendant court.

The reception was an elaborate affair. It involved not only the previously announced Mundy chorists but the Quian chapel choir, the Metropolitan church choir, the Chicago Ladies' band, a drum and bugle corps, James A. Mundy and Wesley Jones, conductors, and President Dawes. Preceded by an armed guard and the drum and bugle corps, the queen and her court proceeded up the middle aisle to the stage, where they were received by President Dawes, who made a speech of welcome. Thereafter the two conductors directed the musical program, consisting mostly of spirituals and plantation songs. It was exceptional choral singing, accurate, well trained, of fine tone, and entirely responsive to the beat of the baton.

The De Sable day celebration on the Floating Theater was featured by both dancers and singers. Several groups of newly trained young dancers appeared, displaying a degree of agility and sense of rhythm that would have made them a distinct asset to any "Aida" performance ever staged. They were followed by the De Sable singers, a group of about 250, who sang spirituals under several directors with enormous spirit and gusto.

In between these events there was time to hear part of a concert by the Chicago Association of Commerce-Glee club in the court of the Hall of Science. It was conducted by Arthur Dunham, who has been its director since its foundation a score of years ago. Excellently disciplined and with many good voices in its ranks, it sang with both breadth and shading and the great enjoyment of an audience which completely filled the vast expanse.

Returning to the Floating Theater, the Philharmonic choir of the University of Williamette, Oregon, was presenting a program under the direction of Cameron Marshall. Numbering about thirty, the organization was thus able to go in for finer and more intimate effects than the larger choruses of the other events. These had been worked out in great detail, and were performed with a high degree of expertness. It is one of the best small choirs that has appeared here in some time. Once again there was an enormous audience.

Hundred Guests Will Go with Sally to See White Sox Play Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Don't be late today, you Sox winners! We're due out at Comiskey park this afternoon, you know, to see that Sox-Cleveland game, and we won't wait very long for any one. Our team has had some rather tough luck lately, but if all the yelling and cheering that 100 youngsters can do doesn't cheer them up I don't know what will!

All the letters for our "Best of Enemies" party at the Hotel Sherman next week have been read and the winners selected. Next Sunday's TRIBUNE will contain the list of 50 boys and 50 girls who are invited to meet Buddy Rogers and see the film, as well as the announcement of our next party—which constitutes some pretty good news any way you look at it! There have been a few changes in the arrangements for the movie party, so watch the paper carefully, children.

Front Views and Profiles By June Provines

THE awareness of the coming generation is demonstrated again by the remark the youngest daughter of the John F. Jelkes made to her father. Last Sunday, when the Jelkes took their children and their week-end guests over to their farm near Milburn, the little girl, who is something of a roly-poly, climbed to her father's knees and, pinching her cheek, he said:

"You're a little butter-ball, aren't you?"

"You mean margarine ball, don't you?" flashed the child, loyal to the family industry.

FELIX B. STREYCKMANS bulletins that at the formal dedication of the Japanese World's Fair gate at 16th street last Sunday, a publicity man found it necessary to ask Gen. Frank Parker to move his position many times for the benefit of the photographer. After lining up a group of notables just outside the gate, the photographer asked that Gen. Parker come around to the front of the picture, just inside the gate.

"Sorry there's so much rigamarole connected with this, general," he said.

"I'm not," retorted Gen. Parker. "It's a pleasure to go through this gate without having to show a pass."

THE nearest invitation of the week is the little folder sent out by the O. E. Van Alveas for backgammon party Friday afternoon for George Northrop, departing head master of the Chicago Latin School for Boys, and backgammon player extraordinary.

A backgammon board adorns the invitation and a verse ending:

Come early so that you'll have time

To play a game or two

And sip a cup with George

To wish him "toodle-oo."

MR. AND MRS. PIERPONT MORGAN HAMILTON, here from New York to show the Fair to the delighted eyes of Mr. Hamilton's small sons, David and Ian, who, by the way, are descendants both of Alexander Hamilton and the first J. P. Morgan, have faithfully spent their days with the children at the Fair. Despite all the wonders they have unfolded, up to last night the thrill of the Fair to the boys was not anything they had seen either in the exhibits or the amusements. It was the friendship they had struck up with Tum and Jerry, the twin lads in scarlet uniforms and pill-box hats who act as "Buttons" for the Century club.

"Becky (the Hamilton boys call the youthful and beautiful Mrs. Hamilton) 'Becky', we've earned two new friends," said David ecstatically to his mother before dinner at the club. And later, when they had been excused from the table a little earlier than their elders, they came back bringing Tum and Jerry to introduce them to Mrs. Hamilton.

"This is Jerry," explained David happily. "You can tell which he is by that little mark on his chin."

AND a camera shot of some interest might have been taken a little later, when one of J. P. Morgan's little grandsons bestowed a nickel on the blonde cigarette girl at the club, after a conversation with her.

"She didn't look happy, and she has to work awfully hard," he explained to his father later.

Three piece undersucker camp suits that can be used for all active sports—canoeing, hiking, and even mountain climbing—come in all the striped and plaid patterns. These costumes have a well fitting blouse with short sleeves, a pair of snappy pleated shorts, and a darn good looking wrap around skirt that fastens with four big buttons. Then there are all kinds of striped, riddgipole looking polo shirts and all the wild and pastel tinted separate shirts you can imagine. But the newest, cleverest shirts are made of eye-filling checked gingham in brown and red and white.

These same shirts are worn with the blue jeans for dude ranches. Equally effective plaid flannel shirts, for vacationists who yearn to climb into high and chilly atmospheres, are just what every one has been waiting to buy.

$250,000 Policy Will Protect Studio While

Buddy Rogers Flies

Under a contract signed yesterday by Buddy Rogers, movie actor who has been appearing at the College Inn of the Hotel Sherman as a master of ceremonies, he must take out a $250,000 life insurance contract for one month. Rogers signed the contract with the Paramount studios for a picture version of the play "Take a Chance." He is to work week-days in New York and fly to Chicago each weekend to lead his band. The insurance was insisted upon to protect the movie company during the weekly plane rides while the picture is under production.

Woman, Snake Authority, to Join Zoo Staff Here

Mrs. Grace Wiley, curator of the public library museum at Minneapolis, will join the staff of the new Chicago Zoological park at Brookfield on Nov. 1. The announcement was made yesterday by Robert Bean, director of the park. Mrs. Wiley is nationally recognized as an authority on the care of snakes, alligators, and gilaes, and has one of the largest collections of these reptiles in the country.

Paris Shows

Forecast Big

Season of Fur

PARIS, July 26.—(AP)—The winter style shows opened here today in stifling hot salons with perspiring mannequins wearing high collared fur-trimmed coats and frocks as the thermometer approached 90 degrees.

A possible big fur season was predicted for 1933-34 by the first showing which found buyers fanning themselves restlessly as they reviewed the display of costumes ornamented with an unusual amount of fur on sleeves and collars.

The cocoa brown and bottle green and gray coats had choker fur collars so high that they sometimes concealed the chin. Other coats had close fitting fur collars and the under part of sleeves made entirely of fur.

Wool frocks were likewise collared on a high line with flat pelts such as seal, astrakhan and shaved lamb. There were many tailored suits also trimmed with fur.

The silhouette is slender and waisted, line natural with skirts eight or ten inches from the ground. Shoulders are slightly broadened.

TO MAKE YOUR SKIN TOTALLY HAIR-FREE... A JOY TO SEE
AND A THRILL TO TOUCH

We sincerely recommend this wonderfully pleasant new way to beach loveliness. DeWans removes the hair from legs and arms instantly. And it's so mild! Doesn't smart or redden at all. You can even use it on your face. But, best of all, the hair that may grow back is so soft and silky it's hardly noticeable... and repeated use of DeWans keeps right on lessening and lessening the regrowth. We're enthusiastic about DeWans. It's ONE DOLLAR.

SWELL GARRICK

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS

Swell Garrick—the World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy—is the label given him by those who didn't know that his well molded body had been created by athletic training, rather than tailoring skill. Maitland, a crooked gambler, is the supposed guardian of lovely Rhoda Fairclough. He and Schewen, his elated, plot to trick Rhoda out of a fortune. Maitland has Rhoda admitted insane. She has been administered a drug which will produce temporary madness. Having no proof of guilt, Garrick determines to settle the matter in his own way. His solicitor tells him that if Rhoda can gain and maintain her liberty for twenty-eight days she will be considered legally sane. Garrick undertakes a bold rescue. He escapes to London with Rhoda. Garrick hires Alf, a farmhand out of work, as a helper and buys his silence. One of the gang is shot during an encounter in Garrick's home and the police suspect Garrick. Garrick buys a controlling interest in "Joke World Famous Fair." They travel about for a week when the gang overtakes them. They escape, but Garrick is separated from Rhoda and Alf. Garrick disguises as the chauffeur of his friend, young Alister. He calls at the gang's headquarters in search of incriminating evidence. The gang walk in on him and they have with them Alf, from whom they learn Rhoda's whereabouts. Garrick saves Alf. They go to a shack in a lonely meadow where Alf had left Rhoda. Instead of Rhoda, Garrick finds an old hag occupying the shack. He stands guard in a hollow in the rear.

INSTALLMENT XL

A SECRET PASSENGER

Garrick had scarcely finished his meal when he heard a careful footstep on the road. He peered over, unable to see anything, for there was no moon. Now and again the walker flashed a torch—flashed it eventually on his own boots so that Garrick knew that it was the policeman. From the shack there came a crackling, then a faint glow. Evidently the hag had made up the fire.

An hour or more passed—he had no means of telling the time—when the footstep sounded again, but this time there were two men. They were walking on the grassy border for the sake of quiet and stopped within a few feet of the bank.

"You're quite sure about it?" asked one voice.

"Quite sure she hasn't been out on the road. Not since I've been on duty," was the answer. "I cannot answer for whether she's gone over the field. I was told to watch the road."

"She's too old to get across the field—there's a three foot jump over the brook at the other side. And if she hasn't come out by the road she's still there."

"Well, if that's all I'll go 'off.' Betcher Garrick has been tipped off," he added. "He won't turn up."

"I believe you—it's the old woman we're to keep an eye on. I'm going to get behind that bank. No good standing in the road, in my opinion. Goodnight, Jim!"

He swerved round to the back of the car and crouched by the rear door on the off-side.

This, thought Garrick, was decidedly awkward. At any time the constable who had just come on duty might discover the hollow. He kept perfectly still, wondering whether his breathing could be heard.

After half an hour of this he moved gingerly from side to side of the hollow, trying to locate the constable, but unable to do so.

Something eventually would have to be done about that constable—or Alf would blunder into him at two o'clock. For all he knew it might be getting near the hour—though it was actually only half-past ten. There came a long period of waiting. Garrick stretched himself, but dared not move about.

It was round about midnight when the headlights of a car flashed on to the new road. The car crept gingerly along and stopped near the bank.

The next moment Garrick pressed himself against the bank as some one stumbled past him.

It was the constable. The two of them were in the hollow, the constable unaware of Garrick's presence.

The car was being turned. Then some one got out of it, leaving the engine ticking over, and gave a low whistle. At the same time Garrick heard footsteps on the loose stones in front of the shack.

Obviously the car had come to take the hag away. Some three feet away from him was the unsuspecting constable who would make it impossible for Garrick to carry out investigations on his own account.

The constable came closer, wishing to look over the edge of the hollow. He took a step sideways and stood on Garrick's foot. Garrick leaned backwards from the knee, but kept his foot still in spite of the pain. Then abruptly the constable hurried out of the hollow and a moment later Garrick heard his voice in the road.

"Your name, sir—if you please—and that of any other members of your party?"

"There's no one else. The answer came in a clipped, military voice, and the speaker was evidently ill-tempered. "And why, pray, do the police want my name?"

"Have it your own way, sir. If you don't wish to give me your name, I'll trouble you for a look at your driving license."

Garrick went to the opposite side of the hollow and looked over the bank. The old woman was standing a few feet away from the two men. It was a sedan with its head turned now towards the main road.

If he could do nothing else, Garrick reasoned, he could at least get the number of the car. The constable was standing in the beam of the side lights and there was no fear of any one seeing him as he clambered over the bank on to the road.

He swerved round to the back of the car and crouched by the rear door on the off-side. The voices of the two men sounded above the ticking of the engine. There was quite enough noise to enable him to open the rear door without being heard—and to slip inside the car.

Now it is an almost universal custom that if there is only one passenger that passenger shall sit beside the driver. Garrick betted heavily on this as he closed the door and sat on the floor in the rear part of the car.

A minute or more of conversation with the constable followed. Then the old woman got into the front seat and a moment later the man got in beside her. The car started forward.

Garrick knew that there was practically no fear of detection until they arrived at their destination, whatever that might be. It is inconvenient and uncomfortable to turn right round on the front seat—it is also a quite futile action, as the back of the car is in total darkness—which is further intensified by the dim light on the dashboard.

If they were to stop and turn on the dome light they would inevitably find him. If they did not do this, there was no reason why he should remain cramped on the floor. He shifted his position and sat on the divan as if he were an invited guest.

"All serene?" the driver asked the woman beside him.

"There was an answer which Garrick could not catch. The old woman was fumbling with something. By the light of the dashboard Garrick saw that it was a case containing false teeth, which she slipped into position.

With this simple operation came an immense change in the whole personality of the woman he had thought of as a hag.

"Perfectly splendid!" she exclaimed. The voice was that of a woman, perhaps in the late forties. "I was arrested about half-past three and brought back before five."

"Jokes was quite right, then. We shall have to handle him carefully. He's very loyal to Garrick. The poor mott thinks he's doing Garrick a good turn."

Garrick started at this mention of the proprietor of "Joke's World Famous Fair." What on earth had Joke to do with this imitation hag and the military-looking man who was driving the car?

"And Garrick himself arrived about half-past two," added the woman. "He was dressed as a chauffeur and looked frightfully handsome."

"He may be good looking, but he's an awful ass!" grunted the driver.

"Not such an ass as you think!" laughed the woman. "He told me I was not as stupid as I appeared to be, which was very clever of him, as none of the police spotted it. It's awfully difficult being imbecile in patches, because you have to keep on being intelligent enough to push people where you want them. He offered me twelve pounds and then threatened me with the police."

"Did he spot any of the girl's things, or had you got rid of them?"

"No, he spotted them. It would have been useless to deny it. He might have lost his head and really gone for the police—and I didn't want them."

"You managed him all right, then?"

"I thought him rather a darling," drawled the woman. "He looked so worried, poor boy! And he's very romantic. He's probably thinking that his girl has been abducted by a gang of rural ruffians and cut in small pieces."

The driver made no answer as he negotiated the crossroads.

"She wrote a note for Garrick this afternoon," said the man. "I told her we couldn't have it posted because his address would be watched. So I promised to deliver it tomorrow."

"How did you make her believe you could do that?"

Don't Pine to Be 'the Life of the Party'

It Has Its Disadvantages; Cultivate a Quiet Poise.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She's 16, afflicted with the dread disease, shyness, when all she'd ask of life would be to be the life of the party.

At 16 one does have crazy ambitions, doesn't one? Didn't you and you and I have some ambition in our inexperienced young heads for which we had no talent? Its realization—and nothing else—would make us happy?

We got older and wiser (let's hope) and realized that you did not have to have this or that impossible talent to be able to do this or that unusual thing in order to get fun out of life.

Perhaps some of us wanted like "Sixteen," to be the life of the party. If we were very shy, that probably was our ambition. The older we got, the more we began to realize that being the life of the party wasn't what it appeared to be. We saw those "lives" so often left high and dry. They were so busy being the life of the party they didn't notice how the quieter members of the group were being picked and chosen.

So, "Sixteen," if you'll reap the benefit of older experience, you'll not pray to be the life of the party. To get over your shyness—yes, for shyness is a handicap. We merely emphasize the futility of the other ambition because we do know that having that goal in mind hampers your progress.

ness in acquiring poise and ease of manner.

We don't say that it is the easiest thing in the world to get rid of the complex that the tongue and bring blushing to the cheek. But it can be done. Not by thinking of the great hit you ought to be making, however. Not by thinking at all of the impression you're making on other people.

Invariably you find a nervous instability of physical origin in these exaggerated cases of shyness. Now, we argue for you making up your mind to excel in sports, say "This would get your mind off yourself, get your interests scattered, as it were, and broaden your contacts."

Every new person met is an advantage to the shy one. With the physical buildup, the whole outlook is improved. You gain poise automatically.

GASOLINE ALLEY—PAGE SKEEZIX

Eddie Cantor Gives Version of Fist Fight

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 26.—[Special.]—Eddie Cantor was telling the lunchers at the United Artists cafe his impressions of the recent flat fight Alf Jolson waged with Walter Winchell. "I think they both talked a lot too much," Cantor said. "Why didn't they make a laugh out of it? I was surprised that Jolson got so serious as to talk about 'seeing red.' By the way, that's a good name for the next movie Jolson makes." "Seeing Red."

"It ought to have been the name of his last one," remarked Robert Fairbanks, who is president of the United Artists corporation, and as such he knows all about the red ink on U. A. films. The last film Jolson made for United Artists was "Hallelujah I'm a Bum."

"It didn't fill any counting rooms."

Robert Fairbanks was talking about the last trip he made to Europe with his brother Douglas. "We got to Cannes in France and Doug seemed greatly impressed by the place. He said: 'This is wonderful. We will stay here three or four days or a week. I went to bed. At 4 in the morning some one pounded on my door. I finally answered sleepily. It turned out to be Douglas. 'It's 4 o'clock,' he said. 'You know we are leaving for Italy at 5.'"

Accordingly, said Fairbanks, "When Doug goes to Europe now I find plenty of business to keep me in Hollywood."

Of interest to Chicagoans are the marriage plans of Miss Betsy Thacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Thacher of Montecito, and John Min-turn Willis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Beste of Santa Barbara and Chicago. The marriage had been set for Sept. 15 in Santa Barbara, but just recently Miss Thacher decided to have it take place on Aug. 19 in Bitterroot Valley, Mont., instead, so that it could be on the same day that her cousin, Miss Betty Torrence, is married to James Marble.

Miss Torrence is the daughter of Mrs. Walter Moody of Los Angeles and Montana, and Mr. Marble is the son of Mrs. Frederick Insinger of Santa Barbara. Following the wedding there will be a reception at the Thacher ranch.

Attend Races at Arlington.

With the Arlington racing season drawing to a close this week, most of your mind-motivated and business men can be found afternoons in the fashionable Port and Paddock club.

Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy Jr. was there yesterday with her two darling little daughters and her two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Austin H. Niblack and Mrs. Vaughan C. Spalding. Not far away set Mrs. Walter Rath, who is here from Pasadena, Cal., with her three children, John, Mary, and Elizabeth, and near them Allen L. Corey and his son, Allen Jr. of New York.

Dr. Julia Strawn was hostess to a party of six and the Thomas E. Williams gave their box for the afternoon to a party that included a number of their old friends, Mrs. Wellington Leavitt, Mrs. Charles Middlebrook, Mrs. Harry McNair, and Mrs. Chester Churchill.

There wasn't a more stunning costume on the Port and Paddock terrace than the red, white, and black plaid dress and hat worn by Mrs. John Coleman. Mrs. Paul Walker was there and so were Mrs. Frank C. Henderson, the Charles McCulloch, the John D. Hertzes, and dozens of others.

Louise Forgan Has Many Guests.

The Junior James B. Forgan's house in Lake Forest is filled with visiting friends of the Forgan's daughter, Miss Louise Forgan, and most of them are her schoolmates from Farmington, Miss Judith Cole, who has been here for the last few days, is returning to her home at Pittsfield, Mass., tomorrow. Miss Barbara Brown of New Rochelle, N. Y., who was here with Miss Mary Snyder of Danville, Va., has gone to Danville to visit Miss Snyder, and is returning to the Forgan's Sunday. She is leaving for the east a week from tomorrow, the same day that Miss Snyder will come up from Danville to spend a few more days with Miss Forgan.

Miss Forgan is not definitely on the list of debutantes for this season; in fact, it was decided that she would not be presented to society this year, but as so many of her friends are coming out, Miss Forgan is weakening to the desire of sharing their fun with them instead of waiting another year. Consequently she may have a party given for her during the holidays, which may count as a debutante dance, or since she still will be a schoolgirl—as she plans to "finish" this winter at Garland's school in Boston—it may be a subdebutante party.

THE STAGE

Fay Bainter, who has held stellar rank as an actress since "The Willow Tree" (1917), has joined the "Gay Divorce" company at the Apollo theater, replacing Luella Gear and thus celebrating her debut in musical comedy. Her role, however, requires no lyric accomplishments beyond reciting to an orchestral accompaniment the bit of rhyming called "Mr. and Mrs. Pitch," which represents the art of song writing at its last gasp.

This chance of cast-acting "Gay Divorce" up to her, although there is a marked contrast between the personalities of Miss Bainter and her predecessor. Miss Gear has the voice of scorn, valuable in the treatment of the hard-boiled dame of musical comedy. Miss Bainter has the voice of charm and light merriment, also helpful to the mood of gaiety. It is worth noting that Miss Bainter's most recent role, before this appearance in Chicago, was Topsy in the all-star revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in New York.

Charlotte Walker is now playing the heroine of "Tomorrow Turns Back," the drama at the Selwyn theater, as star of the company. This is decidedly a change for the better. Six other roles in this cast have also found new interpreters, with beneficial results.

"Let 'Em Eat Cake," the musical comedy that has been written as a sequel to "Ole Thee I Sing," using the same characters, is scheduled for a premiere in Boston early in October under the management of Sam H. Harris.

Woman Often Judged by the Condition of Her Coiffure

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"Hair, she considered, was a complete indication of the truth about women."

The above line is from a short story in a weekly periodical, written by the well known Joseph Hergesheimer. Fiction, as you know, in the hands of a Hergesheimer, reflects the moment's trend of thought.

Rose Lindell, the leading character, wanted to see a certain Mrs. Starrow, whose intelligence won her son's admiration. Rose wished, with feminine acuteness, to see her clothes. Usually very intelligent women were personally careless, she mused. Their hair, it was Rose's impression, was not often enough washed. And hair, as already cited, indicated the woman.

The fact that Mrs. Starrow's silver blond, perfectly washed and becomingly waved hair was a private disappointment to Rose is not of our interest today. But the fact that the well known male author, who knows women better than Capone knew his racket, puts this line into his leading character's mouth is of vital interest.

Hair does tell the truth about a woman. Not about her unusual mind, perhaps. But it does, nevertheless, bespeak a woman's orderliness of character, her vanity, or lack of it, and her intelligence in this respect, at least. No woman is really intelligent today, a woman in active public life, especially, who would deliberately neglect the care, the cleanliness and grooming of her hair. In fact, the more intelligent a woman is, the more she realizes that in order to make her brains saleable to her own sex, as well as the opposite, she has to present them admirably styled.

A woman, let's say, whose hair looks well groomed but once a week or once in two weeks, after her professional treatment, reveals a certain

BY MARY MEADE.

Remember that picnic last week when you helped consume a whole bottle of olives? They were such tart little things that it likely didn't strike you they had much food value. But they did—four or five olives can add just as many calories in the daily accounting (if you are a calorie counter) as a big, luscious chocolate cream.

Olives, which grow on evergreen trees, some of which have attained an age of 2,000 years. First they are a green color, then, when full size, they become yellowish and, at last, when ripe, a dark, purplish brown.

You may have learned from experience that they keep their flavor best when the juice is left on them. Never wash them or they will lose their distinctive flavor entirely.

Olives have long been a favorite in salads—their unusual flavor won our admiration and we've added them to many combinations of salad ingredients. Now we've started finding out how good they are with other courses.

Ripe olives are being served hot with sweetbreads or lamb and veal chops. An enticing arrangement is in the details of grooming, indicating nothing it is not that they're becoming as keen eyed as the most rapacious female enemy in digging out pictorial weaknesses.

Or you may add stuffed olives to a meat loaf. When you slice the loaf the olives form bright little polka dots.

An unusual luncheon soup is prepared by heating small stuffed olives and flakes of tuna fish in tomato soup. You'll enjoy the combination.

And croquette or tuna fish soufflé to which have been added a half cup of chopped green or ripe olives are luscious. The family will call for repeatings.

Next time you serve beef try it with an olive sauce. Our favorite recipe for this is:

OLIVE SAUCE.
4 tablespoons fat.
3 tablespoons flour.
2 cups brown stock.
12 stoned, sliced olives.
1 tablespoon grated onion.
1/2 teaspoon salt.

Melt the fat and add the flour. Cook until slightly browned, stirring constantly. Gradually add the stock, stirring, and cook until thickened. Add the olives which have been cooked in the stock for 10 minutes and the onion. (Chopped almonds may be used instead of the grated onion.)

Have you ever filled tomatoes with stuffed olives and baked them? If you haven't, you've missed a treat.

TOMATOES FILLED WITH OLIVES.

2 tablespoons brown sugar.
1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives.
1/2 cup bread crumbs.
1/2 cup melted butter.
1/2 teaspoon salt.

Scop out the insides of the tomatoes. Chop the pulp and mix it with the olives, bread crumbs, salt and melted butter. Place one teaspoonful of sugar in the bottom of each tomato case and fill with the mixture. Place the tomatoes in a baking pan and add about 1/2 cup of water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until they are tender, basting frequently with the water.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

(Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.)

AN OBVIOUS SOLUTION.

Sergeant Reynolds sniffed the policeman's dress of wine in the slush standing on the table, ran his finger over the end of his nose, grimaced, and turned toward Prof. Fordney and the police surgeon, who were kneeling beside the body on the opposite side of the room. Turning to Mrs. Gates, proprietress of the small inn, who had summoned them, he asked, "You are positive he's been alone in his room all evening?"

"O, yes, I'm sure of it because the only others here are my daughter and myself. Mr. Dean hadn't been feeling well... that's why I came to his room to see if there was anything I could do... and I found him dead! It's an awful shock to me. He's been spending his vacations with us for the past five years."

"Yes—my daughter and I. They were very fond of each other."

The doctor, while still examining the body, said to Fordney, "Death was instantaneous—of that I'm sure. As near as I can estimate he's been dead about an hour and I believe from a combination of poisons. Let you know more about it after the post-mortem."

"Did you use the phone in here, Mrs. Gates?" inquired Fordney, looking around the spacious room for the instrument.

"O, no—I touched nothing. I called from my own room."

"Sure you didn't lock the windows? I noticed they are all fastened."

"Why, no. He must have done that before he committed suicide."

"Mrs. Gates, either you or your daughter murdered him!"
How did the professor know?

Many Little Children Made to Fit School

One Time Teacher Gives Her Opinions.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

This letter written with such intense feeling will, I think, find many sympathetic readers among mothers—and many teachers:

"All these years I have not written you, though I have been sure I would a great number of times. Recently an article touched me so directly I must ask you to read and have patience with my ramble."

You are now writing about our beloved 'in-betweens.' Your lineup was illuminating. I have lost my paper. I should like to retrieve it. However, the first item is my subject—the confinement of the schoolroom.

"I taught a number of years. I knew in the back of my head, I always there was something wrong. Now I have no doubts it is obviously wrong to confine tiny children for such long hours. Many of the quiet ones sit repressed, listening with fatigue to the continual repression placed upon the naughty and irrepressible ones. These quiet ones lose their love of a place that they must live in. The noisier ones grow to glory in these small, continual, wordy assaults."

"Both types are harmed by the procedure. Some of the children placed by themselves could go much faster; others should go slower—but all are supposed to progress at an average rate. It is the teacher's job to have them do so."

"Do others know as I do? Can't we do something about the grouping of children in schools, about shorter hours for lower grades, and so forth?"

"I am a middle aged woman. If I could just do this much—weak parents to the needs of their children in school work—I feel I have not been wholly useless here. So strongly do I feel on this subject."

AMANA THRIVES ON NEW DEAL OF OWN MAKING

Iowans Both Workers and Stockholders.

Amama, Ia., July 26.—(AP)—Contented and prosperous, the 1,500 citizens of Amama, which for 90 years plodded through a secluded communistic existence, believe their new co-operative capitalism offers a model for the nation's recovery campaign.

Forced from communism by the fast moving 20th century, the seven tranquil villages owning 300,000 acres of rich prairie land abolished unemployment with a $1,500,000 industrial corporation.

Starting its second year the corporation has gone outside the colonies to employ more workers.

Jobs for All in Towns.

"What President Roosevelt is trying to do for the nation under the national industrial recovery act, the Amama colonies have already accomplished," Arthur Barlow, business manager, said today. "Work in the fields, shops and mills have been divided so that every one has employment."

The corporation will cooperate in the industrial recovery program, Barlow said, and a committee has been appointed to study application of the recovery act to the colonies.

The woolen mills, which conduct a nation-wide business, operated with one shift during the communistic regime. Now there are two 10 hour shifts, which may be shortened under the recovery program, and a 50 per cent increase in production is reported.

Apply Science to Farms.

Scientific methods have been introduced in the tilling of the soil, and modern dairy methods have brought an increase in that industry. A 100 per cent increase has been effected in the sale of baked goods. Meat shops have opened accounts in Chicago. Machine and millwright shops have expanded to serve outsiders.

Socially, the modern bathroom has become the emblem of a new order. Grandmother still wears her sunbonnet and black print calico to store and meeting house, but granddaughter dashes about in silk hose and gray flannel dress.

Automobiles have appeared. With each colonist a member of the corporation, he receives cash to spend as he desires whereas before only necessities of life were provided from a common treasury. Now each colonist is a shareholder and with their dividends they are buying homes, etc.

Gay pictures and wall paper, once prohibited by the strict religious creed of the German residents, are appearing. Windows are being trimmed and porches and fancy frescoes added to the homes.

There is a weekly newspaper and a chamber of commerce is being formed.

ROW OVER ISLANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 26.—Japan is preparing to dispute the French claim, filed last week, to nine coral islands, including Thitu and Twin Islands, between the Philippines and Indo-China.

The islands are economically of little value except for guano, but are regarded by the Japanese navy as an important strategic point, capable of being developed into a submarine and aviation base.

A government spokesman pointed out that the islands were settled by Japanese several years ago and demands that they be claimed were filed with the foreign office at the time by responsible Japanese residents.

The government, however, took no action, but if investigations disclose that Japan actually has a right to the islands now they will be claimed.

Officials are confident that documents in the foreign office will prove that Japanese discovered some of the islands.

Utah to Vote on State's Dry Law Repeal Nov. 7

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 26.—(AP)—The Utah legislature today opened the way to a vote next Nov. 7 on repeal of the state prohibition amendment, the senate adopting a resolution, approved yesterday by the house, to submit the question to the people.

A bill legalizing 3.2 per cent beer, but otherwise retaining the present liquor laws, has been passed by both houses.

Gov. Henry H. Blood indicated he would call an election on repeal of the eighteenth federal amendment at the same time the state repeal election is held.

U. S. Becomes Germany's Best Customer for Beer

[Copyright, 1933, by The New York Times.]

BERLIN, July 26.—The flow of German beer to the United States is increasing daily. The United States has become the German breweries' best foreign customer. In April the United States absorbed little more than one-tenth per cent of Germany's total beer export. In May it absorbed 8.35 per cent, and in June, 27.42 per cent.

Pat Harrison Favors Early Mississippi Dry Law Vote

Jackson, Miss., July 26.—(AP)—Senator Pat Harrison today made a public declaration here in favor of an early vote in Mississippi on the question of 18th amendment repeal, and said he would cast his own vote in accordance with the Democratic national platform.

LET CITIES LEVY TAX FOR RELIEF, LEHMAN'S VIEWS

Denies New York Plea for State Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALBANY, N. Y., July 26.—[Special.]—Two steps by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today were taken in favor of making cities stay within their own means in spending money.

The first was the denial of the request of Mayor John P. O'Brien of New York, backed by the Tammany organization, to double the state stock sales and transfer tax by which New York City hoped to get about 41 million dollars.

The second move was in urging in a special message to the extra session of the legislature that when cities, counties, or other subdivisions of the state default on bond interest a state agent may be named by the governor to keep their expenditures within their means.

Wants Cities to Aid Selves.

The governor opposed the levying of increased taxes on the state as a whole for the benefit of cities that would spend the money so received without any supervision by the state. He cited that last year the state collected $258,037,000, handling $180,172,000 of that to the cities.

In lieu of meeting the appeal from Mayor O'Brien, Gov. Lehman urged that the legislature enact a law that would give the cities power to levy taxes and collect them to meet extraordinary needs, like those of the present emergency, and undertake with such funds such relief work as was deemed necessary.

For Curb on Spending.

The governor's language in the matter of cities keeping within their means was as follows:

"I recommend to your consideration general legislation authorizing the governor, in the event of a default on the part of any county, town, city, village or special improvement district, to set up a financial agent or agents with authority to limit any expenditure of public funds by such municipality, or the incurring of any debt by it."

After Growing School Costs.

Gov. Lehman has named a committee to study costs of public education. He says: "So large are the expenditures for education and so great is the proportion which they bear to the general cost of government, that it is proper that a survey be made at this time."

The state, according to the governor's figures, will spend this year about 45 per cent of its entire budget on education, while cities spend between 35 and 40 per cent of all their funds on the schools.

SAYS MRS. KING WOULD NOT HALT BOOK ON BARTON

Lawyer Asserts Woman Wanted $50,000.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Charles E. Kelley, a lawyer, was a witness for the state today at the trial of Mrs. Frances W. King in General Sessions. Mrs. King is charged with blackmail and attempting to extort $50,000 from Bruce Barton, author and advertising executive, on the threat of publishing a libel against him. The basis of the indictment against her is an unpublished book, "Rosa Martin," allegedly written by Mrs. King.

Several Conversations.

Mr. Kelley, who is counsel for Mr. Barton in the $250,000 slander suit brought against him by Mrs. King, told today of several conversations with her concerning the suit and her book. She told him, Mr. Kelley testified, that she had been offered $10,000 for the movie rights to the book and that she would not take a cent less than $50,000 to "settle" and withhold publication of the book.

Mr. Kelley said that Mrs. King called him on April 7 last and asked him if he'd settle the slander suit. "Positively not," Mr. Kelley said he told her. He said that Mrs. King then threatened to go away and have her book published and that she threatened also "to make it stronger."

Returned $11,000.

Prior to Mr. Kelley's testimony a stenographer read Mrs. King's testimony at an examination before trial. In this testimony Mrs. King said that she received from her former husband, Hugh Rogers King, $11,000 in cash the $25,000 paid to King by Barton in settlement of an allegation of affections suit. She later returned the $11,000 to her husband, she said.

Is First to Present It!

It's the sensation of the beauty world. It will revolutionize present methods of permanent waving. Read every word below about the Radio Halo:

1. First the hair is wound, croquignole method, on special curlers.
2. Then the radio halo is lowered to surround the head. It does not touch it, so there's no pull on the scalp, and there's five inches of freedom for the head.
3. Radio waves emanate from the halo.

4. There's no sensation of heat, for there is just one-tenth of the heat formerly used. And there is no chance of burning the scalp.
5. One minute later, the steam radiates from the inside out—giving a true steam permanent.
6. The radio halo gives waves as soft and wide as naturally curly hair.

HORNBSBY JOINS BROWNS AS PLAYER-MANAGER

SLUG AND DUCK IS RULE TODAY AT GRAND BEACH

GoldenGlovesFight for Places.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Grand Beach, Mich., July 26.—
"We'll shoot the works tomorrow,"
Coach Johnny Behr told the Golden Gloves boys today when they ended an hour's drill for the International rights with the Irish amateur champions.

"If you want place on the Chicago team, get out your best punches and your best defense tomorrow," he added.

The day's program was a continuation of yesterday's drill and fitted the boys for tomorrow's workout which largely will determine the makeup of the team. While the team cannot be named until after next Sunday's workout, which will be the last serious drill of the training period, tomorrow's bouts will be the peak of activity. All the boys will box three rounds each and everything goes.

Izzy Forgets to Duck.
Johnny Packer, who yesterday complained of a toothache, yielded the spotlight to Izzy Goldstein. Izzy today was inveigled into trying a spoon trick in which a spoon hit with the fist hits another spoon and boosts it into a glass. This sounds a bit goofy, but many mature people have been addicted to the trick. At any rate, Izzy tried it. The spoon jumped up and struck his glasses, shattering one lens. As a result Goldstein was shipped off to Michigan City for repairs.

With the close of camp in the offing, the boys naturally have evidenced more interest in their Irish opponent.
Reports in THE TRIBUNE and other information tends to strengthen the impression that the Irish may not know a lot about boxing, but that they do know how to fight. More to the point, the Irish apparently love an honest to goodness fight. That's all these Golden Gloves boys want, for without exception they are willing to trade punches. In short, these bouts promise more action than any of the preceding international series with France and Germany.

Plenty to Do.
About this time in the training period the boys always become a bit anxious to get back home. This isn't true this year, however. Everything is quiet along the lake front and the training drills have not proved a grind. The morning road work is conducted under most favorable conditions, since Grand Beach offers a multitude of trails not to mention the golf course.

Tennis and baseball occupy some of the minutes. Most of the boys go to Lake Michigan for a dip after the afternoon workouts. Swimming is taboo, but that does not prevent a frolic along the sandy shore prior to the evening meal.

There is no formality about the meals. The boys have a private dining room overlooking the lake and there is no necessity for them to wear coats or to dress formally.

The preliminary bouts are being arranged. Several of the boys have asked that they be permitted to box in the main event. The boys here at camp are of eight which will meet the Irish.
The bouts on Aug. 2 will start at 8:30 o'clock and in addition to the battle of the midgets from a Century of Progress, there will be six introductory fights.

Miller Has Infection.
Billy Miller of Milwaukee, Wis.,
Golden Gloves champion of that city who reached the quarter-finals in the Tournament of Champions, was considered as an opponent for either Billy Celebron or Henry Rothier, but Miller wrote to coach yesterday saying he would be unable to compete because of a face infection.

The best Chicago boxers will be invited to compete next Wednesday and the preliminaries will probably be as closely fought as the international contests. Without specifying the bouts, the boys here at camp are unanimous in agreement that five of the eight championship fights will be won by Chicago. Since the Irish assert that they expect to win all eight, this will be something of a shock to them. Chicago boys whipped the French in 1931 and tied a great team of German sluggers last summer.
The boys at Grand Beach have no idea that this record will be marred by a defeat.

Irish Fighters
Visit Notre Dame Campus Saturday
Ireland's amateur boxing champions, who are here to fight Chicago's Golden Gloves team at Soldiers' field next Wednesday night, are going to get a close-up of America's Fighting Irish Saturday. They will make a trip to the university of Notre Dame to visit the stadium made famous by athletes of another sport, but renowned as Fighting Irish.

"We wouldn't want to return to Ireland without paying a visit to Notre Dame," said Capt. William O'Brien, who has charge of the Irish boxers. "We all are looking forward to our call there as the high spot of our sightseeing in America."

30,000 Seats at 55 Cents

Never have boxing fans been offered a bargain comparable to the bouts between the champions of Ireland and the Golden Gloves winners from Chicagoland at Soldiers' field Wednesday night. More than half of the 50,000 reserved seats are priced at 55 cents. Each provides an unobstructed view of the ring.

There are other seats at $1.10, $2, $2.50, and $3.30 for those who prefer to pay more. But there isn't a poor seat in the arena. The advance sale is the heaviest in the history of Golden Gloves. Those who delay buying tickets will be disappointed.

Get your seats at any Walgreen Drug store, at The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 S. Dearborn street; at the Midwest Athletic club, or at Room 530, Tribune Tower. If you can't get to a ticket office, telephone your reservation to Superior 0100 and ask for local 530 or 466.

Mulligan Is Fans' Favorite Irish Champ

BY JERRY CURRAN.
"Where's Mulligan?" may become the watchword before the Irish boxing champions ever get to Soldiers' field for the International Golden Gloves bouts next Wednesday night. Chicagoans like to see the other seven members of the Irish team. They have a cheer for them and a wave of the hand.

But it's always—"Where's Mulligan?"
Patrick Gerald has to go through it, smiling all over and shaking hands with everybody.

Mulligan Meets Mulligan.
He looked a particularly broad smile yesterday at the Midwest Athletic club when he shook hands with a fellow Mulligan, Hugh by name. His eyes lighted up with interest when he was told that back in 1912, when Patrick Gerald was still an infant, Hugh was punching heavyweights here in Chicago. The Mulligans beamed a greeting and then Patrick Gerald departed to work out.

If all the Irish boys who have been proffered this time that the Chicago boys are fast. They know they are fighters. And they know enough of American training methods to realize that the Golden Gloves team will step into Soldiers' field equipped to fight as near perfection as possible.

All this they know because they've been told so often. In addition they know the climate is affecting them, that the food is strange, and that the same name doesn't mean the same food in Ireland as it does in Chicago. They have had not a little difficulty in securing sufficient rest to brace them for the strain of training.

But they have behind them the body-building advantages of good, plain food and the bone-forming qualities of limestone water. They have the ruggedness that follows strenuous work in propitious conditions.

It's Sweet Music.
Take their boxing histories. Each one is a champion in his own right. Likewise each one is a veteran in international competition. Two boxed in the Olympic games at Los Angeles last summer.

NEW SOX LINEUP PLAYS SAME OLD GAME; LOSES, 7-1

Errors Help Indians Scalp

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
The White Sox are still moving in the wrong direction, but promise to turn around any day now. Their backward step yesterday was a 7 to 1 beating inflicted by Cleveland's none too robust Indians, making seven spankings in a row for the south siders since they climbed to the heights last week by actually walloping the powerful Yankees.

On the premise that things might get better and couldn't be worse, Manager Fonseca elected to fool the jinx by producing an entirely new combination. He benched Jack Hayes and Elmer Swanson for not hitting. He let Joe Heving, heretofore a rescuer of floundering pitchers, start the game. But it made no difference. Heving did well enough except in one inning, which was enough to decide the tussle, and the lineup alterations proved more a handicap than a help.

They're Funny at Plate, Too.
Besides providing a few hearty laughs for the customers by the fashion in which they fielded, the Sox also were more or less painfully amusing in their bat swinging. They could figure on Willis Hudlin for only six hits, and Heving himself had to furnish one of these to avoid a shutout.

Rhyme, who supplanted Hayes at second, failed in four attempts. Webb, who took Swanson's place, came through when needed. But the noted Al Simmons had a terrible time of it. He fanned once, bounced to the second baseman another time, fled to right once, and in the ninth drew a base on balls, which gave him a chance to determine if Heving never would get home, but Webb came to the rescue.

He singled to center, Heving scoring. Simmons ended the inning with a healthy but futile third swing. The effects of Heving's base running effort became noticeable almost immediately. He got Porter on a pop-up to start the fourth, but Oulliber singled to center for the first hit. He singled to left, and King LeVinsky in succession. The way he outgassed Loughran in the majority of the rounds last night indicated that he has started on another of his victory marches.

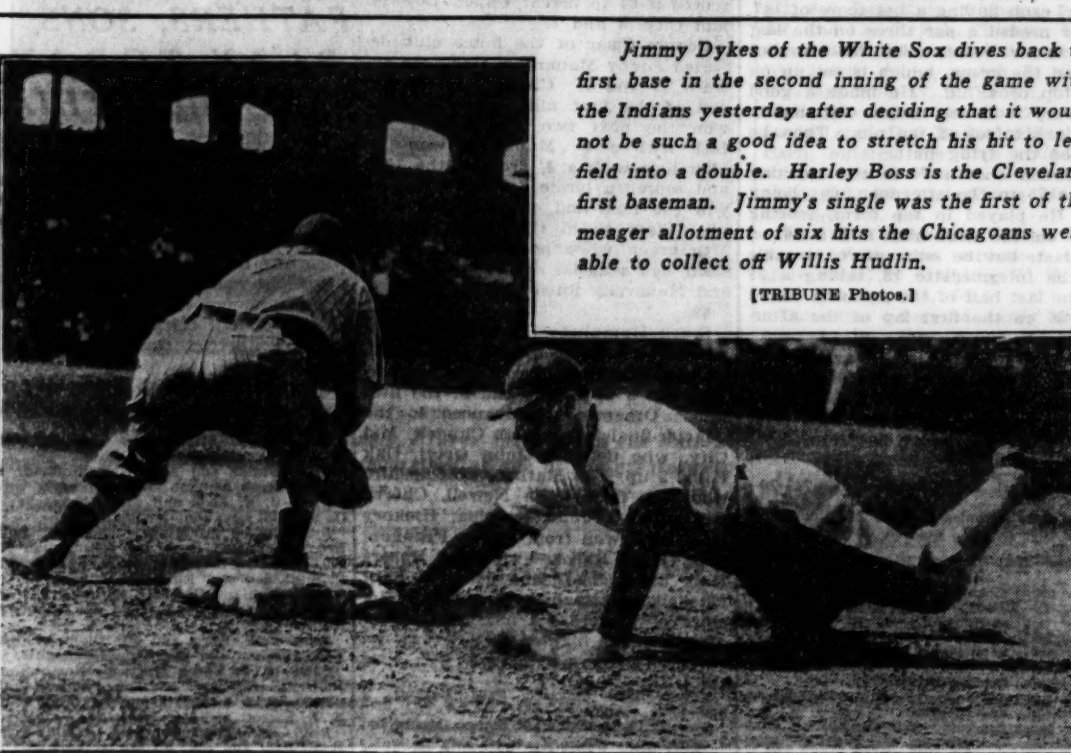

Irish Boxers Draw Cheers.
The eight amateur boxing champions from Ireland, who will meet the Golden Gloves titleholders of Chicagoland at Soldiers' field Aug. 2, were introduced by the announcer. They were presented collectively while seated in the audience, but the fans yelled until the announcer was compelled to invite them into the ring and introduce each one.

Risiko started the bout as if he meant to end it in the first round. He shot straight lefts to the body and when Loughran dropped his right to block them, Risiko hooked with the same hand to the head. Just when Tommy appeared to be finding the range Risiko landed a hard left hook to the head and the former light heavyweight champion dropped to the canvas. He got up at the count of three.

Loughran Gets Going.
Loughran untracked himself in the second and third rounds and kept jabbing Risiko to the nose with a straight left. This didn't last long, however, and in the fourth, fifth, and sixth rounds Risiko renewed his savage attack to the body and head. Tommy's best punch was scored in the seventh. It was a sharp left hook to the stomach and momentarily halted Risiko.

Both fighters slowed up in the seventh and eighth, although Loughran finished the latter round with a two-handed bombardment to Johnny's ribs and face that set him on his heels. In the tenth, just before the bell ended the battle, Risiko landed a vicious right swing to the head and Tommy scored with two short right uppercuts to the chin.

SEVEN IN ROW! THOSE SOX CAN TAKE IT!

Risiko Whips Loughran in Ten Rounds

Tommy Loughran's heavyweight championship hopes were upset last night at Mills stadium when Johnny Risiko beat him in 10 rounds. Loughran had set out upon a winning streak which he was confident would end in a match with Max Baer for the right to box Champion Primo Carnera.

Although the decision was not unanimous—Judge William Battye scoring for Loughran, 54-46, while Judge Edward Klein and Referee Tommy Thomas voted for Risiko, 52-48 and 55-45, respectively—the crowd of 8,000, which paid $4,000, apparently was satisfied with the result.

Johnny's Still a Wrecker.
Loughran weighed in at 185½ and Risiko at 193½. Risiko did not have enough weight advantage to make any difference, so there was only one answer to the surprising outcome. Risiko had his reputation as the speller of title contenders to uphold, and he came through with one of the best fights of his career.

A few years ago Risiko whipped Jack Shacker, Ernie Schaaf, Victor, with a polio, George Godfrey, and Jimmy Maloney just when they appeared to be on their way to a title chance.

Last year Risiko started one of his periodic winning streaks by defeating Tuffy Griffith, Mickey Walker, and King LeVinsky in succession. The way he outgassed Loughran in the majority of the rounds last night indicated that he has started on another of his victory marches.

ROGERS DIRECTS TEAM AGAINST SOX SATURDAY

Fourth Venture as Big League Pilot.

(Picture on page 21.)
St. Louis, Mo., July 26.—[Special.]
—Rogers Hornsby, former manager of three National league clubs, today signed a contract to manage the St. Louis Browns. He immediately announced plans for getting the club out of the American league cellar. One of his aims is to be a playing manager.

Hornsby, whose contract is for the remainder of the present season, 1934, and 1935, told Phil Ball, president of the Browns, that "We'll have a fighting ball club that will bring crowds out to the park before long."

No Shakeup—Now.
"Teams that are too tame don't go very far," said Rogers, "although there is no excuse for rough stuff. There will be no shaking up of the Browns for the present. I want to see what the players can do. I think I have the nucleus of a good team."

Hornsby, who until yesterday was a member of the St. Louis Cardinals, was signed by President Ball immediately after all the other clubs on the National league had waived on his services. He will leave tomorrow night for Chicago and take charge of the Browns in their series with the Chicago White Sox opening Saturday.

Allen Sothoron, who has been managing the team since Bill Killefer was deposited last week, is expected to remain as coach.

Will Rebuild Browns.
Details of the contract of Hornsby's fourth managerial job were not disclosed, but it was understood that he will have complete charge of rebuilding the Browns, who never have won an American league pennant. Hornsby has managed three clubs in the National league—Boston Braves, St. Louis Cardinals, and the Chicago Cubs.

Hornsby launched his colorful major league career in 1915 when he was purchased for $500 by the Cardinals from the Denison club of the Western association. It was not long before he became a regular and was one of the leading hitters in the league.

Successor to Riskey.
Bating champion for six years, Hornsby reached his ambition to manage a major league team in 1925, when Branch Riskey was deposed as manager of the Cardinals and Hornsby was named his successor. That season Hornsby took the team in last place and finished fourth.

The following year he led the Cardinals to victory in the National league race. In the world's series the Cardinals triumphed over the New York Yankees, winning four of the seven games played.

During the winter differences between Hornsby and Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, led to his being traded to the New York Giants. He was on his way again the following year, going to the Boston Braves. Before the 1923 season ended he was named manager.

Goes to Cubs in Big Deal.
Then in one of the biggest deals ever completed in the major leagues Hornsby went to the Chicago Cubs in 1929. He was purchased by the Cubs for a reported price of $200,000 and five players. He played throughout the 1929 season and part of 1930 before he was appointed manager of the Cubs, succeeding Joe McCarthy, who had led the Cubs to the National league pennant the previous year.

Then last season, on Aug. 2, came the announcement that Hornsby had been discharged and Charley Grimm named his successor. The Cubs were in New York at the time. Hornsby packed his bag and went to his home near St. Louis.

AMERICAN TRACK STARS DEFEAT SWEDISH TEAM

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 26.—(AP)—The touring track and field stars from the United States made a clean sweep of six events in a meet against a group of Swedish athletes tonight. Only Eric Ny, Swedish middle distance ace, who competed in the 1932 Olympics at Los Angeles, was able to press the Americans, finishing second in both the 400 meter and 200 meter events.

Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette university, took the 100 meter dash in 11 seconds flat, winning easily from Holmgren, who was clocked in 12.3. Ivan Fuqua, Indiana quarter miler, took the other sprint, covering the 200 meters in 23.4 to beat Ny. Johnny Morris of Louisiana was third.

The Sox will be idle tomorrow and Saturday will entertain the Browns, who'll be under their new manager, Rogers Hornsby. A doubleheader is scheduled for Sunday.

OFFICER, I DEMAND THAT YOU SEARCH THIS HOUSE! THAT LOW SNEAKY SNAKE-IN-THE-GRASS IS HIDING HERE.

HE IS NOT! AND IF HE WAS HE'D BE OUT HERE AND GIVE THAT BLACK EYE OF YOURS A MATE BEFORE YOU COULD SAY SCAT. YOU SHOULD GIVE MR. MULLINS A VOTE OF THANKS FOR PROTECTING YOUR HOME, MR. GLADIOLA

MADAM, THE ONLY THING YOU COULD TELL WITHOUT EXAGGERATING IS YOUR AGE. MR. MULLINS NOT ONLY INSULTED ME IN FRONT OF MY WIFE BY TELLING ME I LOOKED LIKE A BURGLAR WHEN I WALKED IN ON THEM, BUT HE HIT ME, OFFICER--

WELL, DIDN'T YOU HIT HIM BACK?

YES, THAT IS BEFORE HE SOCKED ME I DID--

FIRST MINSTREL LOSES; FADES AS FUTURITY HOPE

Lady Higloss Turns Back Greentree Headliner.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The Arlington Futurity victory dream of Mrs. F. W. Whitely's Greentree stable, to all appearances, faded into the skies like so much smoke at Arlington Park yesterday afternoon.

The Greentree hopes disappeared when First Minstrel, regarded as one of the great 2-year-olds of the year and a strong threat for the $50,000 juvenile race to be decided on Saturday, was soundly beaten in the Green Day purse, which engaged a number of futurity eligibles.

He lost to Lady Higloss, a daughter of Larkin-Higloss, which isn't even eligible to the Futurity. It was the third straight victory for Lady Higloss, which races for the Paramount stable, a syndicate of Chicago and Kentucky horsemen.

Why Didn't We Name Her? Last night, after she had scored her sparkling victory, the members of the syndicate were scowling at one another and wondering whose fault it was that she had not been named to contest for the huge Futurity prize.

There may have been an excuse or two for First Minstrel. One of his own faults seems to have been the main one. He is a big green fellow and is a bit sluggish in the early running. He was away slowly in the Green Day and while he was having trouble getting into stride, he met up with some interference. This served as an additional handicap.

On the turn he came with a great dash of speed but by this time Lady Higloss was in front and she was a length and a half in front of the big fellow from the Greentree stable. Thomasville, owned by Hal Price Hedley of Kentucky, was third, and Lady Higloss, a son of Man o' War and a Futurity eligible, was fourth.

Tough on the Crowd. The crowd, completely sold on First Minstrel's ability, suffered quite a loss. He was backed so stoutly that he was the 2-5 favorite in the betting. Lady Higloss, the second choice in the betting, paid $13.50. She skidded over the 5 1/2 furlongs in 1:36.15.

The Futurity is at six furlongs and First Minstrel might have been in front had the field gone the extra half furlong. The folk who saw First Minstrel beaten weren't willing to give him much of a chance in the Futurity. They shook their heads when Lady Higloss beat him and remarked "What'll Mata Hara do to such a slow starting fellow?"

The Mohawk purse at six furlongs, engaging some of the finest sprinters at Arlington, is the other feature on the program. It brought victory by a narrow margin for Gift of Roses, fleet Kentucky mare, which races for J. P. Ebberhardt.

She had to do some fast stepping in the stretch to beat the other favorites which had gained into what looked to be a comfortable lead in the early stages of the race. Coming on the extreme outside, Gift of Roses caught Supreme Sweet 40 strides from the finish line and won by a half length.

The late starter, Clarify, the favorite, staggered home third and had a hard time doing it. Waylayer, making his first start in a long time, showed a nice effort to be fourth.

Gift of Roses, which holds the Arlington track record of 1:10.1 for 5 furlongs, ran the distance in 1:13.15. In the mutuels she paid $13.62.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

An account yesterday of the bout between Eddie Chiniski, Kankakee, Ill., and Pete Blanchard, Kansas City, Mo., at White City stadium announced that Chiniski was the winner. The fight ended in a draw.

HAWTHORNE GOLD CUP HANDICAP IS SET FOR AUG. 24

$25,000 Race Last Start in West for Equipose.

The $25,000 Hawthorne Gold Cup will be decided on the afternoon of Thursday, Aug. 24. It was announced yesterday by Joseph A. Murphy, general manager of the track.

This weight for age race, the richest of its kind in the country, will find Equipose, the super horse, facing the barrier for the last time in the west this year. He has proved to be one of the outstanding stars of the American turf, and there is talk that he may be retired this fall. He is at Saratoga and while nominated for the Hawthorne handicap to be run on Aug. 5, will not be shipped here for that race.

Trainer Healey has assured the Hawthorne management that, barring mishap, Equipose will start in the Hawthorne handicap to be run on Aug. 5, will not be shipped here for that race.

World's Fair visitors an opportunity to see the great champion run once more before retiring him to the stud.

In compiling the stake entries in the condition book for the first 10 days of the meeting, two nominations were inadvertently overlooked. The Warm stables Sassy should have been included in the Hawthorne juvenile handicap to be run on Aug. 5, while John March's Miss Bunting was omitted from the Illinois Owners' handicap list, to be run on Aug. 12.

Dixiana states unbroken filly sensation, Mata Hari, probable favorite for the Arlington Futurity Saturday, had her final important trial for the three-quarter event yesterday morning.

Hyde Van Dusen, her trainer, had her for a spin over the distance of the race, which she accomplished under stout restraint in the satisfactory time of 1:14.45. She went the opening quarter in 24 seconds and the half in 48 seconds.

Far Star also was given her final prep for the Futurity and, accompanied by Spartan Lady, went six furlongs in 1:34.45 in handy fashion.

Far Star, who was the favorite in the Futurity, was uncovered by Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Singing Wood, which in all probability will be second choice Saturday. He reeled off three quarters in 1:13.25 nicely, after the opening quarter in 22.45 and the half in 46.25.

Cog Air, an odds-on choice, won the second race at Arlington yesterday, and Stimulator, at par, for 1-1, captured the third. The completed daily double which early off at $53.24.

RUMOR PENNSY. BANKRE-CHIO MERGER PLANNED

Proposal Is Made to Effect Economy.

Baltimore, Md., July 26.—(AP)—The Baltimore Sun in a copyrighted dispatch from Washington tonight said word has "penetrated to high official quarters that overtures have been made by the Pennsylvania railroad to the Baltimore and Ohio for a merger of the two properties."

The Sun dispatch said the "merger" is "in the interest of both economy and efficiency," but it was not known in Washington "how the Baltimore and Ohio received these advances." So far as can be indicated "these discussions have been mainly between the financial interests which back and in a sense control the two railroads," the newspaper continued.

It was pointed out the Interstate Commerce commission also has the power to approve unification of competing railroad properties and a great deal of argument probably would be needed to induce that body to amend its proposed consolidation of the eastern railroads.

RISE IN STEEL
SCRAP POINTS
TO FALL DEMAND*Mills' Output Drops
One Per Cent.

A rise in price of scrap prices, according to Iron Age, has boosted the composite price of heavy melting scrap from $11.58 to $12.08 a gross ton, a new high level for the year. This, the magazine states, may possibly be in anticipation of renewed activity early in the fall, because there is already evident a decrease in demand for steel ingot.

Iron Age's national average for output of steel ingots dropped one point last week and is now 57 per cent, two points under the peak established two weeks ago. Most of the decline was felt in the Chicago district, where output dropped from 60 to 56 per cent, and the Cleveland-Lorain district, where the drop was from 70 to 67 per cent.

Some Products in Demand.

Releases of bars, plates, shapes, pipe and wire products are growing, and in some sections have offset the decline in specifications for lighter finished steel products.

Although the automobile industry is demanding deliveries against contracts already placed, little new business from that source is being placed. Retail sales of automobiles so far in July are under June, although a total production of at least 225,000 units for the month seems reasonably sure.

"The dearth of new business from the motor car makers," says Iron Age, "may be due in part to resistance to recent price advances, which on a few products amount to as much as $10 a ton. Similar opposition to the new quotations has been encountered among other large buyers, who have not yet become reconciled to the abolition of preferential prices."

One Price Raise Last Week.

The only price advance last week was on lap-weld steel boiler tubes, which were advanced $3 to $10 a ton. Iron Age points out that increased takings by the automobile industry might be counterbalanced by increased demands from the heavy industries. It says, "the naval program will soon result in large orders, and federal allotments for road building now being distributed among various states, should stimulate buying of reinforcing steel. Considerable sheet piling will be needed for the government's river and harbor program."

Bookings of structural steel for fabrication increased in June approximately 95 per cent over May, but the average during the second quarter was below the first quarter, the American Institute of Steel Construction reported. Second quarter shipments were about 15 per cent above those of the first quarter and approximately 8 per cent below the same period last year.

STEADY RISE IN COMMODITIES IS REPORTED BY U. S.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(AP)—Wholesale commodity prices reported to the bureau of labor statistics continued their steady rise during the week ended July 22, the index figure for that week standing at 69.7, as compared with 68.9 for the week ended July 15, an increase of approximately 1.2 per cent.

The week's figures bring the increase for the last five weeks to more than five per cent. The index figure for the week ended June 24 was 65.1. The slump in commodity prices on the exchanges during last week had no apparent effect on wholesale prices. The index figures for farm products were 62.7 for the week ended July 22, as compared with 61.1 on July 15; foodstuffs 68.5, against 65.9. Other products reported to the bureau showed similar increases.

Power Output
Lags, but Holds
15.4% Over '32

The advances shown by electricity output for both the United States and the Chicago district for the week ended July 22 in comparison with output in the like week of 1932 were slightly less, for the first time in weeks, than the advances recorded in the preceding week.

The poorer comparison with last year was due to the fact that industry at this time in 1932 was turning out of the deep trough of the depression. From now on out, it is believed, the percentage gain over 1932 probably will be smaller due to the rising trend last year, even though total production continued to reach into new high ground.

Output Second Highest of Year.

National electric power production for last week, according to the Edison Electric Institute, amounted to 1,454,424,000 kilowatt hours, the second highest total in the year, compared with 1,415,329,000 in the week ended July 15 and with 1,433,933,000 for the corresponding week of 1932. The percentage increase over output in the like week last year was 15.4 per cent, against 16.4 per cent for the week before.

For the Chicago district the electricity output for the week ended July 22 totaled 36,754,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 36,275,000 in the corresponding period last year, or an increase of 12.1 per cent, against one of 13.9 per cent recorded in the preceding week, when production amounted to 36,798,000 kilowatt hours.

Production Equals 1931.

Despite the slight reduction in the excess of output over that in the same period of 1932, production is now running about even with 1931, according to the announcement of the Commonwealth Edison company.

Following are the output and percentage comparisons with last year for the Chicago district:

Week ended	1933	1932	Per cent increase
July 22	36,754,000	36,275,000	12.1
July 15	36,275,000	36,275,000	14.0
July 8	35,347,000	35,734,000	13.3
July 1	35,241,000	36,000,000	13.4

By territorial divisions electricity output for the week ended July 22 maintained or increased its excess over output in the same week of 1932, save for the southern states, whose percentage declined to 18.6 per cent from 25.8 per cent in the preceding week, and the middle Atlantic region, whose percentage declined to 11.7 per cent from 12.3 per cent.

In the central industrial region the percentage was unchanged at 19.2 per cent. Output in New England showed an increase of 27.1 per cent against 26 in the week before, and in the Pacific coast region, an increase of 8 per cent against 5.5.

KELVINATOR CO.
INCOME NEARLY TWICE YEAR AGO

The Kelvinator corporation yesterday reported for the June quarter net income of $1,414,554 after all charges including reserves for federal income, compared with $730,092 in the corresponding period of 1932, and with a net loss of $339,588 for the quarter ended March 31, 1933.

Net earnings for the nine months ended June 30, 1933, were reported at $522,828, against $61,718 in the nine months ended June 30, 1932. The increase in earnings for the June quarter was largely attributed by G. W. Mason, president, to a nationwide advertising program combined with a sales campaign. Mr. Mason said that the June quarter was outstanding in the history of the corporation and that a new record in shipments had been set.

Tony, the newsie who dominates the corner in front of the old National Bank of the Republic building, wants to know whether Gen. Hugh S. Johnson will rule that it is an unfair trade practice for customers to pick up a newspaper, read the stock quotations, fold it up again, and replace it on the pile.

Although there are still a flock of high pressure stock racketeers who use the long distance phone to tell you at your home that you should use their services to play the market (always to your ultimate sorrow), the newest angle in motor car sales is under surveillance by state blue sky investigators. They have a fleet of fast driving cars, equipped with faster talking salesmen, who are covering the city and suburbs. They have a set of stockholders of several high class listed securities. They use the same old methods. They name several high class stocks and suggest you turn in your ten shares of Wisconsin preferred in exchange. You never actually see the high class stocks you're supposed to get. Later they switch you into something else and the end is always the same—a nice profit for them and a dead loss to you.

A new angle of the oft repeated remark that the World's Fair is booming business generally comes from the summer resort hotels. A Chicago realtor who returned yesterday from an exclusive dining place on a Wisconsin chain of lakes said the big exposition unquestionably is helping the Chicago hotels—but to some extent at the expense of the resort hotels.

"The manager nearly went when I mentioned the World's Fair," he said. "Sure, it's a great show," he said, "and it's fine for Chicago hotels, but, O, boy, look what it's doing to us. At this time last year we had sixty-eight registered. Today we've got eight. The other sixty are spending their vacation at Chicago hotels, seeing the fair."

Now that the trading has quieted down, employees of La Salle street brokerage houses are having their troubles with the margin accounts of customers who were sold out during the big market of last week. "Some of those who lost during the market crash came up of all kinds of things in an effort to save at least a part of their losses," an employee of one house, noted as one of the most conservative in the street, stated. "What amuse?"

"There's a new racket born every day," remarked a customer's man on a La Salle street house yesterday. "It's the racket of the margin account. One of the bankers here tried to hush my margin here, where the company's headquarters are located, and 4,000 others throughout the country."

A large brokerage house some upper floor from a floor close to street level. "We'll get rid of some of these chair warmers who hang around here and get in the way of our customers, because they won't take the trouble to get into an elevator," was a remark made by a partner in the house from the time. He was wrong, because he now needs a couple of football players to clear a way for him if he wants to go through the board room to his private office.

Puts and calls, first cousin to bids and offers, which have been banished by the Chicago Board of Trade, are seldom dealt in here, according to La Salle street brokers. "I don't think we've been asked about puts and calls over twice within my memory," the head of one house stated. "What trading there is in them mainly takes place among the large professional operators in New York," he said.

U. S. WILL BUY COTTON FOR ITS RELIEF POOL; REPLACES THAT SOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., July 26.—The government is again in the open cotton market for the first time since the federal farm board ceased its stabilization operations.

Release yesterday of 788,000 bales of spot cotton held as collateral by the farm credit administration on crop production loans, has forced the department of agriculture, it was learned today, to purchase a comparable amount of futures in the open market to supply its cotton relief option pool.

The 788,000 bales of collateral cotton was relied upon by the agricultural adjustment administrators to complete the option pool set up as a part of the cotton relief program. A contract for its delivery, together with approximately 1,600,000 bales of stabilization cotton inherited by the farm credit administration from the farm board, had been negotiated between the department of agriculture and the credit administration. But tremendous pressure from farmers, following the boom in cotton prices, forced the credit administration to issue a blanket release permitting the farmers to sell the cotton they had posted as collateral for crop loans.

Sale of the crop production cotton deprived the department of a large portion of the cotton it counted upon for its option pool, but the farm credit administration, it was explained today, is to purchase cotton futures bale for bale for the spot collateral cotton sold in the market. The futures will be purchased in the name of the department and used in the option pool.

HIGH SALARIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 26.—Members of the coordinating committee for the eastern railroads met here informally today and studied a tentative formula for reductions to be made in the salaries of higher railroad officials. The committee was formed as a part of the system organized under the recent railroad law and headed by Joseph B. Eastman, federal coordinator.

This action on salaries resulted from a request made by Mr. Eastman to the coordinating committee for the eastern railroads to study a tentative formula for reductions to be made in the salaries of higher railroad officials. The committee was formed as a part of the system organized under the recent railroad law and headed by Joseph B. Eastman, federal coordinator.

Because of the emphasis laid on this subject by Mr. Eastman the eastern coordinating committee has decided to try to dispose of it promptly. The group now has reached a point in its study where it has devised a method for effecting a reduction in executive costs on lines which they hope Mr. Eastman will accept. After further study it will be presented to him.

GRAINS SOAR ON WAVE OF BUYING;
OATS GAIN LIMIT*Wheat and Corn Up
3 3/4 to 5 1/2 Cents.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The public and professional speculators were back on the buying side of grains yesterday in large numbers and the markets responded in almost as sensational a manner as they declined late last week.

Only the maximum limit of 4 cents per bushel for one day's advance under the Board of Trade regulations checked the bulge in oats and it was claimed that brokers had liberal buying orders at the close for that grain which could not be filled owing to scarcity of sellers. Corn prices however were just under the maximum limit toward the close.

Grains Close at Top.

Uneasiness created on Monday and Tuesday by distressed selling of lines for large operators and others was dispelled by the official announcement late Tuesday that the liquidation had been completed and with minimum prices in effect for an indefinite period there was a general rush to buy all grains.

Buying was active from start to finish in the leading grains, which closed at the best figures of the day. December wheat, which sold at 92 1/2 cents at the extreme inside figure last Thursday, was back to $1.03 yesterday and closed at that figure to 1/4 cent under, showing 7 1/2 cents above the minimum figure of 92 1/2 cents at which it was "pegged" earlier in the week. Net gains were 4 1/4 to 5 1/2 cents on wheat.

Corn moved up 3 3/4 to 4 1/2 cents for the day. July corn, "pegged" for two days at a minimum of 46 cents, sold up to 53 1/2 cents and closed there.

Oats Reached Top Limit.

Rye gained 6 1/4 to 7 cents for the day and showed 8 1/4 to 9 1/4 cents above the inside figures at which that grain can sell.

July wheat closed at 96 1/2 to 96 3/4 cents, with September at 99 1/2 to 99 3/4 cents and May at $1.07 1/2. September corn was 57 1/2 to 57 3/4 cents; December, 62 to 62 1/2 cents; and May 63 1/2 to 64 1/2 cents at the last. July oats closed at 40 1/2 cents; September at 41 1/2 cents, and December at 42 1/2 cents. Rye showed a strong undercurrent and closed with the July at 74 cents and the September at 76 1/2 cents.

Minimum prices of 60 cents for September barley and 45 cents for the December go into effect today. Prices dropped 5 cents at the start, the maximum permitted for one day under the regulations, but a rally occurred toward the last and the close was 2 1/2 to 3 cents lower with September at 63 1/2 cents and December at 64 1/2 cents.

Industrialist Warns of Dangers of Oppression in Recovery Act

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

While the administration at Washington should have the cooperation of industry in the operation of the industrial recovery act, industry should not be subjected to oppressive restrictions in the carrying out of this point.

This view was expressed yesterday by Fred H. Clausen, prominent Wisconsin manufacturer, in a talk before the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Palmer house in which he endeavored to convey the respect of collective bargaining between the act. Mr. Clausen, who is a former president of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association and is a present director of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, participated in early discussion of the act in Washington.

Keep Present Union Status.

Mr. Clausen was emphatic in saying that industry should resist efforts of any organization to change the status of existing relations between labor and employers. By this he meant that where open shop rules prevail they should be continued under the act. He insisted that unions should not be allowed to take advantage of the act to enroll members in organizations where they are not now represented.

The provisions of the act with respect to collective bargaining between employers and labor adequately protects labor, he asserted. He pointed out that statements by administration spokesmen have made it plain that the act is not to be used by labor as a cloak behind which to carry on selfish activities.

The American people should not accept a policy of restraint on improved and new industrial methods. In the past these have always justified themselves and will continue to do so in the future. They help to supply the adventure in industry and create employment where none existed before.

"The effects of technological developments on the number of workers employed has been overestimated. National industrial conference board figures show that there were just as many industrial workers in 1929 as there were in 1910.

"The American people should not accept a policy of restraint on improved and new industrial methods. In the past these have always justified themselves and will continue to do so in the future. They help to supply the adventure in industry and create employment where none existed before."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
New York, July 26.—An increase of 10 per cent in tire prices was announced today by the General Tire company. Goodyear, Goodrich, Firestone, Mohawk, India, Seiberling, and Paine companies, followed with similar statements, and other tire makers are revising their schedules to follow the advance.

This is the third advance in prices of tires this year. The first, ranging from 2 1/2 per cent to 5 per cent, was made May 1. On June 8 a second increase of 10 per cent was made. These advances were the first real boost in about eight years. The last previous price change was a cut of 5 to 10 per cent in March. An attempt to advance prices was made last summer but was abandoned when some of the largest makers refused to follow the increase.

Commenting on the rise in tire prices, manufacturers today said that they are justified by the increases in all items entering into cost of production. The sharp rise in the price of cotton and the advance in the cost of crude rubber, the wage increases recently ordered, and finally the 4 cents a pound processing tax which will go into effect on Aug. 1 were cited as reasons for higher tire prices.

STOCKS FIRM UP AS TRADE GROWS
MORE NORMAL*Liquor, Motor, Rubber Issues Advance.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 26.—Trading was at a much slower pace on the stock exchange today than it was yesterday. The market appeared to be getting back to normal after its terrific ordeal of last week.

The market opened today at 11 a. m. and closed at 2 p. m. The new hours were fixed by the board of governors of the stock exchange yesterday and will be in effect until further notice. Today's turnover in stock was 2,044,000 shares, compared with 3,539,000 shares yesterday.

Several Groups Active.

Interest centered in the alcohol, motor, rubber, and farm implement groups. In the first named division such late headlines as National Distillers, American Commercial Alcohol, Commercial Solvents, and U. S. Industrial Alcohol rallied from 3 to 5 points in fairly brisk trading.

Various issues more or less related to the group also performed rather impressively. Crown Cork and Seal regaining some 2 1/2 points of its lost ground and Owens-Illinois Glass rebounding for about as much.

Strength in the motors was due, in some degree at least, to the good earnings statement of General Motors issued after the close of yesterday's session. The report showed earnings for the big corporation for the second quarter at a much better figure than had been anticipated. General Motors advanced 1 1/2 and Chrysler 3 1/2 points today. Mack Truck and Nash also looked up.

Tire Boosts Adds Rubber.

A 10 per cent boost in tire prices, announced by leading manufacturers early in the day, was turned to the account of the rubber shares and the fresh upturn in wheat underwrote what enthusiasm appeared for the farm stocks.

Goodyear, Goodrich, Firestone, and U. S. Rubber and Lee rose from 1 to 3 points on the news. That the buying was not even more vigorous was due to the surmise to the belief of an important element of the speculative fraternity that with the nation's buying power still at such a low ebb.

Rails Issues Lagged.

Railroad shares were unable to get up much steam despite the series of excellent June earnings statements now coming to hand. Some observers thought the carriers were being held in reserve by the constructive forces of the market and will be put in the lead of a push when other groups have shown signs of tiring.

United States Steel and a few of the other pig-iron makers were the laggers of the day. U. S. Steel closed fractionally lower and American can was content to hold its own. General Electric and Westinghouse, however, gained more than a point.

Gold mining stocks had a good day, thanks to a growing belief that the government will open the way shortly for export of gold concentrates by producers thus permitting them to realize the higher prices being paid for the metal in markets outside the United States, where the statutory rate of $20.67 an ounce is still in effect. Homestake advanced 3 points.

The loss which the corporation incurred in the first three months of this year reduced the net income for the six months period to $549,286, equivalent to 26 cents a share, compared with a net loss of $52,126 in the first half of 1932.

RAIL, INDUSTRIAL ISSUES IN LEAD

BOND AVERAGES

Table with 2 columns: Bond Name, Yield. Includes Domestic and Foreign bond averages.

Chicago Tribune Press Service.

New York, July 26.—Railroad and industrial issues led the bond market in further gains today in reduced trading volume.

With the railroad earnings at the level of the corresponding months of 1929, buyers were attracted in increasing numbers to the carrier group. The result was gains ranging from fractions to more than a point in such obligations as International Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and others.

Coal Company Liens Rise.

Strength was displayed particularly in bonds of coal companies in line for benefits from the national recovery program. Two such instances were Hudson Coal & Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co. These and other coal concerns have prospects of improved positions with elimination of competition from low wage sections of the industry.

Utility Bonds Advance.

Utility bonds were prominent in the advance, including International Telephone & Telegraph, Postal Telegraph, and Public Service Electric and Gas. Columbia Gas and Electric Co. and American and Foreign Power Co. also gained a point or more.

United States government bonds moved marginally in small transactions. Foreign bonds were featured by an other break in Argentina in fear of suspension of sinking fund payments.

Champion Wheat Grower

Named at Canadian Show

REGINA, Sask., July 26.—Frederick Wilford of Stavely, Alta., has been acclaimed the world champion wheat grower at the Regina world's grain exhibition. Twice defeated by Herman Treble, Vancouver, Alta., at the Chicago world grain shows in 1923 and 1925, the southern Alberta farmer placed first in the hard red spring wheat class with a reward star of wheat. Treble was second and four other farmers active in the foothills provinces the first six places.

National Aid Society.

Investors' Guide: Will you please tell me something about National Aid Society of Springfield, Ill? Is the plan on which they are operating safe and sound?—S. M. J.

Answer: The following excerpts from bulletin 1,156 of the Buffalo Better Business Bureau will, we believe, answer your question.

In the National Aid Society specifically state that it is not an insurance company. . . . The attorney general of Indiana has handed down an opinion wherein it is stated that corporations of this kind have no authority to write insurance or membership certificates such as they are now doing.

"The superintendent of insurance of Missouri has stated that . . . the insurance department of the state of Missouri is to place their insurance only in companies that are properly authorized to do business in that state.

"The Texas insurance commission has warned that the National Aid Society violate the laws of that state, and according to recent information the Ohio insurance division has moved to halt solicitations of the society in Ohio . . .

We have seen literature of the company. It stresses the age of English assessment companies. It points out the income of five large legal reserve insurance companies in 1924 and compares them to death losses. It makes no mention, however, of reserves that accumulated for the benefit of policy holders.

Lloyds.

Investors' Guide: Will you please tell me how the plan of organization of the different Lloyds companies differs from those of regular insurance companies?—B. S. E.

Answer: The liability on policies of "Lloyds" companies is split up among different individuals or organizations, each of whom bears a fixed unvarying proportion of the liability under the policy.

If a "Lloyds" fails and the underwriters are called upon for payments, the underwriter cannot be called upon to pay the deficiencies of those who cannot or will not pay.

Maximum liability of each underwriter is usually stated in the policy contract. Should losses and expenses exceed the premium income and the aggregate liability mentioned, the claimant loses proportionately.

Policies of "Lloyds" institutions of this character are as safe as those of any other insurance institution of similar financial strength provided management is reputable and capable and all the underwriters are financially sound.

STANDARD OIL TO CUT PRICE OF ETHYL GAS 1/2 CENT

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced yesterday that it will reduce the price of Red Crown Ethyl gasoline one-half cent a gallon, effective tomorrow, in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, North and South Dakota, and Wisconsin. On the same date the company will increase the retail prices of all gasoline and kerosene two-tenths of a cent a gallon in Illinois on account of the Illinois retail occupational tax.

With the reduction in the price of ethyl gasoline, this product will now sell for 2 cents over the Standard Red Crown, or regular grade. For years the premium brand has been 2 cents over the regular grade and it has been 2 1/2 cents since May 8.

The company will include the Illinois occupational tax in the prices of its additional products. Instead of making the premium brand 2 cents over the regular grade, the tax will also be advanced two-tenths of a cent because of the tax and lubricating oil, other than motor oil, will be increased one-half a cent.

France Still Withdrawing Earmarked Gold from U.S.

CHERBOURG, France, July 26.—(AP)—One hundred and twenty-six kegs of gold, valued at 150,000,000 francs (approximately $5,100,000 at today's exchange rate), were being withdrawn from the vaults of the Bank of France for the franc in Paris, arrived today on the steamer Majestic from the Federal Reserve bank for the Bank of France.

The gold was earmarked for the franc from the provisions of the recent gold embargo in the United States.
